BREWERS TO LIMIT USE OF GRAIN

Clark Probes "Gambling" In Grain Markets

Anderson Says No Proof Laws Broken

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP) — President Truman said today Attorney General Clark is investigating gambling on grain exchanges and in fibers but Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said no evidence has been uncovered yet that any laws have been broken.

At one news conference, Mr. Truman blamed high food prices largely on what he termed gambling on the grain exchanges.

At another later on, Anderson said poor prospects for the winter wheat crop undoubtedly have been an important factor in the latest increases in grain prices. He referred to the increases recorded since the exchanges recently doubled the required down payments, at the President's request, on grain bought for future delivery.

But Anderson said speculative trading did contribute to sharp price advances last summer, and that was the reason for Mr. Truman's request.

The main fiber in which there is speculation is cotton, agriculture officials said. The other principal fiber is wool.

While the Chief Executive suggested that reporters go to the Justice Department for details about the investigations of what he called gambling, officials there declined to talk.

Inquiry "Welcomed"

In Kansas City and Minneapolis, top grain men said an inquiry would be welcome and that heavy government buying of grain for export not gambling, is responsible for rising grain prices.

Walter R. Scott, president of the National Association of Commodity Exchanges and Allied Trades, Inc., issued a statement in Kansas City that the grain supply can not support the "grandiose" export plan of the administration.

In Minneapolis, John T. Culhane, president of the grain exchange, said a Justice Department inquiry would be welcome providing it is "thorough and complete."

Mr. Truman's news conference was devoted almost entirely to questions and answers on the interlocking food and foreign aid programs. The President said:

Of course a special session of Congress on stop-gap held for Europe still is a possibility. But the government's financial experts have had considerable success in digging up funds, particularly to aide France over her troubles.

The drive to save 100,000,000 bushels of grain to help feed the hungry abroad is well on the way to success.

Should the campaign fail after a "test run," the question of restoring rationing and price controls is a bridge that will be crossed at that time.

Police-State Methods

Even in wartime, such controls, including those over rents, represent police-state methods, which sometimes must be used in an emergency. They were the only way to make the OPA work during the war. But in this country the methods are used through the will of the people rather than that of one man.

The food campaign, Mr. Truman said, is an attempt to do by volun-

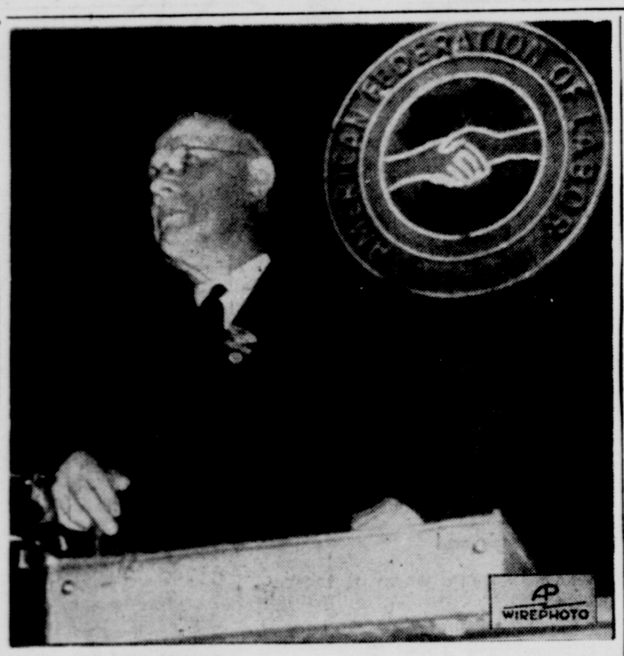
Living Costs Reached New High In August

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP) — City living costs in mid-August were higher than they ever had been before, the Labor Department said today. It added that they probably are even higher now.

The consumers price index compiled by the department's bureau of labor statistics hit 160 in mid-August. It topped any prior figure for that index—rising about one per cent over mid-July.

The bureau said the new jump in living costs could be attributed to August rises in every major group of consumer items except house furnishings, including an advance of more than one per cent in rents.

The consumers price index uses the 1935-39 average as 100 in measuring the average retail prices of foods and services used by "moderate-income families in large cities."



RE-ELECTED—The American Federation of Labor convention at San Francisco gave William Green (above) a standing ovation following his re-election for the 24th time yesterday as president of the big labor organization.

John L. Lewis Dropped From AFL's Council

Green Is Re-elected Head Of Federation

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16. (AP)—Snubbed by John L. Lewis, the American Federation of Labor today dropped the craggy-browed chief of the United Mine Workers from its ruling councils for the coming year.

Making good his defiant threat not to serve again on the Executive Council that he had savagely castigated as "dehydrated," Lewis and his mine workers were conspicuously absent for the annual election at the concluding session of the two weeks convention.

To Lewis' place on the Executive Council was elected Daniel W. Tracy, 54, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

All other officers were re-elected without opposition and Cincinnati was chosen for the 67th annual convention next year.

Standing ovations were given 74-year-old William Green, re-elected for the 24th time as president, and George Meany, the New York plumber re-elected secretary treasurer.

AFL's Strong Men

Meany and Daniel J. Tobin, president of the Brotherhood of Teamsters, emerged from the turbulent convention scene as undisputed strong men of the AFL.

Between them, they provided the instrumentalities for the crushing defeat of Lewis on the major policy question of combatting the non-Communist affidavit issue posed by the Taft-Hartley law.

Today Lewis sulked in his tent with his miners when the election of officers came up. He was neither a candidate nor a nominee, and his place was filled by Tracy.

Green, accepting his election, appealed for "unity and solidarity" in the labor movement and declared:

"I appeal with all the power I possess to those who left us to come back, to mobilize their strength with us for one purpose—to win for American labor."

Later, Green told reporters he expected the AFL would make a court test of the federation's political action program which this convention set up. The program includes organization of Labor's Educational and Political League and authorization of a $3,000,000 fund from member assessments.

Taft Questions Legality

Green's pronouncement was prompted by a statement in Columbus, Ohio, by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), questioning the legality of the federation's right to levy assessments for political purposes. Taft added, however, he thought voluntary contributions would not violate the Taft-Hartley law.

"We are not going on Taft's say so," Green said.

"We think the courts are a higher authority."

Asked if this meant the AFL would make a court test of it, Green answered "yes."

This course of political action was the outstanding action of the AFL's convention just ended.

Say Program Won't Reduce Output, Quality

90-Day Plan Goes Into Effect Nov. 1

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (INS)—Chairman Charles Luckman, of the Citizens' Food Committee, announced tonight that the nation's brewers had agreed to a five-point program to save grain for Western European relief.

Luckman made the announcement after a six-hour conference with officials of the United States Brewers' Foundation, representing the bulk of beer production, and a committee speaking for a number of small brewers.

Luckman said he would announce tomorrow a grain-saving plan for the baking industry. He said that an agreement had been reached with industry representatives.

He declined to say whether the program for this industry would achieve its goal of a grain saving of three million bushels per month, or would involve reducing the size of the bread loaf.

The committee chairman said the program for the brewing industry should result in a minimum saving of 2,150,000 bushels of grain and possibly three million bushels. This contrasts, he said, to an original offer by the industry to surrender only 200,000 bushels of grain on hand.

Five-Point Program

The program for the brewing industry follows:

1. No wheat or wheat products will be used for 90 days beginning November 1.
2. Broken rice may be used during this period, but no table grades of rice or rice products.
3. There will be no purchases of sorghum grains or products between October 17 and February 1.
4. No feeding barley or its products will be used during the 90 days.
5. Brewers will make a 25 per cent cut in the amount of corn used per barrel of beer, and overall corn consumption will be held down to 75 per cent of the amount used last September.

Spokesmen for the large brewers said the program would result in little curtailment in beer production and no reduction in quality.

Luckman said "I did not ask the industry to cut production, but only to conserve grain."

Joseph J. Quillin, who represented the AFL and brewery workers in the conferences, said "we are for the program 100 per cent." He added that, since beer production would not be cut down, there would be no worker layoffs.

Plan Approved By Truman

The plan, it was disclosed, was essentially that recommended by the United States Brewers' Foundation. Luckman said the small brewers have agreed to co-operate, although they favored in addition a plan which would have resulted in a cut in beer production.

The big brewers, he said, refused to go along with this idea, declaring that it would not save grain which could be used for other purposes but would only create a beer shortage.

Luckman said he had arranged with malt suppliers for creation of a pool of 525,000 bushels of barley malt to take care of the needs of small brewers during the 90-day period.

682 Reich Plants Ordered Levelled Despite Threats

Germans Say They Won't Co-operate

BERLIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—British and American Military Government authorities announced plans today to dismantle 682 German industrial plants in their combined zones, despite German threats of strikes and other expressions of non-co-operation.

Five plants of the gun-making Krupp plant were listed for leveling. Three plants in the Essen area, one for making armaments, another for miscellaneous steel products and the Barbeck pig iron and steel works were designated for extinction. A Krupp plant at Lagenhagen in Lower Saxony, devoted to making structural steel and submarine hulls, and a pneumatic equipment plant at Geisenheim in Hesse also were listed for the wreckers axe.

"Appalling" And "Crushing"

At Dusseldorf trade union leaders voiced comments such as "appalling" and "crushing" when they learned that Western Germany's Ruhr and Rhineland valleys would lose 249 industrial plants.

Under the dismantling schedule, designed to give Western Germany the go-ahead on a new level of industry plan intended to remove war production from the German economy, the bi-zonal area will have a productive capacity approximately equal to that of 1936. The plan calls for exports in excess of 1936.

"If instead of co-operation there is conflict, any hope of reviving German economy will disappear," Lt. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, recently designated as the next British military governor, said in an address broadcast tonight.

Will Take Two Years

Gen. Robertson told a news conference that dismantling the factories would require at least two years and that special labor battalions would be organized to do the job if the Germans refuse to co-operate. He hinted soldiers might be used.

Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, deputy United States military governor, told a news conference he did not expect any difficulty in the American zone, where only 69 plants remain to be dismantled. However, he added that "the plan will be carried through."

Composer Succumbs

Hoover Urged To Rest

Magnet On Cord Used To Remove Swallowed Nail

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—A four-year-old boy who swallowed a nail avoided a serious operatio two days later when doctors induced him to gulp down a man-sized swallow of malted milk containing a magnet attached to a thread.

An article in the Journal of the American Medical Association said today that the nail had passed through the stomach and into the small intestine and it described the method as the first time a foreign body had been removed from the duodenum by a magnet.

Several hours after the youth swallowed the magnet, the article related, he "felt something click" and experienced a dull pain. An x-ray showed the magnet in contact with the nail.

The child was given ether, and the magnet and nail were pulled slowly back into the stomach under x-ray guidance. Once in the stomach, the obstruction was easily withdrawn.

Ramadier Moves To Open Subway

PARIS, Friday, Oct. 17 (AP)—Premier Paul Ramadier said today he would requisition enough electricians to reopen at least one line of Paris' strike-bound subway system.

Two independent unions, controlling approximately a tenth of the more than 30,000 striking bus and subway workers, have voted to end their four-day walkout, but the Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor which embraces the remaining nine-tenths, urged its forces to stand pat. Electricians were understood to be among those still holding out.

Ramadier said security measures would be taken to prevent incidents in subway stations. The Premier was planning to open the important Vincennes-Neuilly line which crosses Paris from east to west and also hoped to get one or two bus lines operating during the day.

The first resumption of work came late yesterday afternoon when seven buses began running on the line linking the Eiffel Tower area with eastern suburbs.

Nearly 40,000 merchant marine employes tied up the major ports of France yesterday morning when they walked out. But the union still was negotiating for a settlement of its 15 per cent wage increase demand, and both union and government representatives predicted the strike might end soon.

U. S. To Give France 31 German War Vessels

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The United States will soon turn over 31 former German naval vessels and a 40,000-ton floating dock to France, the State Department announced today.

They will be given free.

The vessels are part of the American share of captured German ships awarded to this country under terms of the Potsdam conference.

State Department officials explained that France failed to benefit from the Potsdam distribution of former enemy ships because it was a three-power parley involving a three-way split only among the United States, Britain and Russia.

President's Daughter To Sing At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (INS)—Miss Margaret Truman, daughter of the President, makes her eastern debut as a concert singer tomorrow evening in Pittsburgh.

Miss Truman, who arrived in Pittsburgh early today, did not announce what her vocal reportoire would be in her first eastern appearance.

Mrs. Truman is due in Pittsburgh by plane tomorrow morning, along with Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder.

President Truman will be unable to attend.

British Will Quit Palestine "Within Limited Period"

United Nations Is Given Second Notice

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 17. (AP)—Britain served her second notice on the United Nations Assembly today that she will give-up the Palestine mandate and withdraw from the riot-torn Holy Land.

The date for withdrawal was not set but Britain said it would occur "within a limited period."

The British, at the same time, turned down a United States suggestion that they remain responsible for the Holy Land through an indefinite transition period pending the final achievement of independence.

Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech-Jones told the Assembly's extraordinary 57-nation Palestine Committee that Britain would consider an invitation to take part in making effective a United Nations settlement but warned that "his majesty's government will not accept the responsibility for enforcement either alone or in the major role."

Several delegates observed after Creech-Jones spoke that his new statement was stronger than his first, made on September 26 at the opening of the Palestine Committee debate. British sources said that his speech was intended to tell the Assembly beyond all doubt that the British meant every word when they said they would withdrawn and that they no longer would carry on the mandate.

Meanwhile, Cuba and Argentina split with several of their fellow Latin American republics and spoke against partition.

Creech-Jones himself has taken no position for or against partition of the Holy Land into Arab and Jewish nations and British delegates insisted he would not take any position. Britain thus differed from the United States and Russia, both of which have come out for partition.

Pravda Denies Russia Bars All Americans

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Moscow radio, quoting Pravda, denied today that Americans are barred from entering the Soviet Union.

The newspaper accused the American press of suppressing the fact that the Soviet Union only bars "investigators" such as congressional groups which have been touring Western European countries.

Child's Mysterious Ailment Puzzles Doctors

PASADENA, Calif., Oct. 16. (AP)—Doctors puzzled today over a mysterious ailment that has paralyzed five-year-old Andrea Brodine from the waist down, but which a thorough analysis at Huntington Memorial Hospital has shown is not infantile paralysis.

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brodine, became ill last summer while vacationing. Shortly afterward she lost sight in one eye but later recovered it, only to lose sight in the other. She suffers no pain, her parents said. The paralysis set in about three weeks ago and administration of about 40,000,000 units of penicillin has brought no appreciable result.

Draft Eisenhower Clubs Are Repudiated By "Ike"

Was Not Consulted Regarding League

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (INS)—Gen. Eisenhower today disowned "Eisenhower for President" clubs and emphatically repeated that he has no desire for political office.

In a statement issued through Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks, chief of the Army's Public Information Division, the Army Chief of Staff declared that he had not been consulted regarding formation of such clubs or organizations, and that if he had, his consent would have been "emphatically withheld."

Parks expressly denied claims of Maurice Mumford, executive vice president of the Draft Eisenhower for President League that his organization was formed with Eisenhower's consent and co-operation.

Parks displayed a letter from Robert M. Haar, president of the league, informing Eisenhower of its formation. The Army information chief also disclosed a letter he wrote in reply.

No Desire For Office

Parks' letter said that "Gen. Eisenhower has no interest in or intentions of entering political life or being a candidate for any office.

"He desires to complete his work as chief of staff and then assume his duties as president of Columbia University in which capacity he can devote his life to working for and with young people of the nation.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly that Gen. Eisenhower in no way condones or agrees with the movement which you have started without his knowledge or consent. I suggest that you discontinue it at once."

Parks issued the following statement:

"Gen Eisenhower's attitude respecting gossip is exactly that as expressed to press representatives on September 10.

"He neither seeks nor desires political office and anyone who purports to represent him differently is mistaken.

Consent Not Requested

"He deprecates the formation of clubs or other organizations that seek to place his name before the public in connection with political purposes and urges that individuals do not spend their time and money in their support.

"In no case has he any prior knowledge of such purpose nor has his consent or approval been requested. Such consent would have been emphatically withheld."

Parks told newsmen that Eisenhower "never heard of any of the names involved" in the formation of draft-Eisenhower clubs.

Asked if he interpreted Eisenhower's statement as a repudiation of the clubs, Parks replied:

"That's what I interpret it to be."

Sticky Situation For Police—Glue On Piano's Keys

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16 (AP)—Police were up against a sticky situation today when Virginia Ferstead, a musician, reported that someone had smeared glue all over her piano keyboard.

Without making any charges, she said that neighbors had complained about her nocturnal piano-playing.

Housing Shortage Probe Under Way

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Labor disputes that snag the nation's home-building program will find little remedy in the Taft-Hartley law, a former government economist testified today.

The witness, Professor Corwin D. Edwards, of Northwestern University, told a House investigating group that in his opinion the Taft-Hartley Act will not put an end to jurisdictional quarrels, which usually arise when two unions claim the right to do a job.

Referring to the act's provision for giving the National Labor Relations Board authority to settle jurisdictional disputes, Edwards said:

"It seems to me to be moving in the direction of an unfortunate extension of bureaucratic control. Instead, we should find a way to make unions recognize the jurisdictional awards made by labor itself."

Edwards was the first witness as Chairman Gwinn (R-N.Y.), of a House Labor subcommittee on housing, opened an investigation of union and building practices in the construction industry. The purpose is to discover remedies for any obstacles to home building.

Double Slaying Motive Sought By Authorities

EASTLAND, Tex., Oct. 16. (AP)—A double slaying without an apparent motive faced authorities today as Justice of the Peace E. E. Wood returned an inquest verdict that Frank Dwyer shot his former business associate, Samuel Butler, to death and then "probably" killed himself.

Bodies of the two men were found near here yesterday. A revolver was under Dwyer's body. The body of Butler, brother of the late Marine general, Smedley Butler, was lying several feet away.

Mrs. Dwyer said her husband left home yesterday morning with the explanation that he was going to show Butler an oil lease. Butler had returned to Eastland a few days ago from Denver.

Kivi Given 18-Month Term For Atom Theft

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Former Army Sgt. Arnold F. Kivi, 26, was sentenced in Federal Court today to 18 months in prison on his guilty plea of stealing and concealing government photographs taken at the Los Alamos, N. M., atom bomb plant.

Kivi was arrested August 30 and a month later pleading guilty declaring he wanted to "get it over with." The FBI said they had found 37 photographs and 10 negatives in his Brooklyn home, showing some phases of atomic research equipment.

Says Savings Offset

ATLANTA, Oct. 16 (AP)—Increased use of waffle and pancake flour, resulting from meatless Tuesday and poultryless Thursday, has more than offset any savings of other foods, Richard W. Florrid, executive secretary of the Atlanta Restaurant Association, said today.

Faces Disbarment

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16 (AP) — Charles T. Leviness, 3rd, convicted last week in Federal Court of income tax evasion, was cited by the Baltimore Supreme Bench today to show cause why he should not be disbarred from the practice of law.

Missing Secretary's Battered Body Found

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 16. (AP) —The battered body of a young blonde secretary, missing two days from her mountaintop home, was found in a ravine today 50 yards off the heavily-traveled Birmingham to Atlanta highway, 12 miles east of here.

She was Mrs. Corinne Limbaugh, 34.

Two boys called to aid her husband, Clyde Limbaugh, 39, in a search discovered the body.

Deputy J. L. Boggan, acting coroner, said the woman had been severely beaten with a heavy instrument, and apparently had been overcome only after a hard struggle. He said no motive for the crime was apparent. A complete medical examination was under way.

CIO Calls For 1,000,000 Political Action Workers To Expound Labor Stand

BOSTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The CIO set today a goal of 65,000,000 to 70,000,000 registered voters for the 1948 election and called for one million political action workers to carry to the households of America a labor campaign they said could be won.

The convention of the 6,000,000-member congress gave no official indication of what candidates they favored. In the course of a political action resolution one union leader was cheered when he remarked that Henry Wallace is "the one independent voice in America today."

The 600 CIO delegates moved for "unprecedented" organization of the American people to ignore party labels in voting after hearing President Philip Murray declare "the American Federation of Labor, the railroad brotherhoods and the liberal people of the nation are in complete agreement with us on our political aims."

CIO Political Action Director Jack Kroll asked for a million volunteer block workers to expound labor's stand in their neighborhoods and declared:

"The simple truth is that the American labor movement x x x cannot long exist x x x unless it devotes itself to winning political battles with the same zeal it gives to economic battles."

Michael Quill, head of the Transport Workers Union, was cheered when he told delegates President Truman "must return to the ideas of the people." Quill added:

"There is one independent voice in America today calling for peace and security and that voice is Henry Wallace."

Shortly after Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., called for 1948 voting unity of labor, farmers, housewives and war veterans, President Murray said:

Mother, Daughter Wed To Same Man Case Is Too Complicated For Judge

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—The two women, both blonde but one younger and stouter, stood with the man before the judge's bench while the jurist stared at them unbelievingly.

"It's too complicated for me," Magistrate Francis X. Giaccone said, then leaned back to ponder the story he had just heard from Detective Dewey Warnecke.

Last Saturday, Ruth Belsky Golightly, 21, complained to police that her husband, Raymond, 48, a hospital employe, had failed to support her and her nine-month old child. Warneke accompanied Ruth to an apartment where she said she lived with Golightly.

There was another woman there and she wanted to know what the charge was.

"Non-support," Warnecke said, "his wife complained."

"Well, I'm his wife," said the woman, about 41, "and I'm not complaining. The woman who made the complaint is my daughter."

In Felony Court today, the older woman identified herself as Mrs. Nellie Mary Melsky Golightly and produced a marriage certificate showing she married Golightly in Shavertown, Pa., March 4, 1944.

Then her daughter showed a certificate indicating she and Golightly were married here August 19, 1946.

Both women said they had borne Golightly children, that they loved him and didn't want to press any bigamy charge.

Sen. Taft Balks At Posing With Harold Stassen

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) declined tonight to pose for news photographs with Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota.

Both are prospective candidates for the Republican nomination for President in 1948, and were here to address the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Clubs.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft described President Truman's foreign policy as a "riot of inconsistencies" tonight, and speaking from the same platform, Harold E. Stassen pleaded the Republican cause in milder tones. Taft and Stassen are mentioned as possible opponents for their party's presidential nomination.

The Ohio Senator threw oratorical barbs at the Truman adminstration. In a speech before the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations, he said:

"Neither the people nor Congress have been advised what the real facts are" and "we do not know

Luckman said he would announce tomorrow a grain-saving plan for the baking industry. He said that an agreement had been reached with industry representatives.

He declined to say whether the program for this industry would achieve its goal of a grain saving of three million bushels per month, or would involve reducing the size of the bread loaf.

The committee chairman said the program for the brewing industry should result in a minimum saving of 2,150,000 bushels of grain and possibly three million bushels. This contrasts, he said, to an original offer by the industry to surrender only 200,000 bushels of grain on hand.

Five-Point Program

1. No wheat or wheat products will be used for 90 days beginning November 1.
2. Broken rice may be used during this period, but no table grades of rice or rice products.
3. There will be no purchases of sorghum grains or products between October 17 and February 1.
4. No feeding barley or its products will be used during the 90 days.
5. Brewers will make a 25 per cent cut in the amount of corn used per barrel of beer, and overall corn consumption will be held down to 75 per cent of the amount used last September.

Spokesmen for the large brewers said the program would result in little curtailment in beer production and no reduction in quality.

Luckman said "I did not ask the industry to cut production, but only to conserve grain."

Joseph J. Quillin, who represented the AFL and brewery workers in the conferences, said "we are for the program 100 per cent." He added that, since beer production would not be cut down, there would be no worker layoffs.

Plan Approved By Truman

The plan, it was disclosed, was essentially that recommended by the United States Brewers' Foundation. Luckman said the small brewers have agreed to co-operate, although they favored in addition a plan which would have resulted in a cut in beer production.

The big brewers, he said, refused to go along with this idea, declaring that it would not save grain which could be used for other purposes but would only create a beer shortage.

Luckman said he had arranged with malt suppliers for creation of a pool of 525,000 bushels of barley malt to take care of the needs of small brewers during the 90-day period.

682 Reich Plants Ordered Levelled Despite Threats

Germans Say They Won't Co-operate

BERLIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—British and American Military Government authorities announced plans today to dismantle 682 German industrial plants in their combined zones, despite German threats of strikes and other expressions of non-co-operation.

Five plants of the gun-making Krupp plant were listed for leveling. Three plants in the Essen area, one for making armaments, another for miscellaneous steel products and the Barbeck pig iron and steel works were designated for extinction. A Krupp plant at Lagenhagen in Lower Saxony, devoted to making structural steel and submarine hulls, and a pneumatic equipment plant at Geisenheim in Hesse also were listed for the wreckers axe.

"Appalling" And "Crushing"

At Dusseldorf trade union leaders voiced comments such as "appalling" and "crushing" when they learned that Western Germany's Ruhr and Rhineland valleys would lose 249 industrial plants.

Under the dismantling schedule, designed to give Western Germany the go-ahead on a new level of industry plan intended to remove war production from the German economy, the bi-zonal area will have a productive capacity approximately equal to that of 1936. The plan calls for exports in excess of 1936.

"If instead of co-operation there is conflict, any hope of reviving German economy will disappear," Lt. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, recently designated as the next British military governor, said in an address broadcast tonight.

Will Take Two Years

Gen. Robertson told a news conference that dismantling the factories would require at least two years and that special labor battalions would be organized to do the job if the Germans refuse to co-operate. He hinted soldiers might be used.

Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, deputy United States military governor, told a news conference he did not expect any difficulty in the American zone, where only 69 plants remain to be dismantled. However, he added that "the plan will be carried through."

Composer Succumbs

Hoover Urged To Rest

Magnet On Cord Used To Remove Swallowed Nail

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—A four-year-old boy who swallowed a nail avoided a serious operatio two days later when doctors induced him to gulp down a man-sized swallow of malted milk containing a magnet attached to a thread.

An article in the Journal of the American Medical Association said today that the nail had passed through the stomach and into the small intestine and it described the method as the first time a foreign body had been removed from the duodenum by a magnet.

Several hours after the youth swallowed the magnet, the article related, he "felt something click" and experienced a dull pain. An x-ray showed the magnet in contact with the nail.

The child was given ether, and the magnet and nail were pulled slowly back into the stomach under x-ray guidance. Once in the stomach, the obstruction was easily withdrawn.

Ramadier Moves To Open Subway

PARIS, Friday, Oct. 17 (AP)—Premier Paul Ramadier said today he would requisition enough electricians to reopen at least one line of Paris' strike-bound subway system.

Two independent unions, controlling approximately a tenth of the more than 30,000 striking bus and subway workers, have voted to end their four-day walkout, but the Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor which embraces the remaining nine-tenths, urged its forces to stand pat. Electricians were understood to be among those still holding out.

Ramadier said security measures would be taken to prevent incidents in subway stations. The Premier was planning to open the important Vincennes-Neuilly line which crosses Paris from east to west and also hoped to get one or two bus lines operating during the day.

The first resumption of work came late yesterday afternoon when seven buses began running on the line linking the Eiffel Tower area with eastern suburbs.

Nearly 40,000 merchant marine employes tied up the major ports of France yesterday morning when they walked out. But the union still was negotiating for a settlement of its 15 per cent wage increase demand, and both union and government representatives predicted the strike might end soon.

U. S. To Give France 31 German War Vessels

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The United States will soon turn over 31 former German naval vessels and a 40,000-ton floating dock to France, the State Department announced today.

They will be given free.

The vessels are part of the American share of captured German ships awarded to this country under terms of the Potsdam conference.

State Department officials explained that France failed to benefit from the Potsdam distribution of former enemy ships because it was a three-power parley involving a three-way split only among the United States, Britain and Russia.

President's Daughter To Sing At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (INS)—Miss Margaret Truman, daughter of the President, makes her eastern debut as a concert singer tomorrow evening in Pittsburgh.

Miss Truman, who arrived in Pittsburgh early today, did not announce what her vocal reportoire would be in her first eastern appearance.

Mrs. Truman is due in Pittsburgh by plane tomorrow morning, along with Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder.

President Truman will be unable to attend.

Child's Mysterious Ailment Puzzles Doctors

PASADENA, Calif., Oct. 16. (AP)—Doctors puzzled today over a mysterious ailment that has paralyzed five-year-old Andrea Brodine from the waist down, but which a thorough analysis at Huntington Memorial Hospital has shown is not infantile paralysis.

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brodine, became ill last summer while vacationing. Shortly afterward she lost sight in one eye but later recovered it, only to lose sight in the other. She suffers no pain, her parents said. The paralysis set in about three weeks ago and administration of about 40,000,000 units of penicillin has brought no appreciable result.

British Will Quit Palestine "Within Limited Period"

United Nations Is Given Second Notice

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 17. (AP)—Britain served her second notice on the United Nations Assembly today that she will give-up the Palestine mandate and withdraw from the riot-torn Holy Land.

The date for withdrawal was not set but Britain said it would occur "within a limited period."

The British, at the same time, turned down a United States suggestion that they remain responsible for the Holy Land through an indefinite transition period pending the final achievement of independence.

Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech-Jones told the Assembly's extraordinary 57-nation Palestine Committee that Britain would consider an invitation to take part in making effective a United Nations settlement but warned that "his majesty's government will not accept the responsibility for enforcement either alone or in the major role."

Several delegates observed after Creech-Jones spoke that his new statement was stronger than his first, made on September 26 at the opening of the Palestine Committee debate. British sources said that his speech was intended to tell the Assembly beyond all doubt that the British meant every word when they said they would withdrawn and that they no longer would carry on the mandate.

Creech-Jones himself has taken no position for or against partition of the Holy Land into Arab and Jewish nations and British delegates insisted he would not take any position. Britain thus differed from the United States and Russia, both of which have come out for partition.

Pravda Denies Russia Bars All Americans

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Moscow radio, quoting Pravda, denied today that Americans are barred from entering the Soviet Union.

The newspaper accused the American press of suppressing the fact that the Soviet Union only bars "investigators" such as congressional groups which have been touring Western European countries.

CIO Calls For 1,000,000 Political Action Workers To Expound Labor Stand

BOSTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The CIO set today a goal of 65,000,000 to 70,000,000 registered voters for the 1948 election and called for one million political action workers to carry to the households of America a labor campaign they said could be won.

The convention of the 6,000,000-member congress gave no official indication of what candidates they favored. In the course of a political action resolution one union leader was cheered when he remarked that Henry Wallace is "the one independent voice in America today."

The 600 CIO delegates moved for "unprecedented" organization of the American people to ignore party labels in voting after hearing President Philip Murray declare "the American Federation of Labor, the railroad brotherhoods and the liberal people of the nation are in complete agreement with us on our political aims."

CIO Political Action Director Jack Kroll asked for a million volunteer block workers to expound labor's stand in their neighborhoods and declared:

"The simple truth is that the American labor movement x x x cannot long exist x x x unless it devotes itself to winning political battles with the same zeal it gives to economic battles."

Michael Quill, head of the Transport Workers Union, was cheered when he told delegates President Truman "must return to the ideas of the people." Quill added:

"There is one independent voice in America today calling for peace and security and that voice is Henry Wallace."

Shortly after Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., called for 1948 voting unity of labor, farmers, housewives and war veterans, President Murray said:

Draft Eisenhower Clubs Are Repudiated By "Ike"

Was Not Consulted Regarding League

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (INS)—Gen. Eisenhower today disowned "Eisenhower for President" clubs and emphatically repeated that he has no desire for political office.

In a statement issued through Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks, chief of the Army's Public Information Division, the Army Chief of Staff declared that he had not been consulted regarding formation of such clubs or organizations, and that if he had, his consent would have been "emphatically withheld."

Parks expressly denied claims of Maurice Mumford, executive vice president of the Draft Eisenhower for President League that his organization was formed with Eisenhower's consent and co-operation.

Parks displayed a letter from Robert M. Haar, president of the league, informing Eisenhower of its formation. The Army information chief also disclosed a letter he wrote in reply.

No Desire For Office

Parks' letter said that "Gen. Eisenhower has no interest in or intentions of entering political life or being a candidate for any office.

"He desires to complete his work as chief of staff and then assume his duties as president of Columbia University in which capacity he can devote his life to working for and with young people of the nation.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly that Gen. Eisenhower in no way condones or agrees with the movement which you have started without his knowledge or consent. I suggest that you discontinue it at once."

Parks issued the following statement:

"Gen Eisenhower's attitude respecting gossip is exactly that as expressed to press representatives on September 10.

"He neither seeks nor desires political office and anyone who purports to represent him differently is mistaken.

Consent Not Requested

"He deprecates the formation of clubs or other organizations that seek to place his name before the public in connection with political purposes and urges that individuals do not spend their time and money in their support.

"In no case has he any prior knowledge of such purpose nor has his consent or approval been requested. Such consent would have been emphatically withheld."

Parks told newsmen that Eisenhower "never heard of any of the names involved" in the formation of draft-Eisenhower clubs.

Asked if he interpreted Eisenhower's statement as a repudiation of the clubs, Parks replied:

"That's what I interpret it to be."

Sticky Situation For Police—Glue On Piano's Keys

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16 (AP)—Police were up against a sticky situation today when Virginia Ferstead, a musician, reported that someone had smeared glue all over her piano keyboard.

Without making any charges, she said that neighbors had complained about her nocturnal piano-playing.

Housing Shortage Probe Under Way

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Labor disputes that snag the nation's home-building program will find little remedy in the Taft-Hartley law, a former government economist testified today.

The witness, Professor Corwin D. Edwards, of Northwestern University, told a House investigating group that in his opinion the Taft-Hartley Act will not put an end to jurisdictional quarrels, which usually arise when two unions claim the right to do a job.

Referring to the act's provision for giving the National Labor Relations Board authority to settle jurisdictional disputes, Edwards said:

"It seems to me to be moving in the direction of an unfortunate extension of bureaucratic control. Instead, we should find a way to make unions recognize the jurisdictional awards made by labor itself."

Edwards was the first witness as Chairman Gwinn (R-N.Y.), of a House Labor subcommittee on housing, opened an investigation of union and building practices in the construction industry. The purpose is to discover remedies for any obstacles to home building.

Double Slaying Motive Sought By Authorities

EASTLAND, Tex., Oct. 16. (AP)—A double slaying without an apparent motive faced authorities today as Justice of the Peace E. E. Wood returned an inquest verdict that Frank Dwyer shot his former business associate, Samuel Butler, to death and then "probably" killed himself.

Bodies of the two men were found near here yesterday. A revolver was under Dwyer's body. The body of Butler, brother of the late Marine general, Smedley Butler, was lying several feet away.

Mrs. Dwyer said her husband left home yesterday morning with the explanation that he was going to show Butler an oil lease. Butler had returned to Eastland a few days ago from Denver.

Kivi Given 18-Month Term For Atom Theft

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Former Army Sgt. Arnold F. Kivi, 26, was sentenced in Federal Court today to 18 months in prison on his guilty plea of stealing and concealing government photographs taken at the Los Alamos, N. M., atom bomb plant.

Kivi was arrested August 30 and a month later pleading guilty declaring he wanted to "get it over with." The FBI said they had found 37 photographs and 10 negatives in his Brooklyn home, showing some phases of atomic research equipment.

Savs Savings Offset

ATLANTA, Oct. 16 (AP)—Increased use of waffle and pancake flour, resulting from meatless Tuesday and poultryless Thursday, has more than offset any savings of other foods, Richard W. Florrid, executive secretary of the Atlanta Restaurant Association, said today.

Missing Secretary's Battered Body Found

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 16. (AP)—The battered body of a young blonde secretary, missing two days from her mountaintop home, was found in a ravine today 50 yards off the heavily-traveled Birmingham to Atlanta highway, 12 miles east of here.

She was Mrs. Corinne Limbaugh, 34.

Two boys called to aid her husband, Clyde Limbaugh, 39, in a search discovered the body.

Deputy J. L. Borgan, acting coroner, said the woman had been severely beaten with a heavy instrument, and apparently had been overcome only after a hard struggle. He said no motive for the crime was apparent. A complete medical examination was under way.

Living Costs Reached New High In August

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP) — City living costs in mid-August were higher than they ever had been before, the Labor Department said today. It added that they probably are even higher now.

The consumers price index compiled by the department's bureau of labor statistics hit 160 in mid-August. It topped any prior figure for that index—rising about one per cent over mid-July.

The bureau said the new jump in living costs could be attributed to August rises in every major group of consumer items except house furnishings, including an advance of more than one per cent in rents.

The consumers price index uses the 1935-39 average as 100 in measuring the average retail prices of goods and services used by "moderate-income families in large cities."

Mother, Daughter Wed To Same Man Case Is Too Complicated For Judge

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—The two women, both blonde but one younger and stouter, stood with the man before the judge's bench while the jurist stared at them unbelievingly.

"It's too complicated for me," Magistrate Francis X. Giaccone said, then leaned back to ponder the story he had just heard from Detective Dewey Warnecke.

Last Saturday, Ruth Belsky Golightly, 21, complained to police that her husband, Raymond, 48, a hospital employe, had failed to support her and her nine-month old child. Warneke accompanied Ruth to an apartment where she said she lived with Golightly.

There was another woman there and she wanted to know what the charge was.

"Non-support," Warnecke said, "his wife complained."

"Well, I'm his wife," said the woman, about 41, "and I'm not complaining. The woman who made the complaint is my daughter."

In Felony Court today, the older woman identified herself as Mrs. Nellie Mary Melsky Golightly and produced a marriage certificate showing she married Golightly in Shavertown, Pa., March 4, 1944.

Then her daughter showed a certificate indicating she and Golightly were married here August 19, 1946.

Both women said they had borne Golightly children, that they loved him and didn't want to press any bigamy charge.

Sen. Taft Balks At Posing With Harold Stassen

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) declined tonight to pose for news photographs with Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota.

Both are prospective candidates for the Republican nomination for President in 1948, and were here to address the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Clubs.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft described President Truman's foreign policy as a "riot of inconsistencies" tonight, and speaking from the same platform, Harold E. Stassen pleaded the Republican cause in milder tones. Taft and Stassen are mentioned as possible opponents for their party's presidential nomination.

The Ohio Senator threw oratorical barbs at the Truman adminstration. In a speech before the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations, he said:

"Neither the people nor Congress have been advised what the real facts are" and "we do not know

Every Citizen Should Be A Wearer Of A Red Feather

In less than twelve days an army of loyal citizens of Cumberland will take the field in a campaign that is vital to every person in this community.

It will be known as the Red Feather Army, the men and women who give of their time and energy —which is even more valuable than their dollars—to the annual effort to solicit funds to support nine Community Chest agencies. They are all volunteer workers and include solicitors, committee chairmen, committee workers and others.

The duties which they carry on are performed without thought of personal reward. They are serving entirely for the benefit of their fellow men and women in this city.

Remember this when a Community Chest worker calls on you, and hear him politely and with appreciation of the fact that he is performing an unselfish service.

This is the annual appeal of the Community Chest. The goal is $75,393.51, a slight increase of $2,630.00 over the amount raised last year.

This increase is based on the necessity for performing at least the same amount of welfare work as has been carried on in the past, at a new high level of costs. Price increases have hit the agencies as they did everybody else.

A budget committee worked for many weeks to trim requests of the agencies and ascertain that the sums sought were actually needed. They did what appears to be a careful and economical job. The simple facts are that the needs are great and costs are high.

Cumberland has always come through and we have no doubt but that the goal will be reached this year. If it isn't, persons who must look to the Associated Charities for food, clothing, shelter, medicines, nursing, employment, transportation, personal aid and advice will have to be neglected, and they become public beggars. During the past year this agency aided 3,687 families in one way or another. It will cost $15,000 to carry on this work for another year. It is a small sum to contribute for the benevolent work done.

Many underprivileged children will be deprived of the bare necessities of life unless $1,422 is forthcoming to the Baby Welfare Society, to provide milk, vitamins and nourishing food for undernourished babies.

Then there is the Keating Memorial Day Nursery which provides daytime care for children, 2 to 6 years of age, of families in difficulty. During the past year 6,144 days of child care supplied 77 children of 62 families. The citizens of Cumberland would be rendering a disservice to children of a parent dead or sick, divorcees, destitute or an only parent working if the small amount of $4,421.36 asked is not contributed by those who are spared the distasteful ordeal of having to be separated from their children day after day.

The Y. M. C. A. provides wholesome recreation and physical education facilities for thousands of young people during a year's time. Without the privileges afforded by this institution those boys and girls would have to find amusement and recreation on the streets and in undesirable places where juvenile delinquency is often bred. During the past year the door of the Y. M. C. A. swung open 207,000 times to admit some man, women, boy or girl. They went there because this institution offered a service personal or civic, in which they had an interest. More than 8,000 participated in the gymnasium program, 5,420 in athletic games and tournaments while 12,245 'teen-agers went for the recreational affairs.

The Travelers Aid Society, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and the Salvation Army render service and training yearly at small expense to the individual.

The cost of such undertakings as cited is meager, so to speak, for the benefits secured. It is unthinkable that the people of Cumberland will permit this campaign to fail, because if they do the cost would be much higher in disease, juvenile delinquency, mental and physical suffering.

The advance gift drive got underway yesterday. The campaign proper begins Tuesday, October 28, to continue eight days. Five hours pay will do the job with 10,000 givers. Let's not fail ourselves.

Those who were urging consumers to buy cheaper cuts of meat are concentrating on a new bright thought since it was called to their attention that there are no cheaper cuts of meat.

Surgery Against Crime Theory And Its Results

A decade ago Dr. Frank Chmelik, chief physician of the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet, decided to test a theory. He believed that criminals with physical deformities setting them apart from normal persons might be straightened out if their defects were corrected. So he called in Dr. John A. Pick of Chicago, a plastic surgeon, and told him to begin work.

Last week, before the United States chapter of the International College of Surgeons, Dr. Pick reported on the results of the 728 operations he has performed since 1937. His conclusions might be summed up in a sentence. Dr. Chmelik was right. Or, as Dr. Pick put it:

"The psychological results have been the most outstanding feature and gain, particularly as concerns improvement in general behavior of the inmates long after the operation, and also in the salutary influence this new interest has had on other inmates."

Dr. Pick cited figures in support of this statement. Statistics show, he said, that as a rule 17 per cent of convicts released on parole are returned to prison for one reason or another. But of 376 convicts released after undergoing plastic surgery, only a shade more than one per cent have been returned.

Dr. Pick admitted that there is some danger in using plastic surgery as an instrument for reforming criminals. A few of those who have had their features made over, he said, have "given up ordinary forms of crime such as thievery and risen to higher and more subtle antisocial efforts." But he added that they are "few indeed."

Is it worth while to take that risk? It appears that there are 60 former convicts who have been rehabilitated, and are no longer a charge on the state of Illinois, because of Dr. Pick's skill. That alone is a weighty item on the credit side of the ledger.

FLUORINE AND DENTAL CARIES

THE use of fluorine in preventing dental caries is gaining momentum. Many studies are being made in localities where the waters already contain a trace of this element. Other towns and cities in which it is lacking are considering the possibility of artificial fluorination.

It is well known that local disturbances within the mouth play a role in the formation of cavities. Sugars, bacteria, and acids are the chief culprits. But the condition of the enamel is also a factor as some individuals exhibit more of a tendency to decay than others, with a great number of extractions and fillings. Heredity is partly responsible and so is the diet consumed while the teeth were in their development stage.

It is during the latter period that fluorine is most helpful. Hence the substance is of more value before the age of 10. Klein, working with the United States public health service, had the unique opportunity of analyzing the effect of heredity and fluorine on the teeth of residents of two counties in New Jersey. Nineteen years ago the water supply of these communities was changed from shallow (fluorine-free) to deep wells which contained traces of fluoride iron. Most of the adults born and reared in these parts had used water during early life that was entirely different from that employed by their offspring.

In the series, the 123 fathers and, 131 mothers examined were divided into two groups: (1) Those with many decayed, missing, and filled teeth; and (2) those with a low incidence of such defects. When the children of these parents were checked, it was found that there were fewer dental disorders, presumably because the youngsters had been drinking water containing fluorine. But the progeny of men and women who were highly susceptible to caries had more trouble than their comrades whose parents were less inclined to develop the disturbance. This substantiates the claims that fluorination reduces the likelihood of dental trouble but cannot be given all the credit. The family stock must be taken into account and, if it is good, fewer defects can be anticipated.

The use of fluorine is not without danger. If too much is taken, the enamel becomes mottled and discolored. It was in research on this abnormality that scientists first noted that such teeth were relatively free from decay, although it was not entirely absent. One experiment led to another and ultimately, studies were performed in communities where the water supply contained smaller amounts. Children here had fewer cavities that would be expected for the population as a whole.

Apparently, enamel containing this element is more resistant to the acids in the mouth which in turn are produced by bacteria that thrive on bits of food adhering to the surface of the teeth. The upper front teeth are protected by fluorine to a greater extent than the molars.

Oral hygiene and good nutrition are essential in minimizing dental disorders. The diet should be high in calcium, phosphorus, and vitamins A, C, and D. Fluorine, therefore, is not all important and even if its use becomes widespread, it is doubtful whether visits to the dentist will become less frequent.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

A German fraulein, anxious to be reunited with her ex-GI boy friend, tried to get herself shipped to this country in a crate. She no doubt got the idea from playing post office with the boys.

If her plans had succeeded, I'll bet that ex-GI would have married her and, housing being what it is, would have moved right into that crate with her.

I can sympathize with that fraulein—traveling in a crate—because I once had the same experience. But it came out all right. I sold it to Madman Muntz and made three thousand dollars.

Of course, before she had herself nailed up in the crate, the fraulein painted a sign on the side of it saying "do not drop." Then she mailed a letter to her boy friend saying the same thing.

Can you imagine that? A pretty girl jammed into a two-by-four crate? I'm really mad about that—all that good squeezing going to waste.

When the officers found her, they said "It's suicide—how can you live without breathing?" She said: "If Sinatra can, I can too."

What some girls won't do for love. Of course, American girls make the same sacrifice too, suffocating themselves in a crate. Except that over here they call it a girdle.

The whole thing later turned out to be a hoax. The fraulein really didn't want to travel anywhere. She was only hiding in that crate after wearing one of those new style long skirts.

Government To Brief Doctors For Atomic War; American People Produce While Government Lags; Luckman Deserts Firm's Interest For World's Interest

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—U. S. Army-Navy strategists have estimated that the United States has until 1951 before Russia produces the atomic bomb in quantity, even though she probably has the secret now.

During these next three years, therefore, the Government faces the grim task of quietly briefing its doctors for a possible atomic war. Proper medical know-how, it is estimated, will reduce fatalities by from 25 to 40 per cent—in case of an American Hiroshima.

The special atomic medical course already has been given a trial run behind closed doors. It has also been repeated before select groups of Army and Navy officers, including British observers. As soon as it is agreed how much can be told safely, the classes will be thrown open to the full medical profession. Instruction will be boiled down to five days, and will cover the following high points:

1. Casualties from an atomic explosion caused by concussion, flydebris, or flash burns. Best protection against the first two is shelter, preferably underground. A loose-fitting, all-white outer covering will be developed to ward off flash burns.

2. Individuals wtihin a mile of the bomb blast are exposed to a lethal dose of radioactivity. This is deadly. No matter how healthy they may appear, it is useless to treat them. Casualties one to three miles from the target center are in serious danger, but can be saved by prompt medical attention. From three to 12 miles away, the seriousness of radioactivity lessens.

The Deadliest Rays Of All

3. Most dangerous are the deadly gamma rays. These attack the blood cells, causing severe internal hemorrhages. Only blood transfusions on a massive scale can save life. In addition, injury to the white blood cells leaves the victim so defenseless against infection that not even penicillin can fight it off.

4. Alpha and beta particles are less dangerous, since they cannot pass through the skin. But they can enter the body through the nose, mouth or a wound. These particles lodge in the bones, and are lethal in heavy doses. Usually they are found in the mushroom cloud that the atomic bomb uncorks. If the bomb is exploded underwater, as at Bikini, the cloud fills with mist which may drift and carry the alpha and beta particles long distances.

Note—Doctors will be taught how to use a dosimeter, an instrument the size of a fountain pen, which will permit them to enter radioactive areas. The instrument will warn them before they are overexposed. Another boxlike device, known as the ion chamber, will be demonstrated to doctors. This is more awkward, but more accurate in gauging radioactivity than the famous Geiger counter.

American People Produce

That which is printed above is the type of news a newsman does not like to report. Yet it is accurate, highly important news, and a columnist would be remiss if he failed to let the American people know what kind of things they may face in the uncertain future.

But coupled with this dreary news, here is something more cheerful.

Last week this writer traveled briefly through the Middle West, which together with a columnist's mail—always a pretty accurate gauge of public opinion—leads him to the conclusion that the American public on the whole are way ahead of their government.

They may be confused at times; they may not see the road clearly; but they are eager and anxious to do anything which will help preserve the democratic system, help their fellow men and prevent war.

We now hear reports that the Middle West has gone isolationist again, that the folks out there have pulled back into their shell and say to heck with Europe—which of course is what Russia wants most. There may be some of that. But when the people of Elburn, Ill., right in the Chicago Tribune's own backyard, get out their wagons and repick their cornfields, that's not isolation. That's patriotism. And when the boy scouts of Nebraska repick the cornfields, that also isn't pulling back into their shell.

And when the people of Oklahoma and Kansas set up their own wheat relief committees, not waiting for prompting from Washington, and begin loading cars of grain, that's the kind of thing that makes democracy live. Out in those two big wheat-growing states, they have really organized things. Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas, a Republican, is working with ex-Gov. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, a Democrat, and both are working with William H. Danforth of the Ralston Purina Co., and with E. N. Puckett, head of the Union Equity Cooperative Exchange, together with John Metzler of the Christian Rural Overseas Program and Sam P. Wallingford of the Wallingford Grain Co. in Wichita and a lot of other patriotic people whose names would fill up several columns.

Then there are the Amvets who are suggesting to one million ex-GIs that they send packages of food and clothing to Europe. And Ray Brannaman, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, is pushing the same. Then there is Dow O. White, down in Ardmore, Oklahoma, who heard me say on the radio that rats were eating up a lot of the grain that we should be sending to Europe, and twelve hours later he telephoned that he had killed 300 rats in one day.

These are some of the things that make me believe the American people are ahead of their government—way ahead of their Congress. While Mr. Truman and the Appropriations Committees are worrying about how they will get a Congressional appropriation to send wheat over to Europe before the French and Italian elections, the American peoples have actually come along and are giving the grain.

Cutting Off Fats

Harassed food czar Luckman hurried up to Boston over the week end where his 7-year-old son underwent an emergency operation. While there he talked to the general manager of the Lever Brothers Soap Company which Luckman heads.

"What is the situation on fats and oils?" Luckman asked his manager. "Will you be able to get enough?"

"That all depends," replied the manager, "on a fellow down in Washington named Luckman."

"Then it's going to be bad," warned Luckman, "for he is going to do all in his power to see that grain is not used to fatten cattle."

United Nations' Home; One World Seems Irridescent Dream

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The Reverend Edward Lodge Curran, President of the International Catholic Truth Society, has filed suit against the State and City of New York to have declared null and void the transfer of lands and streets in New York City to the United Nations. He contends that it was not in the power of the State or City to deed any part of their soil to a foreign sovereignty.

Father Curren must be an optimist to think he can find a court that will roll up the map as he contends It is tougher to unscramble than to scramble. No doubt his suit is really designed to highlight the mistake he thinks we made in inviting, or insisting, that the United Natons, including Mr. Vishinsky, make their home with us.

On that point, he will have support. Why we abandoned the magnificent buildings that formely housed the League of Nations in Geneva, Switzerland, will always remain "a mystery surrounded with an enigma," as Churchill once said on another occasion. Probably some of guests thought that as the host nation we would be more generous.

Attention Turns to Geneva

However, real attention is being given to using Geneva again as a public hall for all the talking to be done. The other day, six speakers in the United Nations Assembly, including representatives from Sweden and France, urged that a survey start at once to ascertain the cost of holding a session in Geneva. Mr. Rene Mayer of France said it was "no mistake of France" that the United Nations is now housed in the most expensive city in the world. (expensive to us, anyway). The New York Times reports that "it was learned that at least one great power had considered proposing to move the entire United Nations permanently to the former League of Nations' site in Geneva."

Well, that would please me, as one of the 140,000,000 Americans. Years ago, I read this statement of Josef Stalin: "Words must have no relation to actions . . . otherwise what kind of diplomacy is it? Sincere diplomacy is no more possible than dry water or wooden iron."

Having learned long ago to keep my powder dry when appraising the beautiful words of peace-loving diplomats, I never got "all het up" over the lovely idea of inviting the Communists into our homes and furnishing them with a sounding board for their propaganda. But not expecting my devoted fellow countrymen to be so canny as to insist on Geneva, I once wrote a column suggesting as an alternative to New York City, the charming and lovely village of Santa Claus, Spencer County, Indiana, as an appropriate home for our guests. I even suggested that this had the tremendous advantage of being also next door to Fort Knox, Kentucky, where all our gold is buried! Well, I lost out on Santa Claus. So I'm boosting Geneva again. I think that would be a lot better place for Vishinsky to speak He wouldn't have to travel nearly so far, for one thing, and we couldn't hear him nearly so well. This would have a lot of advantages.

An Irridescent Dream

But, seriously, isn't it becoming plain to all of us that after all the One World idea was nothing but an irridescent dream? It took into consideration everything except the announced purpose, announced time and again, of an unending struggle between Communism and freedom for the future of the world. Now that our gullible hopes in Communist good faith have been dashed to the ground, may it not be wiser to ask Stalin and his stooges to withdraw behind their iron curtain and let the rest of the United Nations go it alone?

Well, we can't be serious all the time. So, I call attention to the boys at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute who urge all male collegians to refuse to shave if the girls persist in wearing long skirts! It's a noble effort, men, but you can win, even by a whisker! The short skirt had a high old time, but time marches down.

Will Truman Ask Distillery Workers To Give Up Their Pay?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—A novel complication has arisen under the Taft-Hartley law which affects adversely the employers. It is the prospect that labor unions will wish to examine carefully hereafter the reasons for lay-offs and if the economic justification is not clear there is a chance of suits for damages as well as charges of an "unfair labor practice."

The situation has been brought to public attention by the International Union of Distillery, Rectifying and Wine Workers who have sent word to the distillers that they will insist on an enforcement of the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law with respect to the 60-day shutdown of distilleries which starts October 25 in compliance with a request from the President's food committee in order to conserve grain.

Union Has, On It's Face, a Case

The union has, on its face, a case. The employers are not shutting down because of a lack of work. They are suspending operations not because of any provision of law but simply as an act of good will toward a governmental authority of an informal nature—in fact, an indirect authority.

For while the food committee was created by the President it has no legal status and acts more as a medium for the expression of the views of the Chief Executive. But the President of the United States while requesting an industry to close down has no legal power to enforce that request. Hence the shutdown by the distillers is, legally speaking, not an involuntary but a voluntary act. This brings the Taft-Hartley law into the picture, for no employer can arbitrarily shut out all his workers without giving an economic justification and even so he must give 60 days' notice of such a lock-out.

Under the new law, not only can an injunction be issued by the National Labor Relations Board's general counsel but the aggrieved parties—the unions—can seek damages for the failure of the employers to give the requisite notice and for failing to adjust the dispute by collective bargaining processes.

$6,000,000 in Wages Involved

It is estimated that at least 15,000 workers will be laid off and some estimates go much higher. Assuming that 15,000 is a minimum and that the distillery workers average at least $40 per week, there is a payroll of $600,000 a week or $6,000,000 for 10 weeks involved in the shutdown of the nation's distilleries.

Who is going to pay that sum? The distillers say they do not think they should pay it. In face, from a tax standpoint it might not be a deductible expense for the companies to be making grants to employes for services not rendered. If the unions file suits and get damages the distillers might go into the U. S. Court of Claims and try to recover these amounts from the government on the ground that the shutdown was truly a governmental action and that he government should indemnify the employers.

The whole episode may furnish some interesting precedents. If an employer hereafter shuts down in order to comply with some governmental request or policy and cannot show any economic reason for his action, the unions will be able to use the Taft-Hartley law's provisions to obtain an adjustment. Up to now no official request that could legally protect the employers in the distilling business has been made public. So far as the unions are concerned, they regard the shutdown as no different from any other voluntary closing or layoff.

Violation of Labor Law

Certainly it is a violation of the Taft-Hartley law, no matter how meritorious the purpose of the closing may be. The union has notified all distillers in this language:

"The proposed shutdown action has been announced without prior consulation or collective bargaining with the legal and authorized collective bargaining representatives of the employes of the industry. You are hereby notified that any of the above described layoffs will be construed by this international union as a unilateral violation and repudiation of our collective bargaining agreement. The international union will take such action as it deems appropriate in the event of any such action by any employer."

It will be interesting to see whether the President of the United States in the interest of food conservation will ask 15,000 workers to give up 60 days' pay as a contribution to the cause—a sacrifice no other group of citizens is being asked to make.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

Lewis's Anger

JOHN L. Lewis, better than any other man, knows the danger of Communist penetration in the trade unions of this country. When he formed the C. I. O., he was in need of a large number of skilled organizers, propagandists, writers ,and similar smart boys. He found them among the Communists and Left Wingers. Although he had never permitted Communists to play any part in the United Mine Workers, he took on this crew to the detriment of American labor and the American people.

They surrounded him. They introduced the syndicalistic sitdown strike. They applied the Bolshevist methods to labor union organization. They managed to take over about a dozen of the C. I. O. unions, some of which, like the U. E., they still absolutely control. The C. I. O. general headquarters became an organ of Communist propaganda and union funds were used for this purpose. Trade unionism, in the C. I. O., became strictly political. J. Raymond Walsh, chief apologist for the C. I. O., put it this way:

"...Essentially the New Deal and the C. I. O. are politico-economic twins, with a common heritage but different temperaments. The one had to come before the other could win its right to exist; both issued from the womb of an unhappy, unbalanced capitalist democracy."

Lewis found himself in unpleasant, unAmerican company. In particular, he was required to support a war which he believed would be disastrous for America and he was required to serve the political purposes of Franklin D. Roosevelt. By 1940, he had been reduced to the position of a hanger-on to a political machine.

It was too much for Lewis. In the 1940 campaign he declared his personal independence. The skids were put under him and out he went. The Communists, who are a minority in the C. I. O., took over. Lewis has seen his successor, Phil Murray, a man of religious scruples and personal integrity, become a prisoner of this Communist machine. All the apologists for Murray cannot explain away the activities of Lee Pressman, DeCaux, Emspak, Quill, Bridges and others. The C. I. O. did not limit itself to the field of American trade unionism; it became a supporter of Russian policy in the international field and actually joined the World Federation of Trade Unions, an organ of international trade communion that the A. F. of L. rejected.

John L. Lewis knows all this. Of course, he also knows that it ought to be unnecessary for an American to take an oath of loyalty, that every American is presumed to be loyal until proven disloyal. He is right, in principal, when he objects to taking an oath asserting that he is not a Communist. No one even suspects him of being a Communist.

But he ought also to know from his experience that these creatures creep into everything, that they change their names, disguise their affiliations, deny what is true and assert what is false in conformity to Lenin's dictum that to lie for the Cause is a virtue.

He knows that this county, in another war, would be at the mercy of the U. E., which could cripple us by striking General Electric, Westinghouse, Allis-Chalmers, Radio Corporation of America and similar corporations which manufacture essential commodities of war. He knows that Harry Bridges and Mike Quill could so tie up our transportation system that this country could not move men and supplies efficiently. He knows that radio operators and telegraphers could strike in the interest of a foreign foe.

He knows that the valiant fight that Walter Reuther is making to keep the Communists out of control of our automobile, tractor and tank manufacturing is a nip-and-tuck situation and that if he should fail, our wonderful productive record in the last war might not be paralleled in the next one.

Can this country continue to risk its future? All that the Taft-Hartley Law demands is a statement of fact. If a labor leader says that he is not a Communist and he proves to be one, he is open to a charge of perjury which is a punishable offense. That is a mild enough protective in the face of what we have seen Stalin's agents do in every country of Europe and Asia.

The Greatest Adventure

There are those who have plenty of time to devote to land exploration, long and intricate research into the secrets of science and of the universe, but who have no time to explore themselves! The most interesting, and fascinating of all pursuits!

One of the great classics of the world "Walden", was born, when Henry D. Thoreau built that little hut at Walden pond—at the cost of about twenty-eight dollars—and not only explored the country thereabout, but intently explored himself. Then, after two years he left, and this is what he gave as his reason: "I left the woods for as good a reason as I went there. Perhaps it seemed to me that I had several more lives to live, and could not spare any more time for that one."

And so it is that the greatest of all adventures is to adventure into yourself. How little we know of ourselves, either physically, or mentally! One of the most interesting books in my library is one entitled "Man, in Structure and Function" by Dr. Fritz Kahn. Unfortunately it is rather expensive, but well worth the investment, for it shows one what a wonderful thing this human body of ours is, just from the physical structure—indeed the most wonderfully constructed organism in all life. After reading this book you look upon your own body with pride and wonder.

W. H. Hudson loved the wild, the forest, and the quiet stimulation of Nature. In one of his beautiful essays he said: "Out here in this wilderness of all places—the place to which a man might come to divest himself of himself—that second self which he has unconsciously acquired—to be like the trees and animals, outside of the sad atmosphere of human life and its eternal tragedy." What an adventure!

What do we know about our own mind? Do we go adventuring into it to find out? Its possibilities are so limitless Even the psychologist is fascinated by his adventures into the human mind. The psalmist looked into the heavens and was so amazed at its glory and unlimited scope, that he exclaimed: "What is man?" And yet, man's mind is still more wonderful because it can look into the heavens and comprehend the glory of God, who created it all.

All life may become a series of adventures—but the adventure into our own being, to think, to learn, and to spread influence, is the greatest of all adventures!

Every Citizen Should Be A Wearer Of A Red Feather

In less than twelve days an army of loyal citizens of Cumberland will take the field in a campaign that is vital to every person in this community.

It will be known as the Red Feather Army, the men and women who give of their time and energy —which is even more valuable than their dollars—to the annual effort to solicit funds to support nine Community Chest agencies. They are all volunteer workers and include solicitors, committee chairmen, committee workers and others.

The duties which they carry on are performed without thought of personal reward. They are serving entirely for the benefit of their fellow men and women in this city.

Remember this when a Community Chest worker calls on you, and hear him politely and with appreciation of the fact that he is performing an unselfish service.

This is the annual appeal of the Community Chest. The goal is $75,393.51, a slight increase of $2,630.00 over the amount raised last year.

This increase is based on the necessity for performing at least the same amount of welfare work as has been carried on in the past, at a new high level of costs. Price increases have hit the agencies as they did everybody else.

A budget committee worked for many weeks to trim requests of the agencies and ascertain that the sums sought were actually needed. They did what appears to be a careful and economical job. The simple facts are that the needs are great and costs are high.

Cumberland has always come through and we have no doubt but that the goal will be reached this year. If it isn't, persons who must look to the Associated Charities for food, clothing, shelter, medicines, nursing, employment, transportation, personal aid and advice will have to be neglected, and they become public beggars. During the past year this agency aided 3,687 families in one way or another. It will cost $15,000 to carry on this work for another year. It is a small sum to contribute for the benevolent work done.

Many underprivileged children will be deprived of the bare necessities of life unless $1,422 is forthcoming to the Baby Welfare Society, to provide milk, vitamins and nourishing food for undernourished babies.

Then there is the Keating Memorial Day Nursery which provides daytime care for children, 2 to 6 years of age, of families in difficulty. During the past year 6,144 days of child care supplied 77 children of 62 families. The citizens of Cumberland would be rendering a disservice to children of a parent dead or sick, divorcees, destitute or an only parent working if the small amount of $4,421.36 asked is not contributed by those who are spared the distasteful ordeal of having to be separated from their children day after day.

The Y. M. C. A. provides wholesome recreation and physical education facilities for thousands of young people during a year's time. Without the privileges afforded by this institution those boys and girls would have to find amusement and recreation on the streets and in undesirable places where juvenile delinquency is often bred. During the past year the door of the Y. M. C. A. swung open 207,000 times to admit some man, women, boy or girl. They went there because this institution offered a service personal or civic, in which they had an interest. More than 8,000 participated in the gymnasium program, 5,420 in athletic games and tournaments while 12,245 'teen-agers went for the recreational affairs.

The Travelers Aid Society, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and the Salvation Army render service and training yearly at small expense to the individual.

The cost of such undertakings as cited is meager, so to speak, for the benefits secured. It is unthinkable that the people of Cumberland will permit this campaign to fail, because if they do the cost would be much higher in disease, juvenile delinquency, mental and physical suffering.

The advance gift drive got underway yesterday. The campaign proper begins Tuesday, October 28, to continue eight days. Five hours pay will do the job with 10,000 givers. Let's not fail ourselves.

Those who were urging consumers to buy cheaper cuts of meat are concentrating on a new bright thought since it was called to their attention that there are no cheaper cuts of meat.

Surgery Against Crime Theory And Its Results

A decade ago Dr. Frank Chmelik, chief physician of the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet, decided to test a theory. He believed that criminals with physical deformities setting them apart from normal persons might be straightened out if their defects were corrected. So he called in Dr. John A. Pick of Chicago, a plastic surgeon, and told him to begin work.

Last week, before the United States chapter of the International College of Surgeons, Dr. Pick reported on the results of the 728 operations he has performed since 1937. His conclusions might be summed up in a sentence. Dr. Chmelik was right. Or, as Dr. Pick put it:

"The psychological results have been the most outstanding feature and gain, particularly as concerns improvement in general behavior of the inmates long after the operation, and also in the salutary influence this new interest has had on other inmates."

Dr. Pick cited figures in support of this statement. Statistics show, he said, that as a rule 17 per cent of convicts released on parole are returned to prison for one reason or another. But of 376 convicts released after undergoing plastic surgery, only a shade more than one per cent have been returned.

Dr. Pick admitted that there is some danger in using plastic surgery as an instrument for reforming criminals. A few of those who have had their features made over, he said, have "given up ordinary forms of crime such as thievery and risen to higher and more subtle antisocial efforts." But he added that they are "few indeed."

Is it worth while to take that risk? It appears that there are 60 former convicts who have been rehabilitated, and are no longer a charge on the state of Illinois, because of Dr. Pick's skill. That alone is a weighty item on the credit side of the ledger.

FLUORINE AND DENTAL CARIES

THE use of fluorine in preventing dental caries is gaining momentum. Many studies are being made in localities where the waters already contain a trace of this element. Other towns and cities in which it is lacking are considering the possibility of artificial fluorination.

It is well known that local disturbances within the mouth play a role in the formation of cavities. Sugars, bacteria, and acids are the chief culprits. But the condition of the enamel is also a factor as some individuals exhibit more of a tendency to decay than others, with a great number of extractions and fillings. Heredity is partly responsible and so is the diet consumed while the teeth were in their development stage.

It is during the latter period that fluorine is most helpful. Hence the substance is of more value before the age of 10. Klein, working with the United States public health service, had the unique opportunity of analyzing the effect of heredity and fluorine on the teeth of residents of two counties in New Jersey. Nineteen years ago the water supply of these communities was changed from shallow (fluorine-free) to deep wells which contained traces of fluoride iron. Most of the adults born and reared in these parts had used water during early life that was entirely different from that employed by their offspring.

In the series, the 123 fathers and 131 mothers examined were divided into two groups: (1) Those with many decayed, missing, and filled teeth; and (2) those with a low incidence of such defects. When the children of these parents were checked, it was found that there were fewer dental disorders, presumably because the youngsters had been drinking water containing fluorine. But the progeny of men and women who were highly susceptible to caries had more trouble than their comrades whose parents were less inclined to develop the disturbance. This substantiates the claims that fluorination reduces the likelihood of dental trouble but cannot be given all the credit. The family stock must be taken into account and, if it is good, fewer defects can be anticipated.

The use of fluorine is not without danger. If too much is taken, the enamel becomes mottled and discolored. It was in research on this abnormality that scientists first noted that such teeth were relatively free from decay, although it was not entirely absent. One experiment led to another and ultimately, studies were performed in communities where the water supply contained smaller amounts. Children here had fewer cavities that would be expected for the population as a whole.

Apparently, enamel containing this element is more resistant to the acids in the mouth which in turn are produced by bacteria that thrive on bits of food adhering to the surface of the teeth. The upper front teeth are protected by fluorine to a greater extent than the molars.

Oral hygiene and good nutrition are essential in minimizing dental disorders. The diet should be high in calcium, phosphorus, and vitamins A, C, and D. Fluorine, therefore, is not all important and even if its use becomes widespread, it is doubtful whether visits to the dentist will become less frequent.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

A German fraulein, anxious to be reunited with her ex-GI boy friend, tried to get herself shipped to this country in a crate. She no doubt got the idea from playing post office with the boys.

If her plans had succeeded, I'll bet that ex-GI would have married her and, housing being what it is, would have moved right into that crate with her.

I can sympathize with that fraulein—traveling in a crate—because I once had the same experience. But it came out all right. I sold it to Madman Muntz and made three thousand dollars.

Of course, before she had herself nailed up in the crate, the fraulein painted a sign on the side of it saying "do not drop." Then she mailed a letter to her boy friend saying the same thing.

Can you imagine that? A pretty girl jammed into a two-by-four crate? I'm really mad about that—all that good squeezing going to waste.

When the officers found her, they said "It's suicide—how can you live without breathing?" She said: "If Sinatra can, I can too."

What some girls won't do for love. Of course, American girls make the same sacrifice too, suffocating themselves in a crate. Except that over here they call it a girdle.

The whole thing later turned out to be a hoax. The fraulein really didn't want to travel anywhere. She was only hiding in that crate after wearing one of those new style long skirts.

Government To Brief Doctors For Atomic War; American People Produce While Government Lags; Luckman Deserts Firm's Interest For World's Interest

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—U. S. Army-Navy strategists have estimated that the United States has until 1951 before Russia produces the atomic bomb in quantity, even though she probably has the secret now.

During these next three years, therefore, the Government faces the grim task of quietly briefing its doctors for a possible atomic war. Proper medical know-how, it is estimated, will reduce fatalities by from 25 to 40 per cent—in case of an American Hiroshima.

The special atomic medical course already has been given a trial run behind closed doors. It has also been repeated before select groups of Army and Navy officers, including British observers. As soon as it is agreed how much can be told safely, the classes will be thrown open to the full medical profession. Instruction will be boiled down to five days, and will cover the following high points:

1. Casualties from an atomic explosion caused by concussion, flydebris, or flash burns. Best protection against the first two is shelter, preferably underground. A loose-fitting, all-white outer covering will be developed to ward off flash burns.

2. Individuals wtihin a mile of the bomb blast are exposed to a lethal dose of radioactivity. This is deadly. No matter how healthy they may appear, it is useless to treat them. Casualties one to three miles from the target center are in serious danger, but can be saved by prompt medical attention. From three to 12 miles away, the seriousness of radioactivity lessens.

The Deadliest Rays Of All

3. Most dangerous are the deadly gamma rays. These attack the blood cells, causing severe internal hemorrhages. Only blood transfusions on a massive scale can save life. In addition, injury to the white blood cells leaves the victim so defenseless against infection that not even penicillin can fight it off.

4. Alpha and beta particles are less dangerous, since they cannot pass through the skin. But they can enter the body through the nose, mouth or a wound. These particles lodge in the bones, and are lethal in heavy doses. Usually they are found in the mushroom cloud that the atomic bomb uncorks. If the bomb is exploded underwater, as at Bikini, the cloud fills with mist which may drift and carry the alpha and beta particles long distances.

Note—Doctors will be taught how to use a dosimeter, an instrument the size of a fountain pen, which will permit them to enter radioactive areas. The instrument will warn them before they are overexposed. Another boxlike device, known as the ion chamber, will be demonstrated to doctors. This is more awkward, but more accurate in gauging radioactivity than the famous Geiger counter.

American People Produce

That which is printed above is the type of news a newsman does not like to report. Yet it is accurate, highly important news, and a columnist would be remiss if he failed to let the American people know what kind of things they may face in the uncertain future.

But coupled with this dreary news, here is something more cheerful.

Last week this writer traveled briefly through the Middle West, which together with a columnist's mail—always a pretty accurate gauge of public opinion—leads him to the conclusion that the American public on the whole are way ahead of their government.

They may be confused at times; they may not see the road clearly; but they are eager and anxious to do anything which will help preserve the democratic system, help their fellow men and prevent war.

We now hear reports that the Middle West has gone isolationist again, that the folks out there have pulled back into their shell and say to heck with Europe—which of course is what Russia wants most. There may be some of that. But when the people of Elburn, Ill., right in the Chicago Tribune's own backyard, get out their wagons and repick their cornfields, that's not isolation. That's patriotism. And when the boy scouts of Nebraska repick the cornfields, that also isn't pulling back into their shell.

And when the people of Oklahoma and Kansas set up their own wheat relief committees, not waiting for prompting from Washington, and begin loading cars of grain, that's the kind of thing that makes democracy live. Out in those two big wheat-growing states, they have really organized things. Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas, a Republican, is working with ex-Gov. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, a Democrat, and both are working with William H. Danforth of the Ralston Purina Co., and with E. N. Puckett, head of the Union Equity Cooperative Exchange, together with John Metzler of the Christian Rural Overseas Program and Sam P. Wallingford of the Wallingford Grain Co. in Wichita and a lot of other patriotic people whose names would fill up several columns.

Then there are the Amvets who are suggesting to one million ex-GIs that they send packages of food and clothing to Europe. And Ray Brannaman, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, is pushing the same. Then there is Dow O. White, down in Ardmore, Oklahoma, who heard me say on the radio that rats were eating up a lot of the grain that we should be sending to Europe, and twelve hours later he telephoned that he had killed 300 rats in one day.

These are some of the things that make me believe the American people are ahead of their government—way ahead of their Congress. While Mr. Truman and the Appropriations Committees are worrying about how they will get a Congressional appropriation to send wheat over to Europe before the French and Italian elections, the American peoples have actually come along and are giving the grain.

Cutting Off Fats

Harassed food czar Luckman hurried up to Boston over the week end where his 7-year-old son underwent an emergency operation. While there he talked to the general manager of the Lever Brothers Soap Company which Luckman heads.

"What is the situation on fats and oils?" Luckman asked his manager. "Will you be able to get enough?"

"That all depends," replied the manager, "on a fellow down in Washington named Luckman."

"Then it's going to be bad," warned Luckman, "for he is going to do all in his power to see that grain is not used to fatten cattle."

United Nations' Home; One World Seems Irridescent Dream

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The Reverend Edward Lodge Curran, President of the International Catholic Truth Society, has filed suit against the State and City of New York to have declared null and void the transfer of lands and streets in New York City to the United Nations. He contends that it was not in the power of the State or City to deed any part of their soil to a foreign sovereignty.

Father Curren must be an optimist to think he can find a court that will roll up the map as he contends It is tougher to unscramble than to scramble. No doubt his suit is really designed to highlight the mistake he thinks we made in inviting, or insisting, that the United Natons, including Mr. Vishinsky, make their home with us.

On that point, he will have support. Why we abandoned the magnificent buildings that formely housed the League of Nations in Geneva, Switzerland, will always remain "a mystery surrounded with an enigma," as Churchill once said on another occasion. Probably some of guests thought that as the host nation we would be more generous.

Attention Turns to Geneva

However, real attention is being given to using Geneva again as a public hall for all the talking to be done. The other day, six speakers in the United Nations Assembly, including representatives from Sweden and France, urged that a survey start at once to ascertain the cost of holding a session in Geneva. Mr. Rene Mayer of France said it was "no mistake of France" that the United Nations is now housed in the most expensive city in the world, (expensive to us, anyway). The New York Times reports that "it was learned that at least one great power had considered proposing to move the entire United Nations permanently to the former League of Nations' site in Geneva."

Well, that would please me, as one of the 140,000,000 Americans. Years ago, I read this statement of Josef Stalin: "Words must have no relation to actions . . . otherwise what kind of diplomacy is it? Sincere diplomacy is no more possible than dry water or wooden iron."

Having learned long ago to keep my powder dry when appraising the beautiful words of peace-loving diplomats, I never got "all het up" over the lovely idea of inviting the Communists into our homes and furnishing them with a sounding board for their propaganda. But not expecting my devoted fellow countrymen to be so canny as to insist on Geneva, I once wrote a column suggesting as an alternative to New York City, the charming and lovely village of Santa Claus, Spencer County, Indiana, as an appropriate home for our guests. I even suggested that this had the tremendous advantage of being also next door to Fort Knox, Kentucky, where all our gold is buried! Well, I lost out on Santa Claus. So I'm boosting Geneva again. I think that would be a lot better place for Vishinsky to speak H wouldn't have to travel nearly so far, for one thing, and we couldn't hear him nearly so well. This would have a lot of advantages.

An Irridescent Dream

But, seriously, isn't it becoming plain to all of us that after all the One World idea was nothing but an irridescent dream? It took into consideration everything except the announced purpose, announced time and again, of an unending struggle between Communism and freedom for the future of the world. Now that our gullible hopes in Communist good faith have been dashed to the ground, may it not be wiser to ask Stalin and his stooges to withdraw behind their iron curtain and let the rest of the United Nations go it alone?

Well, we can't be serious all the time. So, I call attention to the boys at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute who urge all male collegians to refuse to shave if the girls persist in wearing long skirts! It's a noble effort, men, but you can win, even by a whisker! The short skirt had a high old time, but time marches down.

Will Truman Ask Distillery Workers To Give Up Their Pay?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—A novel complication has arisen under the Taft-Hartley law which affects adversely the employers. It is the prospect that labor unions will wish to examine carefully hereafter the reasons for lay-offs and if the economic justification is not clear there is a chance of suits for damages as well as charges of an "unfair labor practice."

The situation has been brought to public attention by the International Union of Distillery, Rectifying and Wine Workers who have sent word to the distillers that they will insist on an enforcement of the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law with respect to the 60-day shutdown of distilleries which starts October 25 in compliance with a request from the President's food committee in order to conserve grain.

Union Has, On It's Face, a Case

The union has, on its face, a case. The employers are not shutting down because of a lack of work. They are suspending operations not because of any provision of law but simply as an act of good will toward a governmental authority of an informal nature—in fact, an indirect authority.

For while the food committee was created by the President it has no legal status and acts more as a medium for the expression of the views of the Chief Executive. But the President of the United States while requesting an industry to close down has no legal power to enforce that request. Hence the shutdown by the distillers is, legally speaking, not an involuntary but a voluntary act. This brings the Taft-Hartley law into the picture, for no employer can arbitrarily shut out all his workers without giving an economic justification and even so he must give 60 days' notice of such a lock-out.

Under the new law, not only can an injunction be issued by the National Labor Relations Board's general counsel but the aggrieved parties—the unions—can seek damages for the failure of the employers to give the requisite notice and for failing to adjust the dispute by collective bargaining processes.

$6,000,000 in Wages Involved

It is estimated that at least 15,000 workers will be laid off and some estimates go much higher. Assuming that 15,000 is a minimum and that the distillery workers average at least $40 per week, there is a payroll of $600,000 a week or $6,000,000 for 10 weeks involved in the shutdown of the nation's distilleries.

Who is going to pay that sum? The distillers say they do not think they should pay it. In face, from a tax standpoint it might not be a deductible expense for the companies to be making grants to employes for services not rendered. If the unions file suits and get damages the distillers might go into the U. S. Court of Claims and try to recover these amounts from the government on the ground that the shutdown was truly a governmental action and that he government should indemnify the employers.

The whole episode may furnish some interesting precedents. If an employer hereafter shuts down in order to comply with some governmental request or policy and cannot show any economic reason for his action, the unions will be able to use the Taft-Hartley law's provisions to obtain an adjustment. Up to now no official request that could legally protect the employers in the distilling business has been made public. So far as the unions are concerned, they regard the shutdown as no different from any other voluntary closing or layoff.

Violation of Labor Law

Certainly it is a violation of the Taft-Hartley law, no matter how meritorious the purpose of the closing may be. The union has notified all distillers in this language:

"The proposed shutdown action has been announced without prior consulation or collective bargaining with the legal and authorized collective bargaining representatives of the employes of the industry. You are hereby notified that any of the above described layoffs will be construed by this international union as a unilateral violation and repudiation of our collective bargaining agreement. The international union will take such action as it deems appropriate in the event of any such action by any employer."

It will be interesting to see whether the President of the United States in the interest of food conservation will ask 15,000 workers to give up 60 days' pay as a contribution to the cause—a sacrifice no other group of citizens is being asked to make.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

Lewis's Anger

JOHN L. Lewis, better than any other man, knows the danger of Communist penetration in the trade unions of this country. When he formed the C. I. O., he was in need of a large number of skilled organizers, propagandists, writers ,and similar smart boys. He found them among the Communists and Left Wingers. Although he had never permitted Communists to play any part in the United Mine Workers, he took on this crew to the detriment of American labor and the American people.

They surrounded him. They introduced the syndicalistic sitdown strike. They applied the Bolshevist methods to labor union organization. They managed to take over about a dozen of the C. I. O. unions, some of which, like the U. E., they still absolutely control. The C. I. O. general headquarters became an organ of Communist propaganda and union funds were used for this purpose. Trade unionism, in the C. I. O., became strictly political. J. Raymond Walsh, chief apologist for the C. I. O., put it this way:

"... Essentially the New Deal and the C. I. O. are politico-economic twins, with a common heritage but different temperaments. The one had to come before the other could win its right to exist; both issued from the womb of an unhappy, unbalanced capitalist democracy."

Lewis found himself in unpleasant, unAmerican company. In particular, he was required to support a war which he believed would be disastrous for America and he was required to serve the political purposes of Franklin D. Roosevelt. By 1940, he had been reduced to the position of a hanger-on to a political machine.

It was too much for Lewis. In the 1940 campaign he declared his personal independence. The skids were put under him and out he went. The Communists, who are a minority in the C. I. O., took over. Lewis has seen his successor, Phil Murray, a man of religious scruples and personal integrity, become a prisoner of this Communist machine. All the apologists for Murray cannot explain away the activities of Lee Pressman, DeCaux, Emspak, Quill, Bridges and others. The C. I. O. did not limit itself to the field of American trade unionism; it became a supporter of Russian policy in the international field and actually joined the World Federation of Trade Unions, an organ of international trade communion that the A. F. of L. rejected.

John L. Lewis knows all this. Of course, he also knows that it ought to be unnecessary for an American to take an oath of loyalty, that every American is presumed to be loyal until proven disloyal. He is right, in principal, when he objects to taking an oath asserting that he is not a Communist. No one even suspects him of being a Communist.

But he ought also to know from his experience that these creatures creep into everything, that they change their names, disguise their affiliations, deny what is true and assert what is false in conformity to Lenin's dictum that to lie for the Cause is a virtue.

He knows that this county, in another war, would be at the mercy of the U. E., which could cripple us by striking General Electric, Westinghouse, Allis-Chalmers, Radio Corporation of America and similar corporations which manufacture essential commodities of war. He knows that Harry Bridges and Mike Quill could so tie up our transportation system that this country could not move men and supplies efficiently. He knows that radio operators and telegraphers could strike in the interest of a foreign foe.

He knows that the valiant fight that Walter Reuther is making to keep the Communists out of control of our automobile, tractor and tank manufacturing is a nip-and-tuck situation and that if he should fail, our wonderful productive record in the last war might not be paralelled in the next one.

Can this country continue to risk its future? All that the Taft-Hartley Law demands is a statement of fact. If a labor leader says that he is not a Communist and he proves to be one, he is open to a charge of perjury which is a punishable offense. That is a mild enough protective in the face of what we have seen Stalin's agents do in every country of Europe and Asia.

The Greatest Adventure

There are those who have plenty of time to devote to land exploration, long and intricate research into the secrets of science and of the universe, but who have no time to explore themselves! The most interesting, and fascinating of all pursuits!

One of the great classics of the world "Walden", was born, when Henry D. And so it is that the greatest of all adventures is to adventure into yourself. How little we know of ourselves, either physically, or mentally! One of the most interesting books in my library is one entitled "Man, in Structure and Function" by Dr. Fritz Kahn. Unfortunately it is rather expensive, but well worth the investment, for it shows one what a wonderful thing this human body of ours is, just from the physical structure—indeed the most wonderfully constructed organism in all life. W. H. Hudson loved the wild, the forest, and the quiet stimulation of Nature. In one of his beautiful essays he said: "Out here in this wilderness of all places—the place to which a man might come to divest himself of himself—that second self which he has unconsciously acquired—to be like the trees and animals, outside of the sad atmosprere of human life and its eternal tragedy." What an adventure!

What do we know about our own mind? Do we go adventuring into it to find out? Its possibilities are so limitless Even the psychologist is fascinated by his adventures into the human mind. The psalmist looked into the heavens and was so amazed at its glory and unlimited scope, that he exclaimed: "What is man?" And yet, man's mind is still more wonderful because it can look into the heavens and comprehend the glory of God, who created it all.

All life may become a series of adventures—but the adventure into our own being, to think, to learn, and to spread influence, is the greatest of all adventures!

U. S. Army Men Back German Youth Work

FRANKFURT—(AP)—The majority of American officers and men in Germany believe the Army's German youth program is achieving its goal of teaching democratic principles and curbing delinquency, the Army announces.

A survey conducted by the Army showed that seven out of 10 enlisted men and six out of 10 officers thought the program would help future peace.

Forty-one percent of all officers and 24 percent of the enlisted men have participated in the youth assistance program, the announcement said.

Old Woman In Shoe Wasn't So Crowded

PEORIA, Ill.—(AP)—Desk Sergeant Bill Fitch reports a man telephoned police headquarters and told him a story that went like this:

The fellow and his wife lived in a three-room house. A daughter and her four youngsters moved in several months ago. Now, another daughter, her husband and 11 children had arrived from out of town and wanted to join the crowd. What, the harried householder asked, could he do?

The sergeant, like the old woman who lived in a shoe, didn't know what to do, either.

Woman to Woman

BY MRS. FILBERT

Friends often say to me—"If I could only learn to serve really appetizing meals." Well now, that's not such a difficult task, honestly it isn't. True, it does require a touch of thought and a pinch of effort. But who minds that! Just remember—the main thing is to always use truly good ingredients. That way you're well on the road to success. It's the number one rule I've always stuck to.

Everything sold under the Mrs. Filbert label—my margarine, my salad dressing, my mayonnaise—are made of the finest foods to be found. For nearly 30 years I've followed that rule. And I think you'll agree with the results! That fresh, delicious home-made taste speaks for itself!

Mrs. Filbert

Your family will all say "delicious!" at the first taste of Mrs. Filbert's country-fresh Margarine. So sweet, so fresh, it's wonderful on bread or rolls—coaxes out vegetables' flavors—makes fried foods crisp and digestible—turns out fluffier baked foods. Easiest to color, and nutritious, too. Every pound contains 15,000 units of Vitamin A!

You'll discover that salads, sandwiches and snacks suddenly become "super-special" when topped off with Mrs. Filbert's Salad Dressing. Made from Mrs. Filbert's own recipe with home-made care, this Salad Dressing combines a just-right flavor with an extra-smooth texture that will add to your delight.

Use it on cold food, use it on hot—you've never tasted mayonnaise like Mrs. Filbert's before! Now real lemon juice in this mayonnaise brings out your salads' best flavors. As a sauce on hot vegetables like broccoli or cauliflower, it tastes better than expensive Hollandaise!

She spoke of the voluntary total abstinence as the latest publicity of the wets and asked "have they forgotten the habit forming elements of alcohol?" She also urged an effort to have the railroads keep liquor out of the club cars and diners, and stating that 92 percent of Kentucky counties voted dry, and asked that Maryland do the same.

Speaking as county president, Mrs. Cook told of the work of her organization, which included protest meetings against the re-licensing of saloons not operating under the law; sending five young delegates to youth temperance camp and attending hearings before liquor boards as well as sending telegrams to Washington and Annapolis.

Nine posters, with special mottoes were exhibited by Mrs. Yates and are now in Frederick in the Lutheran assembly. They will be used in the "lower tri-counties" for the WCTU Institute to be held in November.

USSR Capitalizes On Chaos In China, Wedemeyer Says

BOSTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Lt. Gen Albert C. Wedemeyer said today that "unless drastic reforms, particularly in the economic field, are implemented soon, China will be drawn into the Soviet orbit in spite of the assistance that we Americans must extend."

The statement was the first indication of the nature of his report to President Truman after a six-weeks investigation in China and Korea. It was contained in a letter to Mrs. John Gardner Collidge, of the Boston Committee for United Service to China.

Wedemeyer said that China is passing through conditions of "evolution and revolution" and that the Soviet Union is capitalizing on "disorganization and chaos in the area exactly as she has done in Europe."

The General made a report on his survey to President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall upon his return to this country in mid-September and it has been one of the best kept government secrets in recent years.

Government authorities were criticized for their failure to disclose data from Wedemeyer's report by Rep. Judd (R-Minn) last night on the eve of his departure for China, Japan and Korea as a one-man subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

In Washington today, President Truman told a news conference that the Secretary of State would have something to say soon about Wedemeyer's survey.

Dr. Braid Shupe died shortly past midnight last night at his home, East Main Street, Frostburg. He was well known in the county and had operated Shupe's Drug Store on East Main Street for a number of years.

Struck Flooring Company At Hagerstown Is Closed

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 16 (AP)—The struck Colonial Hardwood Flooring Company was closed today, and William A. Danzer, president of the firm, said that "no meetings are cheduled and there won't be, and the longer the strike the longer it will be before the workers are called back."

He said the plant was being remodeled.

Approximately 90 members of Local 472, United Furniture Workers (CIO), walked out October 3 in protest against the firing of a worker, but did not establish a picket line until yesterday when the contract expired.

Danzer called the demand that the worker be reinstated a "red herring" to draw attention from other issues, and said the union had refused his offer to renew the recently expired contract.

Man, Not Woman, May Have Slain Ohio Author

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16 (AP)—Baltimore County police said today they have evidence which tends to show Charles R. Vaughn, Ohio author and boy's club leader, was beaten to death in a Washington-Baltimore boulevard tourist cabin by a man, rather than a woman.

Earlier, one of the authorities' few leads involved their search for a "stout woman" reported to have been seen with Vaughn in a restaurant shortly before his nude body, the head beaten in by a blunt instrument, was found in a tourist cabin bed late Sunday.

Police Lt. Joseph E. Sarsitis, in charge of the investigation, said a painstaking examination of the cabin disclosed no signs of the presence of a woman.

Beall Says U. S. Should Help Europe But Not With "World-Wide WPA"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Rep. Beall (R-Md.) said today the United States should "co-operate in assisting" European nations to rehabilitate themselves but said he is firmly opposed to "any international WPA."

Beall told a reporter he believes the United States "can't sit back and shut itself off from the rest of the world." He added, however, that European countries asking for help "should show they're making every effort to help themselves."

"I don't like the idea of a world-wide WPA," he said. "Everybody over the world seems to be waiting for a handout from us."

The Maryland Congressman said he was awaiting the reports from congressional committees which have been investigating conditions in Europe before making any decision on how he will vote.

He said the Marshall plan and other proposals, such as private loans to countries of Europe, "will need further careful study before we commit ourselves."

He added that attached to any future loan should be a provision requiring the recipient countries "to help themselves" and not depend solely on United States aid.

The President and the State Department should submit said proposals to Congress for consideration, Beall said, and "if any special session is necesary the Preident should call it since he has all the facts."

Beall pointed out that United States exports in connection with shipments of food and other help to Europe are closely tied up with our own price structure.

"That is one reason we should proceed slowly and cautiously," he said.

Doctors Report Isolating Polio Virus In Blood

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Three New York doctors reported today they believe they may have accomplished something which has been done only once before in all history of science—detection of infantile paralysis virus in human blood.

Dr. Charles Armstrong, of the U. S. Public Health Service here, when asked by a reporter to appraise the significance of the report, said if the scientists are able to repeat their findings in a large number of cases, it would mean that a blood test was available for detecting the presence of polio. Such a technique would be valuable in time of epidemics.

Queen Elizabeth "Lost" In Heavy New York Fog

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Queen Elizabeth knows now that London fog is consomme compared to New York's pea soup.

The world's largest liner was "lost" for several hours today when a heavy fog settled over New York City disrupting shipping and plane schedules.

Originally scheduled to dock at 8 a. m. (EST), the ship settled down two hours earlier three miles off Ambrose Light because of the dense, ghostly fog. At 7 a. m. a pilot boat was sent to guide the huge ship into port but returned and reported to quarantine she had been unable to find the huge vessel.

When the fog lifted several hours later, the tide had changed, forcing the Cunard White Star liner to delay her docking until 6:30 p. m. (EST)—10 and a half hours after her scheduled arrival.

A heavy blanket of fog shrouded most of Maryland last night, grounding air flights, halting some Chesapeake Bay traffic, and slowing automobile travel to a snail's pace in many areas.

Airline flights into Baltimore were halted when the ceiling at the Municipal Airport dropped to 200 feet.

"Close Friend" Of Slain Chicago Woman Sought

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Police of two counties searched tonight for the slayer who stabbed, slashed and beat a 35-year-old mother and stuffed her body in the trunk of her car, apparently in the presence of her 17-month-old son.

The body of Mrs. Catherine M. Wasil, mother of three children, was found yesterday in her car, parked off a highway near suburban West Chicago. Her youngest son, William, was found lying in the front seat of the car, crying from hunger but uninjuried.

Sgt. Nick Reidy, of the Chicago Homicide Detail, said that police, who are trying to trace Mrs. Wasil's movements the past two weeks, are seeking for questioning Wallace Bearden, 51, a roofer whom he described as a "close friend" of the woman.

When a reporter suggested food prices might come down if the United States exported less food, Mr. Truman said that was a piece of misinformation.

At Chicago, Richard Uhlmann, first vice president of the Board of Trade, issued a statement that during the past two weeks the government has purchased 40,000,000 bushels of wheat—more than was exported in 1932, 1933, 1934, 1936, 1940 and 1941.

"When the government buys more wheat in two weeks than it often shipped during the entire year it is bound to have its effect marketwise," he said.

He added that the grain trade "resents the careless interchange of the words "gamblers" and "speculators."

Driver's Bail Set In Hit-Run Case

A Detroit, Mich., truck driver was released on $500 bail yesterday at New Baltimore, Pa., on a charge of failing to stop after an accident at Allegheny Mountain on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Wednesday night, according to Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford.

Officers said the truck operated by the Detroit man, C. L. Parrish, 35, hit a truck driven by A. H. Shaub, Lancaster County, Pa., forced it off the road and down an embankment where it overturned.

A $4,000 corn picking machine Shaub was hauling was a total loss and his truck was damaged to the extent of $600, police said. Shaub suffered bruises and lacerations of the back.

Parrish, whose truck was damaged in the front, was arrested at New Baltimore, about five miles from the scene of the accident.

He was released on bail by Justice of the Peace Alton Carver for action of the next term of Somerset County Court.

Hines Is Returned To Kingwood Jail

Everett Hines, 21, this city, was back in the Preston County, W. Va., Jail at Kingwood yesterday after recovering from an attempt to kill himself October 6 while awaiting grand jury action later this month, according to Mrs. Hobart Spindler, wife of the Preston County sheriff.

Hines, arrested along with Orlando Wolfe, 20, Terra Alta, W. Va., during the summer months on a charge of breaking into Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tool houses, slashed his left wrist with a razor blade, Sheriff Spindler reported at the time, and was in an unconscious condition when discovered in his cell.

He was taken to Monongahela General Hospital, Morgantown, for treatment and was returned to the Kingwood jail several days ago.

The grand jury is expected to take action in his case when it convenes October 28.

"We should make it clear that we have a deep and abiding faith in the philosophy that man was meant to be free and that this concept intelligently implemented will win through against any challenge that Communism or any other totalitarian ideology can present to us."

Taft, who has been conducting a speaking campaign against the Truman administration, told newsmen he would make known after next Wednesday his decision whether to seek the presidential nomination.

The Senator said the administration was floundering in its voluntary food saving plan and continued:

"The guiding principle of any foreign policy should be to avoid the catastrophe of war unless the freedom of this country is actually threatened."

tary methods what other countries would have to do by police-state methods.

When a reporter suggested food prices might come down if the United States exported less food, Mr. Truman said that was a piece of misinformation.

At Chicago, Richard Uhlmann, first vice president of the Board of Trade, issued a statement that during the past two weeks the government has purchased 40,000,000 bushels of wheat—more than was exported in 1932, 1933, 1934, 1936, 1940 and 1941.

"When the government buys more wheat in two weeks than it often shipped during the entire year it is bound to have its effect marketwise," he said.

He added that the grain trade "resents the careless interchange of the words "gamblers" and "speculators."

"Close Friend" Of Slain Chicago Woman Sought

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Police of two counties searched tonight for the slayer who stabbed, slashed and beat a 35-year-old mother and stuffed her body in the trunk of her car, apparently in the presence of her 17-month-old son.

The body of Mrs. Catherine M. Wasil, mother of three children, was found yesterday in her car, parked off a highway near suburban West Chicago. Her youngest son, William, was found lying in the front seat of the car, crying from hunger but uninjuried.

Sgt. Nick Reidy, of the Chicago Homicide Detail, said that police, who are trying to trace Mrs. Wasil's movements the past two weeks, are seeking for questioning Wallace Bearden, 51, a roofer whom he described as a "close friend" of the woman.

Driver's Bail Set In Hit-Run Case

A Detroit, Mich., truck driver was released on $500 bail yesterday at New Baltimore, Pa., on a charge of failing to stop after an accident at Allegheny Mountain on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Wednesday night, according to Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford.

Officers said the truck operated by the Detroit man, C. L. Parrish, 35, hit a truck driven by A. H. Shaub, Lancaster County, Pa., forced it off the road and down an embankment where it overturned.

A $4,000 corn picking machine Shaub was hauling was a total loss and his truck was damaged to the extent of $600, police said. Shaub suffered bruises and lacerations of the back.

Parrish, whose truck was damaged in the front, was arrested at New Baltimore, about five miles from the scene of the accident.

He was released on bail by Justice of the Peace Alton Carver for action of the next term of Somerset County Court.

Hines Is Returned To Kingwood Jail

Everett Hines, 21, this city, was back in the Preston County, W. Va., Jail at Kingwood yesterday after recovering from an attempt to kill himself October 6 while awaiting grand jury action later this month, according to Mrs. Hobart Spindler, wife of the Preston County sheriff.

Hines, arrested along with Orlando Wolfe, 20, Terra Alta, W. Va., during the summer months on a charge of breaking into Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tool houses, slashed his left wrist with a razor blade, Sheriff Spindler reported at the time, and was in an unconscious condition when discovered in his cell.

He was taken to Monongahela General Hospital, Morgantown, for treatment and was returned to the Kingwood jail several days ago.

The grand jury is expected to take action in his case when it convenes October 28.

whether the administration is leading us to peace or war."

The former Minnesota Governor urged his listeners to make the Republican Party a party of "hope." He continued:

"We should make it clear that we have a deep and abiding faith in the philosophy that man was meant to be free and that this concept intelligently implemented will win through against any challenge that Communism or any other totalitarian ideology can present to us."

Taft, who has been conducting a speaking campaign against the Truman administration, told newsmen he would make known after next Wednesday his decision whether to seek the presidential nomination.

The Senator said the administration was floundering in its voluntary food saving plan and continued:

"The guiding principle of any foreign policy should be to avoid the catastrophe of war unless the freedom of this country is actually threatened."

Roeder Building Tavern On Top Of Wills Mountain

A large concrete building, being erected on top of Wills Mountain near Lovers' Leap, is attracting considerable comment and local interest. Last night, William P. Roeder, Maplewood Lane, local contractor and real estate developer said the building is to be a large tavern when completed.

He described the structure as being 120 feet long and 48 feet wide. He explained it is just being put under roof and there will still be a couple of rows of concrete block added to the height. The building is two stories high on the city side and a story and a half on the opposite side.

Roeder said he does not intend to operate the tavern, but plans to lease it to an out-of-town party "who knows this business thoroughly". The business cannot be opened for operation before spring as the building will not be completed before then, he added. It will be available for banquets, public functions and private dinner parties, he added.

Explaining that he has long been interested and enthused over the possibilities of a development on Wills Mountain, he said he developed a large residential section in North Cumberland, at the foot of Wills Mountain, and now hopes to develop the top. A new road has been graded and after heavy hauling is completed will be blacktopped, he declared.

Roeder said he has made arrangements with the city for both sewer and water connections and much of this installation has been made. Electricity will also be provided, he stated.

Future plans for the top of the mountain and the sides, he said call for grading of streets, laying out of lots and building a number of modern dwellings.

standing and the importance for better understanding of the women of the world. This, she suggested, could be developed if each member corresponds with one woman or more, in a foreign country, giving little intimate glimpses of the home life here and in that way educate the women of the world and counteract some of the incorrect impressions that are being instilled in their minds by subversive influences. Names for such correspondence can be secured from headquarters of the General Federation in Washington, she said.

Local Club Commended

Mrs. Whiteshurst congratulated the club on its insertion in the Year Book of the page giving "Legislative Information" and remarked about the question at the bottom of the page, "Do You Always Vote?" She said it was definitely a step forward and was going to take the news and suggestion to the board meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Washington, tomorrow. Of all the 17,000 year books that it has been her privilege to see, she said, none contained this important information.

Mrs. Arthur C. Bright presided at the meeting and introduced Mrs. Whitehurst and conducted the business session. Miss Elizabeth L. Lowndes, American Home Group chairman, made a special appeal for improved sale of the tickets for the benefit card party to be given by the group at the Elks home, October 23, at 8 o'clock. VETERANS URGED TO REINSTATE LAPSED G.I. INSURANCE

Former service men and women are urged by the Veterans Administration to pick up at least part of their lapsed G.I. Insurance even if they feel they cannot afford at present to reinstate the full amount of their policies.

"Some veterans have the mistaken idea they must repay all back premiums and reinstate the entire amount of their lapsed insurance if they want to put any of it back in effect," said W. A. Burns, officer in charge of the Cumberland VA Office. "As a matter of fact, as little as $1,000 of a policy may be reinstated and only two premiums are required."

"If a veteran wishes to increase his protection later on," Mr. Burns contined, "he can reinstate another $1,000 of his lapsed insurance, or a larger amount, as long as it is a multiple of $500. The minimum G.I. Insurance allowed is $1,000 and the maximum is $10,000."

Mr. Burns advised veterans to take advantage of the liberal reinstatement provisions now in effect and put back in force at least part of their lapsed insurance. A physical examination is not necessary in most cases if veterans act by December 31.

He pointed out that veterans who did not have G.I. insurance while in service may still take out a policy. They may get either term or permanent insurance.

Veterans reinstating lapsed term policies may convert this insurance to one of the permanent types at the same time. However, veterans have at least until October, 1948, before they have to convert their term insurance, and in most cases they have considerably longer.

VETERANS URGED TO REINSTATE LAPSED G.I. INSURANCE

Former service men and women are urged by the Veterans Administration to pick up at least part of their lapsed G.I. Insurance even if they feel they cannot afford at present to reinstate the full amount of their policies.

"Some veterans have the mistaken idea they must repay all back premiums and reinstate the entire amount of their lapsed insurance if they want to put any of it back in effect," said W. A. Burns, officer in charge of the Cumberland VA Office. "As a matter of fact, as little as $1,000 of a policy may be reinstated and only two premiums are required."

"If a veteran wishes to increase his protection later on," Mr. Burns contined, "he can reinstate another $1,000 of his lapsed insurance, or a larger amount, as long as it is a multiple of $500. The minimum G.I. Insurance allowed is $1,000 and the maximum is $10,000."

Mr. Burns advised veterans to take advantage of the liberal reinstatement provisions now in effect and put back in force at least part of their lapsed insurance. A physical examination is not necessary in most cases if veterans act by December 31.

He pointed out that veterans who did not have G.I. insurance while in service may still take out a policy. They may get either term or permanent insurance.

Veterans reinstating lapsed term policies may convert this insurance to one of the permanent types at the same time. However, veterans have at least until October, 1948, before they have to convert their term insurance, and in most cases they have considerably longer.

Five Handicapped Persons Placed In Jobs Here

Results Of National "Week" Announced

Five of six physically disabled persons referred to employers were placed in jobs during National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, October 5 to 11, Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the Maryland State Employment Service, said yesterday.

Two of the five persons placed in jobs were veterans of World War II, Carroll added.

Meanwhile, Carroll said he had been informed by Russell S. Davis, chairman of the Employment Security Board for Maryland, that job placements made by the employment service during September registered "important gains" as compared with August in a number of industrial groups, while in such seasonal activities as food processing and agriculture a significant decline was evident.

Total placements in September were approximately 5,600 as compared with 5,700 in August. However, decreases of almost 1,000 placements in food processing and agriculture were mainly offset by an increase in primary metals, transportation equipment, construction, wholesale and retail trade, and service. Included in the total were 1,750 jobs found for veterans.

After the August lull, job openings filed with the employment service reflected a resumption of hiring activities in many types of industry. During September over 7,800 openings were received by the employment service offices, an increase of 16 per cent over August.

Applicants seeking jobs through the facilities of employment service offices dropped again in September, from about 29,000 at the end of July, 25,200 at the end of August and 20,900 at the end of September.

During this past month more than half the decline was in veteran registrations, largely due to the withdrawal of veteran jobseekers to return to school.

Smoke Engineer's Application Pends

Action will be taken Monday by the Mayor and Council on the application of Robert Henderson Emerick, North Charleston, S. C., for the position of smoke abatement engineer for the City of Cumberland, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday. His appointment was recommended by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

Mayor Post said he has been informed by the Celanese Corporation of America, which secured Emerick as a possibility, that the South Charleston man is fully aware that the position is being offered by the city and not the company.

If the council decides to further consider Emerick's application, he probably will be asked to come here for an interview. Emerick has requested a salary of $6,000 yearly.

2 Oakland Men Held For Grand Jury Action

Two Oakland men, Robert W. Rizer and Joseph L. Hughes, both 30, were arraigned before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch at Oakland yesterday and placed under $500 bond each for grand jury action on charges of larceny of about $260 from the Dusic wholesale produce firm at Oakland Friday night.

Rizer and Hughes were turned over to Garrett County authorities Wednesday after the former was arrested at Scottdale, Pa., on a drunken driving charge, according to State's Attorney Walter Dawson.

The money was taken from a box used by drivers of the firm to deposit receipts at the end of each day's work.

Smoke Engineer's Application Pends

Action will be taken Monday by the Mayor and Council on the application of Robert Henderson Emerick, North Charleston, S. C., for the position of smoke abatement engineer for the City of Cumberland, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday. His appointment was recommended by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

Mayor Post said he has been informed by the Celanese Corporation of America, which secured Emerick as a possibility, that the South Charleston man is fully aware that the position is being offered by the city and not the company.

If the council decides to further consider Emerick's application, he probably will be asked to come here for an interview. Emerick has requested a salary of $6,000 yearly.

Another veteran, Frank Greco, Piedmont, who previously served three years and 11 months, also re-enlisted for three years. He asked for duty in the European Theater.

2 Oakland Men Held For Grand Jury Action

Two Oakland men, Robert W. Rizer and Joseph L. Hughes, both 30, were arraigned before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch at Oakland yesterday and placed under $500 bond each for grand jury action on charges of larceny of about $260 from the Dusic wholesale produce firm at Oakland Friday night.

Rizer and Hughes were turned over to Garrett County authorities Wednesday after the former was arrested at Scottdale, Pa., on a drunken driving charge, according to State's Attorney Walter Dawson.

The money was taken from a box used by drivers of the firm to deposit receipts at the end of each day's work.

Western Students Want To Be Gunsmiths

TRINIDAD, Colo. (AP) — Thirty states are represented by 100 students enrolled at Trinidad Junior college in what officials say is the only gunsmith class in an American institution of higher learning.

Dean O. C. Banta said more than 800 applications were received for the class.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Brazil Nuts Top Fall Desserts

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Brazil nuts can be used in a number of ways to make delicious desserts. I wonder whether you think to use them in all the ways you might.

BRAZIL NUT DEVIL'S FOOD . . . Yummy Dessert

Brazil Nut Devil's Food

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup white sugar
1½ cups brown sugar
4 egg yolks
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon soda
¼ cup sour milk or buttermilk
1½ cups ground Brazil nuts
4 ounces chocolate
2 egg whites

Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming well. Add egg yolks and beat well. Add flour, sifted with baking powder and soda, alternately with the milk. Stir in ground Brazil nuts and melted chocolate. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour batter into three greased eight-inch layer cake pans and bake 30 to 40 mins. in a moderate oven (350°). Frost with Brazil Seven Minute Frosting.

Brazil Seven Minute Frosting

2 egg whites
1½ cups sugar
5 tablespoons water
1½ teaspoons corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup ground Brazil nuts
Whole Brazil nuts

Put egg whites, sugar, water and corn syrup in upper part of double boiler. Beat with a rotary egg beater until sugar is dissolved. Place over boiling water, beating constantly with egg beaters, and cook 7 mins., or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from heat. Add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread. Frost each layer, sprinkle first two layers with ground Brazil nuts, put layers together and decorate top layer with whole Brazil nuts.

Brazil Nut Crumb Pudding

½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
⅔ cup sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup chopped Brazil nuts
5 cups sliced tart apples (2 pounds)
¾ cup water

Combine flour, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and sugar. Cut in butter with pastry blender until the mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Mix in the Brazil nuts. Place apples in two quart casserole. Add water. Spread the sugar-nut mixture evenly over the apples. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350°) 30 mins. Uncover and cook 30 mins. longer. Serve hot or cold.

Brazil Nut and Fruit Sweets

¾ cup Brazil nuts
½ cup raisins
½ cup apricots
½ cup pitted dates
¾ cup cocoanut

Put enough of the Brazil nuts through food chopper to measure ⅓ cup. Reserve to roll mixture in. Put remaining nuts through chopper with raisins, apricots, dates and cocoanut. Mix until well blended. Form into 1-inch balls. Roll in remaining ⅓ cup of Brazil nuts.

Scouting For Pigs

LONDON (AP) — Tight rations of feed for pigs and poultry brought an appeal from the British Ministry of Agriculture for Boy Scouts and Girl Guides (Girl Scouts) to gather acorns and beechnuts as supplementary foods.

Large Thighs

Stand astride. Raise your arms gracefully to shoulder level with elbows flexed. Swing weight of the body to the right leg, bending knee slightly. Repeat this movement first to one side and then to the other, permitting your arms gracefully to accent each swing to the right and to the left.

Too Much Omelet

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Somebody with a strange sense of malice smashed 18 crates of eggs in the parked truck of Andrew Tocco of Harley, Ill. Tocco said nothing else on the truck was molested.

The tri-state district's two oldest football rivals—Keyser and Allegany —will come to grips tonight in the Fort Hill stadium at 8 o'clock.

Allegany will be striving to break a two-game losing streak while Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Mineral County eleven, will be battling to stay above the .500 mark in trying to prevent a clean sweep for Cumberland elevens this season. In previous visits here the Golden Tornado was blanked by LaSalle (6-0) and swamped by Fort Hill (40-7).

Tonight's game will be the 24th between the schools since 1921. The Blue and White has won 17, Keyser and one game ended in a tie. Last all the proteges of Coach Clark, who happens to be a graduate of Allegany, hung it on the Campers to the tune of 19 to 13.

It will be the 7th game on the busy Keyser team's schedule. The Clarkmen have won three and lost like number. Allegany is having a poor season and has won only one of four games played to date.

Sentinels At Grafton

Fort Hill's Sentinels will invade Grafton, W. Va., tonight to play Ivan McKinney's Grafton High School Bearcats at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Bill Hahn's Sentinels will be angling for their fifth straight triumph.

With the exception of Donald Decker, who suffered an infected ear in the Martinsburg game, all of the Fort Hill players are in the proverbial pink of condition, according to Coach Hahn.

A large delegation of Fort Hill rooters will make the trip by train and special bus and the band will leave at noon by B. & O. train.

Clash Here Saturday

LaSalle High School swings into action on Saturday night when it meets Coach Bruce M. Fisher's Bedford (Pa.) Bisons at 8 o'clock in the local stadium.

Bedford will be playing a Cumberland team for the 6th time since 1936.

Allegany defeated the Bisons in 1936 and 1937 by the score of 20-0. Fort Hill won in 1939 by the score of 13-0. The LaSalle-Bedford series opened in 1945 and the Buffaloes have won the first two games, 33-0 and 40-13.

Beall High School's gridders invade Meyersdale, Pa., for a Saturday game while Potomac State meets Davis and Elkins College in homecoming game at Keyser tomorrow afternoon.

Ingram Denies Colts' Protest

Makes Decision After Studying Game Movies

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commissioner of the All-America Football Conference, today denied the protest of the Baltimore Colts arising from last Sunday's 20-15 defeat by the Buffalo Bills in a professional game at Buffalo.

Ingram said his decision was reached after a four-day investigation which included a thorough study of both teams' movies of the game, lengthy discussions with the three game officials and a consultation with President Robert R. Rodenberg and Coach Cecil Isbell of the Baltimore club.

The protest was lodged by Rodenberg on the grounds that Lamar Davis scored for Baltimore on the final play of the game but was ruled out of bounds by Field Judge Eddie Tryon and that time ran out after he was ruled out of bounds.

Rodenberg, who claimed the Colts would have had another play, also protested an unnecessary roughness penalty against his team in the last quarter and contended that Chet Mutryn, Buffalo back, did not actually cross the goal line on a play which was ruled a touchdown for Buffalo.

Buchanan Is Winner

Scotty Prain Injured

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 16 (AP)—Jockey William "Scotty" Prain was taken to a hospital to be examined for possible fractures of the shoulder or collarbone when the stirrup iron on Smiling Lass, his mount in the Columbia Purse, sixth and feature race here today, broke as the mare was being rolled up after the finish.

MEET THE COACH

By JACK SORDS

SURPRISE showing of the Purdue Boilermakers this year (they beat Ohio State and held Notre Dame to a very respectable margin) is due in large measure to the fine coaching of Stuart K. (Stu) Holcomb, new head coach at Purdue.

A star back at Ohio State in the days Wesley Fesler was making the All-American teams as an end for the Bucks, Holcomb launched his coaching career at Findlay, O., College in 1932. Later he coached Muskingum, Washington and Jefferson and Miami of Ohio before going to the Army as assistant coach.

Holcomb is a native of Lincoln, Neb. The family moved to Erie, Pa., and that is where he went to school. He was an outstanding high school star in four major sports at Erie Central high.

Chris Wagner Is Farmed To Dukes By Baltimore

Starred In College Locals Drill Sunday

One of the newcomers who will bear watching when the Cumberland Dukes of the All-American Basketball League open their season in mid-November is a young six-foot sharpshooter from Connellsville, Pa.

Chris Wagner is being sent to the Dukes on a signed contract of the Baltimore Bullets, according to Bob Whip, business manager of the Dukes, and Coach Buddy Jeannette of the Baltimore team is reported to be enthusiatic in his praise of the Coke town lad who was a sensation at Westminster College last season.

Jeannette is certain that after a year of seasoning in the pro game with the local cagers he will graduate to the Bullets' Basketball Association of America team next season.

The Dukes will start practice under Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh on Sunday, October 19 at the state armory. A squad of approximately 25 men is expected to answer the first call.

The Dukes will play three or four exhibition games at home previous to the opening league tussle in the All-American Pro League. A total home schedule of 24 games is anticipated, 20 on Sunday afternoon and four on Friday night.

Early bookings include the famous New York Rens, who were acclaimed the best team to appear here last season. The Rens are reported to be more powerful than last year since adding Dolly King and Pop Gates to their roster. King and Gates returned to their "first love" after playing in the National League for several seasons.

Other topnotch teams expected to pay an early visit to the Queen City are the Canton Terriers, featuring Jackie Robinson; the Kansas City Stars with Jesse Owens; Moline (Ill.) Blackhawks of the National League, who are handled by Nat Hickey, the ex-Cleveland Rosenblums and Celtics star, featuring Gene Hasson, former Notre Dame flash.

Sunday's opening practice is set for 2:30 p. m.

Rip Sewell Released, To Get Coaching Job

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (AP)—Truett (Rip) Sewell, veteran right-hand flinger released as a player by the Pittsburgh Pirates, will be assigned coaching duties with the Bucs, the club announced today.

A 21-game winner in 1944 and 1945, the 39-year-old pitcher may be restored to the active player list if his aging flipper responds in spring training, the club added.

Yanks Lose Schleich

FIRES CAUSE DEWEY TO SUSPEND HUNTING SEASON IN NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—Governor Dewey today ordered the drought-dry Adirondack forest closed to the public at midnight tomorrow and temporarily suspended the hunting seasons to prevent further fires, which already have broken out in 25 places.

Dewey, acting four days before the month-long Adirondack deer hunting season was scheduled to open, urged the conservation department to extend all open seasons beyond normal closing by the number of days lost through the ban.

Deaf Eleven Ties Ft. Hill Reserves

Romney Eleven Holds Locals To 7-7 Score

Fort Hill High School's Reserves and the West Virginia School for the Deaf battled to a 7-7 tie in a return game played yesterday afternoon in Romney, W. Va.

Fort Hill won the opener here by the score of 20-13.

Both touchdowns were scored in the second period. Winter returned a punt 60 yards for the Romney team's six-pointer and plunged the extra point.

A pass play executed by Ronnie Cage and Charles Wagley was good for 20 yards and Fort Hill's touchdown. Elmo Nixon passed to Wagley for the extra point.

The Cumberland eleven, directed by Bob Bigler, reeled off 11 first downs to Romney six. The Sentinels completed 4 out of 9 passes and racked up 235 yards rushing. The Silents completed one out of three passes and gained 115 yards on the ground.

Pat Goss, James Judd and Cage were outstanding in Fort Hill's backfield while Pat Murphy, Michael Pratt and Jack Holliday played best on the line.

Horsemen Refuse To Sign Contract With AFL Union

Strike At Jamaica Remains Unsettled

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—The strike of grooms and exercise riders for higher pay and a union shop which has hampered racing at Jamaica the past two days reached an apparent impasse this afternoon when owners and trainers voted emphatically to sign no contract with the employes.

The strike had no appreciable effect on today's program, although the crowd of 20,051 which wagered a total of $1,647,773 on the seven-race card went thirsty as the plant's bartenders declined to pass the picket line.

Long shot players had their inning early on the program when Mayes Riley took the opening race and returned $99.70 for $2.

At the end of the day's sport, owners and trainers crowded into the administration building, where they shouted their decision not to enter into any contract with the AFL Teamsters Union, bargaining agent for the grooms and exercise boys.

Trainers and owners established a shuttle service today with a dozen private vans to get their horses to Jamaica from neighboring barns at Belmont and Aqueduct. There were only two scratches on the program as compared to 20 yesterday, when union teamsters refused to transport the animals.

Battle Of Lines Expected To Mark D. & E.-Cats' Game

Potomac Homecoming Is Set For Tomorrow

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 16.—The Potomac State Catamounts are hard hard at work preparing for the Davis and Elkins homecoming tilt Saturday afternoon. Coach Dana Lough put his charges through a grueling scrimmage Wednesday and followed through with more contact work this evening. Scrimmage has been conducted against a team running some of Davis and Elkin's known plays.

Fans of this section probable will be treated to a professional type of football, as the Elkins team has acquired "Red" Brown, a former Chicago Bear, to assume coaching duties this year. Brown will be remembered by area fans as assistant to Coach Lee Patton of West Virginia's famous Mountaineer basketball team of this past season.

The Senators have a strong, fast line and a bevy of versatile backs headed by Chick Varner, a classy scat-back. The D. and E. team works from the "T", a spread formation, and a punt formation.

Line play probably will feature this year's tussle as it did in last year's. Both forward walls are large, strong, fast, and aggressive. The '46 tilt was one of the Cats toughest all season. The lines waged a grim battle until the closing minutes when Mike Yewcic hit fleet Jack Dorsey with a long aerial down to the D. and E. 12 yard line. From there Yewcic hit towering Ed Burns with the game winning toss.

Coach Lough is banking heavily on John Peters and Charles Ruyak, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania's contribution to the Catamount squad, in the coming tilt. Peters, who is in his second year on the squad, plays the blocking back post; the same position he played on last year's edition. The Cat mentor has been well pleased with Peters' effective blocking and line plunging.

Ruyak did not enter school until the second semester last year, and this is his initial season on the Catamount squad. He alternates at the tail-spot with Joe Stanislawcyk. A power driving plunger, he has proved to be more than an adequate replacement for the continually injured Stanislawcyk. Both Peters and Ruyak played the fullback slot in high school at Bethlehem.

The kick-off is scheduled for 2 p. m. Saturday, at Stayman field.

Mt. St. Mary's Opens Three-Game Football Schedule Tomorrow

EMMITSBURG, Md., Oct. 16 (AP)—Mount St. Mary's makes its belated start in Maryland college football parade by traveling to Pennsylvania to play Lebanon Valley on Saturday.

Just as last year, the Mountaineers are playing on abbreviated schedule of three games. Things are expected to be different next season when Steve Filipowicz, the new coach, is expected to be ready for a full-time schedule.

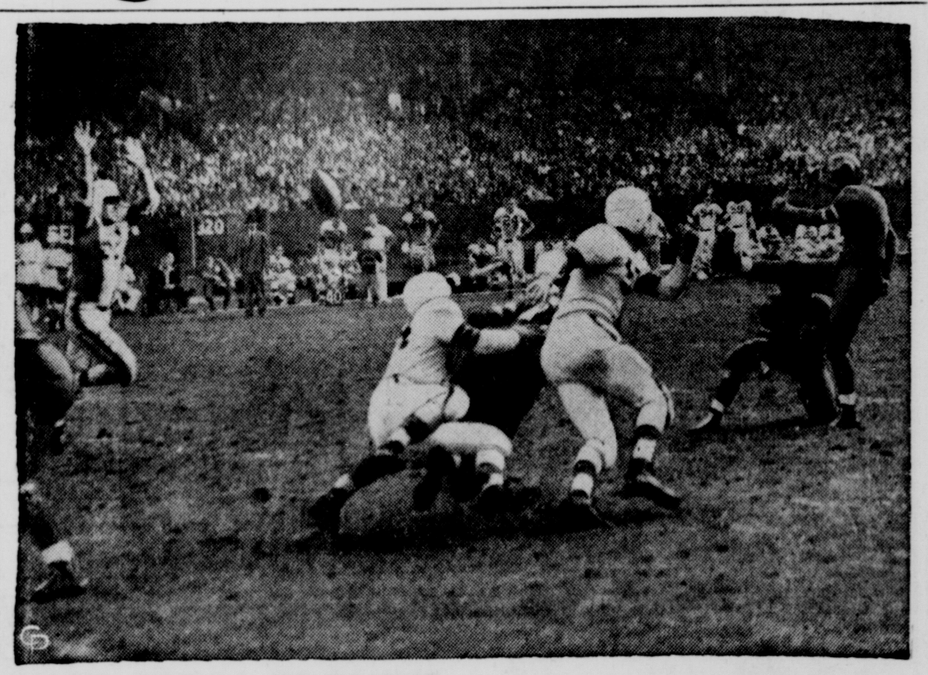
The backfield will be filled out with George Cohee, Robert O'Neill and Francis Collins. Lawrence Trout, a freshman from Chester, Pa., will snap the ball with Richard Hinchey and Edward Quarry on the flanks.



KICK STOPS BROWNS—After failing to make good his field goal attempt on fourth down in the final quarter of the Cleveland Browns-Los Angeles Dons' game in Cleveland, Ben Agajanian, Dons' place-kicking star, was given another chance when Cleveland was penalized on the play for having 12 men on the field. This is the second chance, from the 23-yard line, and the kick was good, giving the Dons a 13-10 upset decision over the previously unbeaten Browns. The Cleveland player trying to block the place-kick (left) is End George Young. Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland (with hat) stands on sidelines.

Georgia Tackle Fired By Coach

George Is Dismissed For Rules Infraction

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 16 (AP)—Coach Wallace Butts of the University of Georgia abruptly fired Tackle Carl George from the Bulldog football squad today, sports writer F. M. Williams of the Atlanta Constitution reported.

Williams, en route to Stillwater, Okla., for Saturday's game with the Oklahoma A&M team, said Butts dismissed George, the team's starting tackle, while the squad was waiting to take off by plane for an "infraction of rules."

At the same time, Williams said, Butts announced two more members of the squad had been told to give up football, but neither was ordered off athletic scholarship and both will be permitted to finish their education. These two members were identified by Williams as Fullback Sonny Lloyd of Blytheville, Ark., and Joe Chesna, end, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Butts was quoted by Williams as saying the reason for George's dismissal from the squad was a rule infraction of such a nature that "it was either let him go or leave myself."

As for Lloyd and Chesna, Williams reported Butts said, "neither one of these boys were helping us because they just don't have the ability. There's nothing wrong with their spirit, but we've reached the place where we've got to eliminate those who we don't think will ever help us at Georgia."

Lanier Rues Day He Jumped Majors

Max Wants To Pitch For St. Louis Again

DENTON, N. C., Oct. 16 (AP)—Max Lanier, owner of what's potentially one of the best southpaw pitching arms in the National League, rues that day in 1946 when he leaped before he looked from the St. Louis Cardinals into the fabulous Mexican League.

"I want to pitch for the Cardinals again," said the big lefthander who has been grounded for five years in American organized baseball for jumping for the blandishments of Mexican pesos and broad promises of the Pasquel Brothers.

Lanier told his story and his ambitions to a fellow townsman, Furman Bisher, sports writer for the Charlotte News.

"As soon as this five-year business is over, or maybe sooner, I want to go back to St. Louis to pitch again, he said. "That's my one big desire now. Financially, I did all right. I made more by going to Mexico than I would in five years at St. Louis. They wouldn't have raised my pay if I'd stayed on the team."

"Big Quail, That Is"

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 16 — The manner in which the undefeated Maryland football team, which faces unbeaten Duke in Duke stadium Saturday, bursts into action from their "T" formation has been well-described by one sports writer. He said, after seeing the Old Liners for the first time, "They go into action like the flush of a covey of quail—big quail, that is."

Unassisted Triple Play

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Bill Culbert, formerly of Tower City, Pa., recently completed a triple play unassisted. Captain of the Sydney, New South Wales, Yankees, Culbert caught a line drive, stepped on third base for the second out and tagged the runner coming from second. The Sydney team is comprised of former United States GI's who have settled here.

Muhlenberg's Mules Play Temple Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—Harold (Bill) Bell, one of the nation's leading passers, and his playmates from little Muhlenberg College go knocking on the door of big time football tomorrow night in a tangle with Temple University.

Outweighed 20 pounds in the line, the Little Mules of Allentown, Pa., nevertheless enter the game a favorite, largely on Bell's passing arm.

The stocky Parkersburg (W. Va.) quarterback has completed 16 of 22 passes for an average of 73 percent. In three undefeated games he has chucked for a net gain of 465 yards, or 29 yards per toss as the Mules overwhelmed Lafayette, Albright and Swarthmore.

Carver Gridders And Charles Town Meet Here Today

Community Park Game Will Start At 2 P. M.

Carver High School's six-man football team will play its first game of the setson at home today when it meets Page Jackson High School of Charles Town, W. Va., at Community Park at 2 p. m.

The Carver team lost its initial game of the 1947 campaign to Ramer Memorial High School last Friday at Martinsburg, W. Va., by the score of 25 to 6.

Frederick Wheeler, Carver's best running back, who suffered a broken ankle in the second quarter of last Friday's game, returned home yesterday from the Martinsburg hospital. He will be replaced by Russell Banks or Milton White in today's contest.

Other games on the Carver schedule include a return contest with Ramer Memorial High Friday, October 24, at Community Park, and Page Jackson High at Charles Town, November 7.

Ortega Stops Ortiz, Seeks Title Match

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 16—Manny Ortega sought a return match with the title at stake today after scoring a technical knockout over world's bantamweight champion Manuel Ortiz last night in a non-title bout.

Boxing fans saw at least two obstacles to such a development, however. There was a question whether Ortega, an El Paso boy, could make the 118-pound weight limit.

Also in doubt was whether another match with the El Centro, Calif., fighter's title up would draw. Recepits last night were $9,328.50, or $5,000 less than Promoter Dick Griffin anticipated.

The tri-state district's two oldest football rivals—Keyser and Allegany—will come to grips tonight in the Fort Hill stadium at 8 o'clock.

Allegany will be striving to break a two-game losing streak while Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Mineral County eleven, will be battling to stay above the .500 mark in trying to prevent a clean sweep for Cumberland elevens this season. In previous visits here the Golden Tornado was blanked by LaSalle (6-0) and swamped by Fort Hill (40-7).

Tonight's game will be the 24th between the schools since 1921. The Blue and White has won 17, Keyser and one game ended in a tie. Last all the proteges of Coach Clark, who happens to be a graduate of Allegany, hung it on the Campers to the tune of 19 to 13.

It will be the 7th game on the busy Keyser team's schedule. The Parkmen have won three and lost like number. Allegany is having a poor season and has won only one of four games played to date.

Sentinels At Grafton

Fort Hill's Sentinels will invade Grafton, W. Va., tonight to play Dan McKinney's Grafton High School Bearcats at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Bill Hahn's Sentinels will be angling for their fifth straight triumph.

With the exception of Donald Decker, who suffered an infected ear in the Martinsburg game, all of the Fort Hill players are in the proverbial pink of condition, according to Coach Hahn.

A large delegation of Fort Hill rooters will make the trip by train and special bus and the band will leave at noon by B. & O. train.

Clash Here Saturday

LaSalle High School swings into action on Saturday night when it meets Coach Bruce M. Fisher's Bedford (Pa.) Bisons at 8 o'clock in the local stadium.

Bedford will be playing a Cumberland team for the 6th time since 1936.

Allegany defeated the Bisons in 1936 and 1937 by the score of 20-0. Fort Hill won in 1939 by the score of 13-0. The LaSalle-Bedford series opened in 1945 and the Buffaloes have won the first two games, 33-0 and 40-13.

Beall High School's gridders invade Meyersdale, Pa., for a Saturday game while Potomac State meets Davis and Elkins College in a homecoming game at Keyser tomorrow afternoon.

MEET THE COACH

STUART HOLCOMB
HEAD COACH OF THE PURDUE BOILERMAKERS

By JACK SORDS

SURPRISE showing of the Purdue Boilermakers this year (they beat Ohio State and held Notre Dame to a very respectable margin) is due in large measure to the fine coaching of Stuart K. (Stu) Holcomb, new head coach at Purdue.

A star back at Ohio State in the days Wesley Fesler was making the All-American teams as an end for the Bucks, Holcomb launched his coaching career at Findlay, O., College in 1932. Later he coached Muskingum, Washington and Jefferson and Miami of Ohio before going to the Army as assistant coach.

Holcomb is a native of Lincoln, Neb. The family moved to Erie, Pa., and that is where he went to school. He was an outstanding high school star in four major sports at Erie Central high.

Horsemen Refuse To Sign Contract With AFL Union

Strike At Jamaica Remains Unsettled

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—The strike of grooms and exercise riders for higher pay and a union shop which has hampered racing at Jamaica the past two days reached an apparent impasse this afternoon when owners and trainers voted emphatically to sign no contract with the employes.

The strike had no appreciable effect on today's program, although the crowd of 20,051 which wagered a total of $1,647,773 on the seven-race card went thirsty as the plant's bartenders declined to pass the picket line.

Long shot players had their inning early on the program when Mayes Riley took the opening race and returned $99.70 for $2.

At the end of the day's sport, owners and trainers crowded into the administration building, where they shouted their decision not to enter into any contract with the AFL Teamsters Union, bargaining agent for the grooms and exercise boys.

Trainers and owners established a shuttle service today with a dozen private vans to get their horses to Jamaica from neighboring barns at Belmont and Aqueduct. There were only two scratches on the program as compared to 20 yesterday, when union teamsters refused to transport the animals.

KICK STOPS BROWNS—After failing to make good his field goal attempt on fourth down in the final quarter of the Cleveland Browns-Los Angeles Dons' game in Cleveland, Ben Agajanian, Dons' place-kicking star, was given another chance when Cleveland was penalized on the play for having 12 men on the field. This is the second chance, from the 23-yard line, and the kick was good, giving the Dons a 13-10 upset decision over the previously unbeaten Browns. The Cleveland player trying to block the place-kick (left) is End George Young. Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland (with hat) stands on sidelines.

The unbeaten Hawks and the conference champions of 1946 will clash on the Ridgeley High School Field at 3:30 p. m. before what gives promise of being the largest crowd of the season across the Potomac. Ridgeley will be angling for its 8th consecutive triumph over two seasons. Last year Riggleman's surprise team closed with a winning streak of four games, defeating Romney, Parsons, Franklin and Petersburg after holding Fort Hill to a scoreless tie. The Hawks have won five straight in the conference, their last defeat having been at the hands of Moorefield (18-6) in the 4th game of the 1946 campaign.

Moorefield and Ridgeley will be tangling for the 12th time on the gridiron. The Mineral countians hold a 5-4 edge in wins. Two games ended in ties.

Two other conference games are on tap for this afternoon.

Chris Wagner Is Farmed To Dukes By Baltimore

Starred In College Locals Drill Sunday

One of the newcomers who will bear watching when the Cumberland Dukes of the All-American Basketball League open their season in mid-November is a young six-foot sharpshooter from Connellsville, Pa.

Chris Wagner is being sent to the Dukes on a signed contract of the Baltimore Bullets, according to Bob Whip, business manager of the Dukes, and Coach Buddy Jeannette of the Baltimore team is reported to be enthusiatic in his praise of the Coke town lad who was a sensation at Westminster College last season.

Jeannette is certain that after a year of seasoning in the pro game with the local cagers he will graduate to the Bullets' Basketball Association of America team next season.

The Dukes will start practice under Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh on Sunday, October 19 at the state armory. A squad of approximately 25 men is expected to answer the first call.

The Dukes will play three or four exhibition games at home previous to the opening league tussle in the All-American Pro League. A total home schedule of 24 games is anticipated, 20 on Sunday afternoon and four on Friday night.

Early bookings include the famous New York Rens, who were acclaimed the best team to appear here last season. The Rens are reported to be more powerful than last year since adding Dolly King and Pop Gates to their roster. King and Gates returned to their "first love" after playing in the National League for several seasons.

Other topnotch teams expected to pay an early visit to the Queen City are the Canton Terriers, featuring Jackie Robinson; the Kansas City Stars with Jesse Owens; Moline (Ill.) Blackhawks of the National League, who are handled by Nat Hickey, the ex-Cleveland Rosenblums and Celtics star, featuring Gene Hasson, former Notre Dame flash.

Sunday's opening practice is set for 2:30 p. m.

FIRES CAUSE DEWEY TO SUSPEND HUNTING SEASON IN NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—Governor Dewey today ordered the drought-dry Adirondack forest closed to the public at midnight tomorrow and temporarily suspended the hunting seasons to prevent further fires, which already have broken out in 25 places.

Dewey, acting four days before the month-long Adirondack deer hunting season was scheduled to open, urged the conservation department to extend all open seasons beyond normal closing by the number of days lost through the ban.

Deaf Eleven Ties Ft. Hill Reserves

Romney Eleven Holds Locals To 7-7 Score

Fort Hill High School's Reserves and the West Virginia School for the Deaf battled to a 7-7 tie in a return game played yesterday afternoon in Romney, W. Va.

Fort Hill won the opener here by the score of 20-13.

Both touchdowns were scored in the second period. Winter returned a punt 60 yards for the Romney team's six-pointer and plunged the extra point.

A pass play executed by Ronnie Cage and Charles Wagley was good for 20 yards and Fort Hill's touchdown. Elmo Nixon passed to Wagley for the extra point.

The Cumberland eleven, directed by Bob Bigler, reeled off 11 first downs to Romney six. The Sentinels completed 4 out of 9 passes and racked up 295 yards rushing. The Silents completed one out of three passes and gained 115 yards on the ground.

Pat Goss, James Judd and Cage were outstanding in Fort Hill's backfield while Pat Murphy, Michael Pratt and Jack Holliday played best on the line.

Battle Of Lines Expected To Mark D. & E.-Cats' Game

Potomac Homecoming Is Set For Tomorrow

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 16.—The Potomac State Catamounts are hard hard at work preparing for the Davis and Elkins homecoming tilt Saturday afternoon. Coach Dana Lough put his charges through a grueling scrimmage Wednesday and followed through with more contact work this evening. Scrimmage has been conducted against a team running some of Davis and Elkin's known plays.

Fans of this section probable will be treated to a professional type of football, as the Elkins team has acquired "Red" Brown, a former Chicago Bear, to assume coaching duties this year. Brown will be remembered by area fans as assistant to Coach Lee Patton of West Virginia's famous Mountaineer basketball team of this past season.

The Senators have a strong, fast line and a bevy of versatile backs headed by Chick Varner, a classy scat-back. The D. and E. team works from the "T", a spread formation, and a punt formation.

Line play probably will feature this year's tussle as it did in last year's. Both forward walls are large, strong, fast, and aggressive. The '46 tilt was one of the Cats toughest all season. The lines waged a grim battle until the closing minutes when Mike Yewcic hit fleet Jack Dorsey with a long aerial down to the D. and E. 12 yard line. From there Yewcic hit towering Ed Burns with the game winning toss.

Coach Lough is banking heavily on John Peters and Charles Ruyak, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania's contribution to the Catamount squad, in the coming tilt. Peters, who is in his second year on the squad, plays the blocking back post; the same position he played on last year's edition. The Cat mentor has been well pleased with Peters' effective blocking and line plunging.

Ruyak did not enter school until the second semester last year, and this is his initial season on the Catamount squad. He alternates at the tail-spot with Joe Stanislawcyk. A power driving plunger, he has proved to be more than an adequate replacement for the continually injured Stanislawcyk. Both Peters and Ruyak played the fullback slot in high school at Bethlehem.

The kick-off is scheduled for 2 p. m. Saturday, at Stayman field.

Mt. St. Mary's Opens Three-Game Football Schedule Tomorrow

EMMITSBURG, Md., Oct. 16 (AP)—Mount St. Mary's makes its belated start in Maryland college football parade by traveling to Pennsylvania to play Lebanon Valley on Saturday.

Just as last year, the Mountaineers are playing on abbreviated schedule of three games. Things are expected to be different next season when Steve Filipowicz, the new coach, is expected to be ready for a full-time schedule.

Filipowicz is building his team entirely from sophomores and freshmen. Of the 12 holdovers from last year, only Dick Golden at quarterback, guards Jim McAndrews and Ernie Brown and tackles Tony Natale and Jim Delaney are likely starters.

Georgia Tackle Fired By Coach

George Is Dismissed For Rules Infraction

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 16 (AP)—Coach Wallace Butts of the University of Georgia abruptly fired Tackle Carl George from the Bulldog football squad today, sports writer F. M. Williams of the Atlanta Constitution reported.

Williams, en route to Stillwater, Okla., for Saturday's game with the Oklahoma A&M team, said Butts dismissed George, the team's starting tackle, while the squad was waiting to take off by plane for an "infraction of rules."

At the same time, Williams said, Butts announced two more members of the squad had been told to give up football, but neither was ordered off athletic scholarship and both will be permitted to finish their education. These two members were identified by Williams as Fullback Sonny Lloyd of Blytheville, Ark., and Joe Chesna, end, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Butts was quoted by Williams as saying the reason for George's dismissal from the squad was a rule infraction of such a nature that "it was either let him go or leave myself."

As for Lloyd and Chesna, Williams reported Butts said, "neither one of these boys were helping us because they just don't have the ability. There's nothing wrong with their spirit, but we've reached the place where we've got to eliminate those who we don't think will ever help us at Georgia."

Lanier Rues Day He Jumped Majors

Max Wants To Pitch For St. Louis Again

DENTON, N. C., Oct. 16 (AP)—Max Lanier, owner of what's potentially one of the best southpaw pitching arms in the National League, rues that day in 1946 when he leaped before he looked from the St. Louis Cardinals into the fabulous Mexican League.

"I want to pitch for the Cardinals again," said the big lefthander who has been grounded for five years in American organized baseball for jumping for the blandishments of Mexican pesos and broad promises of the Pasquel Brothers.

Lanier told his story and his ambitions to a fellow townsman, Furman Bisher, sports writer for the Charlotte News.

"As soon as this five-year business is over, or maybe sooner, I want to go back to St. Louis to pitch again, he said. "That's my one big desire now. Financially, I did all right. I made more by going to Mexico than I would in five years at St. Louis. They wouldn't have raised my pay if I'd stayed on the team."

"Big Quail, That Is"

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 16 — The manner in which the undefeated Maryland football team, which faces unbeaten Duke in Duke stadium Saturday, bursts into action from their "T" formation has been well-described by one sports writer. He said, after seeing the Old Liners for the first time, "They go into action like the flush of a covey of quail—big quail, that is."

Unassisted Triple Play

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Bill Culbert, formerly of Tower City, Pa., recently completed a triple play unassisted. Captain of the Sydney, New South Wales, Yankees, Culbert caught a line drive, stepped on third base for the second out and tagged the runner coming from second. The Sydney team is comprised of former United States GI's who have settled here.

Muhlenberg's Mules Play Temple Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—Harold (Bill) Bell, one of the nation's leading passers, and his playmates from little Muhlenberg College go knocking on the door of big time football tomorrow night in a tangle with Temple University.

Outweighed 20 pounds in the line, the Little Mules of Allentown, Pa., nevertheless enter the game a favorite, largely on Bell's passing arm.

The stocky Parkersburg (W. Va.) quarterback has completed 16 of 22 passes for an average of 73 percent. In three undefeated games he has chucked for a net gain of 465 yards, or 29 yards per toss as the Mules overwhelmed Lafayette, Albright and Swarthmore.

The Carver team lost its initial game of the 1947 campaign to Ramer Memorial High School last Friday at Martinsburg, W. Va., by the score of 25 to 6.

Frederick Wheeler, Carver's best running back, who suffered a broken ankle in the second quarter of last Friday's game, returned home yesterday from the Martinsburg hospital. He will be replaced by Russell Banks or Milton White in today's contest.

Other games on the Carver schedule include a return contest with Ramer Memorial High Friday, October 24, at Community Park, and Page Jackson High at Charles Town, November 7.

Ortega Stops Ortiz, Seeks Title Match

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 16—Manny Ortega sought a return match with the title at stake today after scoring a technical knockout over world's bantamweight champion Manuel Ortiz last night in a non-title bout.

Boxing fans saw at least two obstacles to such a development, however. There was a question whether Ortega, an El Paso boy, could make the 118-pound weight limit.

Also in doubt was whether another match with the El Centro, Calif., fighter's title up would draw. Receipts last night were $9,328.50, or $5,000 less than Promoter Dick Griffin anticipated.

Ingram Denies Colts' Protest

Makes Decision After Studying Game Movies

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commissioner of the All-America Football Conference, today denied the protest of the Baltimore Colts arising from last Sunday's 20-15 defeat by the Buffalo Bills in a professional game at Buffalo.

Ingram said his decision was reached after a four-day investigation which included a thorough study of both teams' movies of the game, lengthy discussions with the game officials and a consultation with President Robert R. Rodenberg and Coach Cecil Isbell of the Baltimore club.

The protest was lodged by Rodenberg on the grounds that Lamar Davis scored for Baltimore on the final play of the game but was ruled out of bounds by Field Judge Eddie Lyon and that time ran out after it was ruled out of bounds.

Rodenberg, who claimed the Colts should have had another play, also protested an unnecessary roughness penalty against his team in the last quarter and contended that Chet Mutryn, Buffalo back, did not actually cross the goal line on a play which was ruled a touchdown for Buffalo.

Buchanan Is Winner

Scotty Prain Injured

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 16 (AP)—Jockey William "Scotty" Prain was taken to a hospital to be examined for possible fractures of the shoulder or collarbone when the stirrup iron on Smiling Lass, his mount in the Columbia Purse, sixth and feature race here today, broke as the mare was being pulled up after the finish.

Rip Sewell Released, To Get Coaching Job

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (AP)—Truett (Rip) Sewell, veteran right-hand flinger released as a player by the Pittsburgh Pirates, will be assigned coaching duties with the Bucs, the club announced today.

A 21-game winner in 1944 and 1945, the 39-year-old pitcher may be restored to the active player list if his aging flipper responds in spring training, the club added.

Yanks Lose Schleich

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Vic Schleich, young tackle on the New York Yankee pro football team, suffered the fracture of two fingers on his left hand in a scrimmage today and will be lost to the club for approximately three weeks.

Schleich, who played on Nebraska's Rose Bowl team, banged the fingers against the head of Halfback Joe Sweiger in the drill.

Pol Perritt, Former Giants' Pitcher, Dies

SHREVEPORT, Oct. 16 (AP)—William D. (Pol) Perritt, 55, former pitcher for the New York Giants of the National League, died here last night.

Perritt had been known lately as a Louisiana oil operator. He pitched for the Giants under the management of the late John J. McGraw.

Boxer Suspended

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 16 (AP)—Commissioner William J. Prince of Connecticut's athletic commission today announced the suspension of Paul Thornberry of Albany, N. Y., a boxer, "for not giving his best efforts at Hartford on Oct. 14."

Prince said Thornberry's purse was withheld.

National Apple Week Will Be Observed In Hampshire County

Growers Sponsor Essay Contest

By THOMAS WILLIAMS

ROMNEY, W. Va.—Mayor Blair M. Haines, upon the request of Dave Vaulkin, chairman of Hampshire County National Apple Week Committee, has issued a proclamation that Romney will observe National Apple Week, Oct. 25 to Nov. 1, inclusive.

The 1947 National Apple Week celebration will be under the direction of National Apple Week Association, Inc., in collaboration with various organizations, individuals in produce business and allied industries.

To Feature Apples

National Apple Week is celebrated for several purposes, including that of increasing the distribution and use of the apple for the pleasure, and benefit of more men, women and children and to pay tribute to the king of fruits. This work will be carried out on a broad national scale. Every effort will be made to educate the consumer in the delights of the apple, its many and various uses and its important part in the diet.

Song sheets of "Chiquita Banana and Her Beau—Mr. Apple", will be available for school children, through the cooperation of the United Fruit Company.

The Hampshire County National Apple Week Committee has asked the hotel and restaurants in Romney to feature apples on the menu for the week of Oct. 25 to Nov. 1 and all grocery stores to feature canned and fresh apples each day of that week.

The apple growers of this area have a dinner meeting at the New Century Hotel the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month beginning in September and continuing through November, to discuss issues of common interest. Taking pictures of different phases of the apple industry was discussed at last nights meeting. These pictures are to be used in connection with the celebration of National Apple Week. After the meeting adjourned all members attending went to the Fruit Growers Cooperative Storage where a series of flash light pictures were made.

To Sponsor Essay

The growers are sponsoring an essay contest, open to high school students of Hampshire County. The subject of the essay will be "Growth of the Apple Industry in Hampshire County." Money was contributed last night in the amount of $36, to be used for prizes of $15 for first; $10, second; 5, third and six prizes of $1 each. County Superintendent of Schools, A. Clinton Loy, will formulate rules for the contest, select judges, etc.

The possibility of the "S. and W. Finer Foods" Company, building a processing plant in Romney within the coming year was made known at this meeting. This is a California concern with plants in California and one in New York State. Their apple product, juice, has so far been made of but two brands, Gravenstein and McIntosh. Hampshire County growers are giving a total of 175 bushels, 25 bushels each of seven different varities to be used by the "Finer Foods" in making a test. Brands to be tested are Grimes Golden, Delicious, Rome, Staymen, York and Ben Davis or Gano.

National Apple Week Will Be Observed In Hampshire County

By THOMAS WILLIAMS

ROMNEY, W. Va.—Mayor Blair M. Haines, upon the request of Dave Vaulkin, chairman of Hampshire County National Apple Week Committee, has issued a proclamation that Romney will observe National Apple Week, Oct. 25 to Nov. 1, inclusive.

The 1947 National Apple Week celebration will be under the direction of National Apple Week Association, Inc., in collaboration with various organizations, individuals in produce business and allied industries.

To Feature Apples

National Apple Week is celebrated for several purposes, including that of increasing the distribution and use of the apple for the pleasure, and benefit of more men, women and children and to pay tribute to the king of fruits. This work will be carried out on a broad national scale. Every effort will be made to educate the consumer in the delights of the apple, its many and various uses and its important part in the diet.

Song sheets of "Chiquita Banana and Her Beau—Mr. Apple", will be available for school children, through the cooperation of the United Fruit Company.

The Hampshire County National Apple Week Committee has asked the hotel and restaurants in Romney to feature apples on the menu for the week of Oct. 25 to Nov. 1 and all grocery stores to feature canned and fresh apples each day of that week.

The apple growers of this area have a dinner meeting at the New Century Hotel the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month beginning in September and continuing through November, to discuss issues of common interest. Taking pictures of different phases of the apple industry was discussed at last nights meeting. These pictures are to be used in connection with the celebration of National Apple Week. After the meeting adjourned all members attending went to the Fruit Growers Cooperative Storage where a series of flash light pictures were made.

To Sponsor Essay

The growers are sponsoring an essay contest, open to high school students of Hampshire County. The subject of the essay will be "Growth of the Apple Industry in Hampshire County." Money was contributed last night in the amount of $36, to be used for prizes of $15 for first; $10, second; 5, third and six prizes of $1 each. County Superintendent of Schools, A. Clinton Loy, will formulate rules for the contest, select judges, etc.

The possibility of the "S. and W. Finer Foods" Company, building a processing plant in Romney within the coming year was made known at this meeting. This is a California concern with plants in California and one in New York State. Their apple product, juice, has so far been made of but two brands, Gravenstein and McIntosh. Hampshire County growers are giving a total of 175 bushels, 25 bushels each of seven different varities to be used by the "Finer Foods" in making a test. Brands to be tested are Grimes Golden, Delicious, Rome, Staymen, York and Ben Davis or Gano.

Clerk Reports Fees

Residents State wide hunting and fishing, 500 at $2 each, totaling $1,000; tourist, non-resident fishing only for the season, 120 at $5, total $600; non-resident hunting and fishing 210 at $15 each, total $3,150.00 and 30 duplicate licenses at 50 cents each, total $15, making a grand total of $5,055.00.

Test Potato Crop Grown In Garrett County Is Studied

Eight Varieties May Be Selected

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND—Eight different varieties of potato seedlings have been selected from among those tested this year on the seed plot of the University of Maryland Extension service on the William P. DeBerry farm, north of town, as being above average and showing promise of making a good producer for this area.

Dr. R. A. Jehle, plant pathologist, University of Maryland, was here supervising the digging of the tubers from the test plots and compiling the records that will prove their ultimate worth if grown on a commercial scale.

The varieties grown are known by number only, and according to John H. Carter, county agent, will not be named until, by use, they are termed satisfactory.

One potato causing special mention was "B 61-3," a medium early and high yielding variety. The test showed it to be both blight and scab resistant with a better yield than the Katahdin. Two late varieties of potatoes which showed good results for resistance against all types of disease, also had high yields averaging 400 to 500 bushels to the acre.

Two bushels of each of the eight approved varieties have been sent to College Park where they will be given to a number of customers who will make reports on how they cook and taste. Quantities of the seed are also available, Carter said, to local farmers for planting if they will do it for continued purposes of testing, and to help with the complete information on the individual varieties.

Carter said that in this test area, which has been in existence for 15 years, established varieties are also planted for indicators as to yield, resistance, etc.

The plots are conducted under the supervision of the Extension Service, in co-operation with Federal and State agencies. Funds for the work are provided by the Experiment Station and the Extension Service.

Wins In Conservation

Perry Steiding, Accident, was termed the best in Garrett county in carrying out soil conservation practices, in a contest conducted by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, and will be eligible to compete for awards to be presented by the railroad throughout its territory.

Competition was open to farmers living in one of the soil conservation districts, provided he has a co-operative farm plan signed up with the district supervisors.

Announcement of the selection of Steiding was made by W. W. Nace, district soil conservationist, following a meeting of soil conservation supervisors Monday.

Nace said that Steiding, since the first of the year, had put in 128 acres of contour strip cropping, had made 3,400 feet of diversion terraces with his own equipment, under technical supervision of soil conservationists, had made 20 acres of permanent hay and had retired to pasture 40 acres of former crop land.

Steiding assists in operating the 372-acre farm owned by his grandfather, John W. Herman, in the Accident community. He was graduated last Spring from Accident High School.

Dr. Gannon Leaving

Dr. James A. Gannon, Jr., announced he was planning an absence from Oakland of about two years, after which he would resume his regular practice here.

He said a close friend of the family, Dr. Matthey Donahue, who has an established practice in Georgetown, Washington, D. C., had suffered a heart attack and that his physicians had advised him to take a complete rest for a year or two. Dr. Gannon was given the opportunity of taking over his practice during that time which would include quite a bit of surgery.

He added that in this way he would return to Oakland better fitted for his job, and at a time when the hospital here would require the constant services of a surgeon.

Dr. Gannon came to Oakland in March, 1946, and has been located in the offices formerly used by the late Dr. M. C. Hinebaugh.

Plan Crop Compensation

The possibility of working out a solution to repay in some manner the farmers whose crops are partially destroyed by deer and other wild game, was discussed at a meeting in the Court House last evening.

Present were officials of the State game department, Ernest A. Vaughn and George Shields, state game warden and chief deputy respectively; Fulcher P. Smith, member of the Inland Game and Fish Commission; Jonas Sines and J. Edward Helbig, county commissioner; Ronald McIntire, George Coddington and Lawrence M. Fraley, members of the General Assembly, and Ed Barry, field man for the fish commission.

Planting of a number of feed patches on state land and other ideas were suggested. Many farmers of the county, Fraley said, have complained about destruction of their crops by deer herds. Senator Fraley said he felt sure some solution would be worked out. He said the game department's plan for a wild life management center on 250 acres of the Mt. Nebo tract would eventually provide a good thing for the county.

Forestry Unity Studied

State game officials and members of the State Forestry Department this week began planning co-ordinating game and forest management of state forests. They went over the Mt. Nebo, Herrington and Potomac forest areas.

In the group were the State game warden and chief deputy; Joseph Minke, regional game warden; Francis Ruge, district warden; H. C. Buckingham, state forester; William Parr, district forester; Elmer Upole, local forester; William Bayliff, secretary, board of natural resources; and Edwin Barry, division of education and research, board of natural resources.

New Bass Arrive

Around 30,000 fingerling bass, both small and large mouth, were placed in Deep Creek Lake during the past week, it was announced. The fish came from the Federal Hatchery, Indiana, and were placed here through the State Game and Fish Commission.

Pneumatic tires for farm tractors came into general use in 1933.

Spain has nearly twice as many people as New York State.

Local Man Refuses To Waive Extradition

A Cumberland man, who faces a non-support charge in Berkeley County, W. Va., last night refused to waive extradition and was being held in City Jail without bond pending legal action.

West Virginia authorities told police that extradition proceedings would be begun in West Virginia and requested that Sencindiver be held here pending the legal action.

Local police said it is likely that bond will be set today after Allegany County authorities have been notified by Berkeley County officials that legal action to extradite the local man is underway.

Test Potato Crop Grown In Garrett County Is Studied

Eight Varieties May Be Selected

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND—Eight different varieties of potato seedlings have been selected from among those tested this year on the seed plot of the University of Maryland Extension service on the William P. DeBerry farm, north of town, as being above average and showing promise of making a good producer for this area.

Dr. R. A. Jehle, plant pathologist, University of Maryland, was here supervising the digging of the tubers from the test plots and compiling the records that will prove their ultimate worth if grown on a commercial scale.

The varieties grown are known by number only, and according to John H. Carter, county agent, will not be named until, by use, they are termed satisfactory.

One potato causing special mention was "B 61-3," a medium early and high yielding variety. The test showed it to be both blight and scab resistant with a better yield than the Katahdin. Two late varieties of potatoes which showed good results for resistance against all types of disease, also had high yields averaging 400 to 500 bushels to the acre.

Two bushels of each of the eight approved varieties have been sent to College Park where they will be given to a number of customers who will make reports on how they cook and taste. Quantities of the seed are also available, Carter said, to local farmers for planting if they will do it for continued purposes of testing, and to help with the complete information on the individual varieties.

Carter said that in this test area, which has been in existence for 15 years, established varieties are also planted for indicators as to yield, resistance, etc.

The plots are conducted under the supervision of the Extension Service, in co-operation with Federal and State agencies. Funds for the work are provided by the Experiment Station and the Extension Service.

Wins In Conservation

Perry Steiding, Accident, was termed the best in Garrett county in carrying out soil conservation practices, in a contest conducted by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, and will be eligible to compete for awards to be presented by the railroad throughout its territory.

Competition was open to farmers living in one of the soil conservation districts, provided he has a co-operative farm plan signed up with the district supervisors.

Announcement of the selection of Steiding was made by W. W. Nace, district soil conservationist, following a meeting of soil conservation supervisors Monday.

Nace said that Steiding, since the first of the year, had put in 128 acres of contour strip cropping, had made 3,400 feet of diversion terraces with his own equipment, under technical supervision of soil conservationists, had made 20 acres of permanent hay and had retired to pasture 40 acres of former crop land.

Steiding assists in operating the 372-acre farm owned by his grandfather, John W. Herman, in the Accident community. He was graduated last Spring from Accident High School.

Dr. Gannon Leaving

Dr. James A. Gannon, Jr., announced he was planning an absence from Oakland of about two years, after which he would resume his regular practice here.

He said a close friend of the family, Dr. Matthey Donahue, who has an established practice in Georgetown, Washington, D. C., had suffered a heart attack and that his physicians had advised him to take a complete rest for a year or two. Dr. Gannon was given the opportunity of taking over his practice during that time which would include quite a bit of surgery.

He added that in this way he would return to Oakland better fitted for his job, and at a time when the hospital here would require the constant services of a surgeon.

Dr. Gannon came to Oakland in March, 1946, and has been located in the offices formerly used by the late Dr. M. C. Hinebaugh.

Plan Crop Compensation

The possibility of working out a solution to repay in some manner the farmers whose crops are partially destroyed by deer and other wild game, was discussed at a meeting in the Court House last evening.

Present were officials of the State game department, Ernest A. Vaughn and George Shields, state game warden and chief deputy respectively; Fulcher P. Smith, member of the Inland Game and Fish Commission; Jonas Sines and J. Edward Helbig, county commissioner; Ronald McIntire, George Coddington and Lawrence M. Fraley, members of the General Assembly, and Ed Barry, field man for the fish commission.

Planting of a number of feed patches on state land and other ideas were suggested. Many farmers of the county, Fraley said, have complained about destruction of their crops by deer herds. Senator Fraley said he felt sure some solution would be worked out. He said the game department's plan for a wild life management center on 250 acres of the Mt. Nebo tract would eventually provide a good thing for the county.

Forestry Unity Studied

State game officials and members of the State Forestry Department this week began planning co-ordinating game and forest management of state forests. They went over the Mt. Nebo, Herrington and Potomac forest areas.

In the group were the State game warden and chief deputy; Joseph Minke, regional game warden; Francis Ruge, district warden; H. C. Buckingham, state forester; William Parr, district forester; Elmer Upole, local forester; William Bayliff, secretary, board of natural resources; and Edwin Barry, division of education and research, board of natural resources.

New Bass Arrive

Around 30,000 fingerling bass, both small and large mouth, were placed in Deep Creek Lake during the past week, it was announced. The fish came from the Federal Hatchery, Indiana, and were placed here through the State Game and Fish Commission.

Pneumatic tires for farm tractors came into general use in 1933.

Spain has nearly twice as many people as New York State.

City Will Ask Bids For Street Markers

The City of Cumberland will ask for bids next week on 200 metal street markers to be installed on downtown streets and main thoroughfares such as Greene Street, Maryland Avenue, Washington Street, Virginia Avenue and Williams Street, Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, said yesterday.

It is planned to purchase additional markers yearly until the entire city is covered.

Bidders will be requested to submit samples of signs with white lettering on black background or black lettering on white background.

Three types of signs are to be purchased, depending on the method of installation. Most will be placed on individual metal posts to be erected for the purpose; others will contain brackets for clamping on metal poles already up and still others will be placed on wooden poles.

No date for receiving the bids has been set.

City Will Ask Bids for Street Markers

The City of Cumberland will ask for bids next week on 200 metal street markers to be installed on downtown streets and main thoroughfares such as Greene Street, Maryland Avenue, Washington Street, Virginia Avenue and Williams Street, Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, said yesterday.

It is planned to purchase additional markers yearly until the entire city is covered.

Bidders will be requested to submit samples of signs with white lettering on black background or black lettering on white background.

Three types of signs are to be purchased, depending on the method of installation. Most will be placed on individual metal posts to be erected for the purpose; others will contain brackets for clamping on metal poles already up and still others will be placed on wooden poles.

No date for receiving the bids has been set.

Textile Union Asks Co-op Store Study

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, has named a committee to study the possibilities of establishing a co-operative store in an effort to fight the high cost of living, William Boyd Coleman, president, said.

Connie Shuck, Keyser, has been named chairman, and will be assisted by Roy Craze, William Starkey, Howard Twigg and James Stewart, he said.

The PCA here is also studying a similar proposal and will hear a report on co-op possibilities at a meeting planned tonight at 7 o'clock in the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Parents Who Object To Intermarriage Between Different Faiths

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Over and over again, to the point of monotony to some of my readers perhaps—I have harped on the elementary fact that we can never have a united and peaceful family of nations until we have tolerance and understanding between individual representatives of those nations. Tragically, many individuals seem even less disposed to try to understand each other than the representatives of the nations themselves.

All it would take is so many instances would be the will to try to reconcile different points of view. Yet even that wish to try is lacking in so many, as in the case of the father described in this letter, which, I think, is one of the saddest of this type I have seen in a long time:

"I am 19 years of age," writes a girl named Jane, "and not long ago, in the place where I worked as a bookkeeper, I met a boy of different faith from mine. We fell in love and he proposed to me, but because of the religious difference my parents objected strongly. We have been going with each other for a year and are desperately in love, but my parents still object. My father was so angry that he kept me in my room for a day and a half without food and told me if I didn't stop seeing this man, I would have to quit my job so that I wouldn't see him any more. So I quit my job.

"We corresponded with each other through a friend, and he wrote me that he is taking a two-year course in photography in a school in another city. We have decided that after he is finished we are going to elope. Am I doing the right thing?"

In this case, as in many similar cases on which I have commented before, I say that if this girl's parents are not broadminded enough to give their daughter freedom and help in making a wise decision, she has a perfect right, when she is of age, to make up her own mind, even though her decision is against their wishes.

If this boy carries out his plans, it will be two years before these two can marry, and the girl will be 21 years old. If her parents' attitude has not changed, and if they have come to some agreement between themselves as to how they can adjust the inevitable differences of thought and feeling attendant on their different religious upbringing, I personally would be all for the elopement of which she speaks.

At the same time, I cannot, however, too strongly stress the importance of a preliminary understanding between them of the difficulties they are likely to encounter because of their different backgrounds, and of reaching in advance same practical plan of operation that will enable them to surmount the obstacles that will certainly lie ahead for them. However much they may be in love, marriage is not going to be any bed of roses for two people in a situation of this kind. If they fully understand this beforehand and make as definite plans for solving their future problems as it is possible to do before those problems arrive, they will probably be in as good a position as any other two young people for making a success of their marriage.

Armed Robbery Probed

Police yesterday reported they were still investigating the armed robbery of Victor Lepley, 11 Frederick Street, who told police two negroes took between $375 and $400 from him Wednesday morning near the Texaco Service Station, North Mechanic Street.

Lepley, a truck driver, was questioned further about the robbery, but officers said he was unable to give additional information. He said he was held up at gun point while parking his truck.

France is about three times the size of Missouri.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

If you have enough money to buy this paper, you probably never heard of the Occident Hotel.

The Occident is about forty feet off the Bowery and was condemned by the Building Department a few months back. When moving day came, the police had some trouble persuading the thirty regular patrons of the Occident to vacate. They did it as gently as possible.

Billy Rose

For a long time, the old bums huddled on the curb in front of the condemned flophouse. As it grew dark, a drizzle set in. The group thinned out until only one little man was left. A cop saw him standing there. "Get going, Pop," he told him. "Here's a going-away present."

The bum grabbed at the quarter and headed for the Bowery. He walked into a corner saloon and ordered a beer. There were orange and black streamers around the soaped-up mirror. On the back bar there were some cardboard cats and a lighted pumpkin.

The old bum stared at the Hallowe'en pumpkin. As he stared, a little boy in a memory picture picked up the pumpkin and began carving it into a jack'-o'-lantern. The boy was about twelve years old. A few feet from the boy, a hired hand was sprawled out in front of a haystack.

"Chicago?" the hired hand was saying. "Used to live there. Worked in a cement yard. Toughest dollar I ever made. When rain hits one of them cement bags, it weighs a ton."

"Tell me about New York," said the boy.

"Met Millie the first month I was in Chicago," the hired hand went on. "She had brown hair and wore the smallest shoes I ever saw."

"You liked her?" asked the boy.

"Guess so," said the hired hand. "Funny how a woman can keep at you without appearing to. First thing you know we got married. You ever going to get married?"

The boy was startled. "I don't know," he said. "Maybe."

The hired hand squirmed out of the sun. "After we got married, we got a house," he said. "Nice place. Out toward Evanston."

"Have any children?" asked the boy.

"Yea—one. Girl. I used to play with her on Sunday."

"You going back to Chicago when the hay's in?" the boy asked.

The hired man shook his head. "Millie wouldn't be there now. Don't rightly know where she is."

The boy was puzzled. "You mean you don't know where your family is?"

"Nope. A man loses track after a time. The kid must be about nine now. Maybe ten."

The boy couldn't understand this. How could a man not know where his family was? "Tell me about New York," he said.

The bartender walked in front of the pumpkin. The haystack, the hired hand and the boy disappeared. "Refill?" the bartender asked.

The bum shook his head.

"Too bad they closed down the Occident," said the bartender. "Where are you gonna be bunking?"

"Might try Philadelphia," said the old man. "My son used to live there. Maybe I can find him."

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Schools are jammed, colleges are packed, but there are still some football players who are working their bones to the brain.

If you want to acquire a good education in that small building near the large stadium first learn to pack leather through tackle.

Way back in 1875 the illustrious Prexy White said he would not permit eleven men to travel four hundred miles to agitate a bag of wind.

From that little oak some mighty acorns have scattered. And never has the sack of ozone been so agitated. Education is in the bag.

Mr. Bevins wanted us to dig up our gold but he settled for turnips and beets. A choice smarter than society clothes.

We will have to feed the old world this winter in spite of the fact we busted the lease in 1776. The list of diners include France, Germany, Italy, Austria and Greece. We need plenty of room for our room service.

Back in 1920 I wrote that you will never see a relief boat sailing west. We have been shaking the tablecloth out of the window ever since.

As a mark of retaliatory gratitude our European guests will send us truffles, caviar, pate-de-foie-gras and souffle la moose at seven dollars a heaping spoonful.

Reports from the middle west indicate Taft and Stassen have agreed. Now let's get that third vote in.

The synchronized nodding was not quite supersonic. It was more like a giraffe necking with a turtle. But the intense cordiality almost melted the acoustics.

If Taft and Stassen have agreed on Stassen then how has Taft agreed on? Or, if the shoe is on the other foot, let's dance.

The order of their speaking was decided by the toss of a coin. Let's hope there's more where that came from.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Schools are jammed, colleges are packed, but there are still some football players who are working their bones to the brain.

If you want to acquire a good education in that small building near the large stadium first learn to pack leather through tackle.

Way back in 1875 the illustrious Prexy White said he would not permit eleven men to travel four hundred miles to agitate a bag of wind.

From that little oak some mighty acorns have scattered. And never has the sack of ozone been so agitated. Education is in the bag.

Mr. Bevins wanted us to dig up our gold but he settled for turnips and beets. A choice smarter than society clothes.

We will have to feed the old world this winter in spite of the fact we busted the lease in 1776. The list of diners include France, Germany, Italy, Austria and Greece. We need plenty of room for our room service.

Back in 1920 I wrote that you will never see a relief boat sailing west. We have been shaking the tablecloth out of the window ever since.

As a mark of retaliatory gratitude our European guests will send us truffles, caviar, pate-de-foie-gras and souffle la moose at seven dollars a heaping spoonful.

Reports from the middle west indicate Taft and Stassen have agreed. Now let's get that third vote in.

The synchronized nodding was not quite supersonic. It was more like a giraffe necking with a turtle. But the intense cordiality almost melted the acoustics.

If Taft and Stassen have agreed on Stassen then how has Taft agreed on? Or, if the shoe is on the other foot, let's dance.

The order of their speaking was decided by the toss of a coin. Let's hope there's more where that came from.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16—(INS)—Oscar Wilde's play, "Lady Windemere's Fan," which was revived last year on Broadway, is to be remade in the movies. Darryl Zanuck has bought the rights from Warner Brothers, and Otto Preminger is slated to direct.

Orson Welles

Greer Garson, according to unverified reports, is wanted for the "Lady" and there is a chance she may be borrowed. She likes the play. John Maschio, who put over the deal, had quite a time, because not only were Warners involved (they made it with Ernst Lubitsch years ago) but also the Wilde estate.

The noise coming from the Republic Studio a few days ago was from the office of Herbert Yates, who was arguing with John Wayne. John didn't like the script of "Wake of the Red Witch,' which was supposed to go before the cameras Wednesday, and insisted that the screenplay wasn't right.

After much arguing, Yates agreed to throw the whole thing out the window and start at scratch, and that means the picture won't get started until January.

The only bright ray of hope is that Republic is hopeful of borrowing Gail Russell from Paramount to play opposite John.

In Baltimore last April, I saw Irene Hervey in the road company of "State of the Union" and thought she was delightful.

After four years away from the screen, Irene is to come back in "Mickey" for Eagle-Lion. This is the famous Mabel Normand hit being remade with 15-year-old Lois Butler in Mabel's old role.

Chatter in Hollywood: After Mrs. Dane Clark left Dane she wasn't idle. She went to New York, and during their estrangement, devoted herself to painting, with the result she will have a one woman show at the Midtown Galleries.

Well, when Dane went back and saw his wife was painting and trying to make a go of her life without him, he started courting her, and now she's back home with him.

I saw some wardrobe tests of Errol Flynn and Viveca Lindfors in "Don Juan," and in color Errol is the handsomest thing I've looked at. As for Viveca, she is an absolute beauty.

Robert Douglas, who was brought here from England by Jack Warner, gets the role of the Duke of Lerma, next in importance to Errol's part. He is now with Alexis Smith in "Christopher Blake."

A broken eardrum which no one seemed to know about, is what has kept Orson Welles from leaving for Italy to make "Cagliostro." He is now supposed to leave the seventh of November, but Republic insists that he delay his trip if "MacBeth" is not finished and edited.

The compromise is that if they don't hit the deadline in time, Welles will complete the few remaining scenes of "Mac" in Rome and supervise the editing of the whole film there.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Lynn Bari and Sid Luft who were pretty bitter at the time of their parting, dining together at the Somerset House last night.

Judy Garland and Vincente Minnelli at Ciro's for the Kay Thompson opening. Judy and Kay are old friends.

Brian Donlevy gets back from Detroit in a very few days, and then the fire works are to start.

Nice letter from Paul Kelly, who is the hit of New York in "Command Decision."

Harry Richman is negotiating to buy a night spot in the valley. He'll turn it into the Club Richman.

What with all the visiting editors, there have been many festivities and many cocktail parties. Sheilah Graham honored Arthur Christianson, Editor-in-chief of Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express. Maureen O'Hara, whose mother looks young enough to be her sister, came with Maureen who wore an exciting picture hat.

I had a chance to talk to Hedy Lamarr, who is thinner than she's ever been in her life. She tells me she may go to New York for a fling at the theatres, but she wants to settle her movie plans first.

That's all today.

Pretty Hat, Don't You Think?

Petite Anna Konstance, who is one of the very few high-and-mighty tallish tempters from New York City at Billy Roses Diamond Horseshoe, doffs her hat to American girls "They're the prettiest," she says, "but what do I know about such things?" Get a mirror, Anna.

Shortage Of Fuel Oil This Winter Predicted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP) — Some American homes are going to be cold this winter because of a shortage of fuel oil, witnesses told a Senate committee yesterday.

Though they agreed os that point, the witnesses disputed sharply on how the situation will be affected by the Commerce Department's action in approving a license for the export of 20,000 tons of critically short steel pipe for a Middle East oil pipe line.

U. S. per capita use of sugar reached an all-time high in 1930.

U. S. farm production rose 25 percent between 1939 and 1944.

Cugat Weds Actress

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16—(AP)—Xavier Cugat, 46-year-old orchestra leader, caricaturist and author, and Actress Lorraine Allen, 28, were married yesterday in a civil ceremony conducted by Municipal Judge Adrian Bonnelly.

After much arguing, Yates agreed to throw the whole thing out the window and start at scratch, and that means the picture won't get started until January.

After four years away from the screen, Irene is to come back in "Mickey" for Eagle-Lion. This is the famous Mabel Normand hit being remade with 15-year-old Lois Butler in Mabel's old role.

Chatter in Hollywood: After Mrs. Dane Clark left Dane she wasn't idle. She went to New York, and during their estrangement, devoted herself to painting, with the result she will have a one woman show at the Midtown Galleries.

Well, when Dane went back and saw his wife was painting and trying to make a go of her life without him, he started courting her, and now she's back home with him.

I saw some wardrobe tests of Errol Flynn and Viveca Lindfors in "Don Juan," and in color Errol is the handsomest thing I've looked at. As for Viveca, she is an absolute beauty.

Robert Douglas, who was brought here from England by Jack Warner, gets the role of the Duke of Lerma, next in importance to Errol's part. He is now with Alexis Smith in "Christopher Blake."

A broken eardrum which no one seemed to know about, is what has kept Orson Welles from leaving for Italy to make "Cagliostro." He is now supposed to leave the seventh of November, but Republic insists that he delay his trip if "MacBeth" is not finished and edited.

The compromise is that if they don't hit the deadline in time, Welles will complete the few remaining scenes of "Mac" in Rome and supervise the editing of the whole film there.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Lynn Bari and Sid Luft who were pretty bitter at the time of their parting, dining together at the Somerset House last night.

Judy Garland and Vincente Minnelli at Ciro's for the Kay Thompson opening. Judy and Kay are old friends.

Brian Donlevy gets back from Detroit in a very few days, and then the fire works are to start.

Nice letter from Paul Kelly, who is the hit of New York in "Command Decision."

Harry Richman is negotiating to buy a night spot in the valley. He'll turn it into the Club Richman.

What with all the visiting editors, there have been many festivities and many cocktail parties. Sheilah Graham honored Arthur Christianson, Editor-in-chief of Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express. Maureen O'Hara, whose mother looks young enough to be her sister, came with Maureen who wore an exciting picture hat.

I had a chance to talk to Hedy Lamarr, who is thinner than she's ever been in her life. She tells me she may go to New York for a fling at the theatres, but she wants to settle her movie plans first.

That's all today.

Pretty Hat, Don't You Think?

Petite Anna Konstance, who is one of the very few high-and-mighty tallish tempters from New York City at Billy Roses Diamond Horseshoe, doffs her hat to American girls "They're the prettiest," she says, "but what do I know about such things?" Get a mirror, Anna.

Shortage Of Fuel Oil This Winter Predicted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP) — Some American homes are going to be cold this winter because of a shortage of fuel oil, witnesses told a Senate committee yesterday.

Though they agreed os that point, the witnesses disputed sharply on how the situation will be affected by the Commerce Department's action in approving a license for the export of 20,000 tons of critically short steel pipe for a Middle East oil pipe line.

Henry J. Kaiser Takes Hot Seat On "Meet The Press"

By JEAN MEEGAN
(FOR C. E. BUTTERFIELD)

NEW YORK, OCT. 16 - Two men, both "big" in their widely separated fields, expose themselves to ad lib questioning and argument over the Mutual network Friday night.

Henry J. Kaiser, the dynamic industrialist with a forte for making headlines, occupies the hot seat on "Meet The Press" at 10 o'clock, facing four veteran reporters and correspondents.

An hour and a half earlier, Toots Shor, the dynamic restaurateur with a forte for making Broadway columns as the poor man's G. K. Chesterton and confidante of the great, appears on "Leave It To The Girls." He will attempt, it says here, to "defend the American male against the barbed-word attacks" of career women Madge Evans, Eloise McElhone, Maggi McNellis and Washington columnist Austine Cassini.

Among the day's guest stars are the King Cole trio on CBS' "Jack Smith Show" (7:15 PM); Hildegarde on Bill Stern's sport show via NBC at 10:30 PM, and Eddie Howard, band leader, song writer and vocalist, on Burl Ives' Mutual program at 8.

Far the comic fight nite listeners, ABC will carry a blow-by-blow account of the 10-round welterweight bout between Dany Bartfield and Paddy DeMarco from the St. Nicholas arena in New York. It begins at 10 o'clock.

"Mama! Papa! Look what I won at a quiz show!"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Better Half

"The Better Half" (Mutual 9:30 p. m. E.S.T. Saturdays) has one curious distinction; it was selected for immortality in the "March of Time" film short on radio as one of the horrible examples of contemporary broadcasting. All things considered, it was an excellent choice. As a matter of fact, I suggest they bury this part of the film in the Time Capsule in Flushing as a sort of permanent record of at least one phase of our life and times. The program contains most of the ingredients of all the other audience participation shows—quizzes, wild practical jokes, gags, and, of course, uproarious laughter. No record of our time would be complete without something of this kind.

John Crosby

"The Better Half" is a sort of quiz contest between husbands and wives in which the loser is forced to pay a penalty. At least I think that's the idea. There is such bedlam on the show it's hard to tell what is going on. In the "March Of Time," the losing husband was placed in a box with holes in it. Every time he stuck his neck out, his wife beat him over the ears with what I gathered was an upholstered stick of some kind. A great many other punishments are inflicted on the program, all of them showing a certain weird and horrible ingenuity. The other day a husband was blindfolded and then asked to kiss a pretty girl who turned out to be his wife. A dirty trick.

Tiny Ruffner, the master of ceremonies, keeps the uproar moving briskly with a certain rough humor, most of it on the topic of matrimony. "How long," he will ask, "have you two been living as cheaply as one?"

Mr. Ruffner, a man of infinite joviality, usually refers t the wife as "the old ball and chain," asks rather intimate questions about the couple's home life and laughs uproariously at the answers which consist largely of those deprecatory cliches which married couples learn early in married life. Since Ruffner must have heard them all several dozen times, the laughter is a triumph of sheer will power.

As a quiz master, Ruffner is almost too kind-hearted; wherever possible he arranges that all the contestants win. The band, for example, played "Sunrise Serenade" and a bewildered wife who was supposed to guess the title, suggested "Swanee."

"That's close," said Mr. Ruffner, on what grounds I wouldn't know. "What rises in the morning?"

"Sun in the Morning," said the lady wildly.

The punishment—the husband beaten over the head, the man kissing his own wife—is of course, the nub of the show. It appears to satisfy the audience but it doesn't satisfy me. What, I ask myself, are the consequences of these marital jousts after the show? What exactly does a husband, who has been lammed over the head with a stick, do to his wife when he gets her home? Get a stout board from the woodshed and retaliate, do you suppose?

What thoughts pass through the mind of a woman on the way home in the cab as she coldly gazes on the husband who had agreed blindfolded to kiss some pretty lass? Even though they dealt him the wrong queen at the last moment, his moral guilt is established; the suspicions which lie so close to the surface of every wifely mind could easily bubble to the top to poison a relationship which is at best delicate.

Hoover's Brother Socks Sea Lions

OAKLAND, Calif.—(AP)—The brother of former President Herbert Hoover is pretty good at slugging sea lions over the head with a baseball bat, says Photographer Sid Snow, who has watched such encounters. And it's all because of the slugger's love of salmon.

At a certain time each year, Snow explains, breakers crash through sand dunes blocking an inlet to the sea at Theodore Hoover's Rancho del Oso near Davenport—and salmon rush in to spawn.

Smuggling Of Pigs Calls For Chloroform

BERLIN. (AP)—Pigs have been giving German black-marketeers trouble. Because they usually squealed as they were being smuggled past control officials, the smugglers chloroformed the pigs. Authorities discovered the ruse when the pigs awoke as noisy as ever.

"Mama! Papa! Look what I won at a quiz show!"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

John Crosby

"The Better Half" (Mutual 9:30 p. m. E.S.T. Saturdays) has one curious distinction; it was selected for immortality in the "March of Time" film short on radio as one of the horrible examples of contemporary broadcasting. All things considered, it was an excellent choice. As a matter of fact, I suggest they bury this part of the film in the Time Capsule in Flushing as a sort of permanent record of at least one phase of our life and times. The program contains most of the ingredients of all the other audience participation shows—quizzes, wild practical jokes, gags, and, of course, uproarious laughter. No record of our time would be complete without something of this kind.

"The Better Half" is a sort of quiz contest between husbands and wives in which the loser is forced to pay a penalty. At least I think that's the idea. There is such bedlam on the show it's hard to tell what is going on. In the "March Of Time," the losing husband was placed in a box with holes in it. Every time he stuck his neck out, his wife beat him over the ears with what I gathered was an upholstered stick of some kind. A great many other punishments are inflicted on the program, all of them showing a certain weird and horrible ingenuity. The other day a husband was blindfolded and then asked to kiss a pretty girl who turned out to be his wife. A dirty trick.

Tiny Ruffner, the master of ceremonies, keeps the uproar moving briskly with a certain rough humor, most of it on the topic of matrimony. "How long," he will ask, "have you two been living as cheaply as one?"

"It's ridiculous, isn't it? I mean trying to live as cheaply as one."

Mr. Ruffner, a man of infinite joviality, usually refers t the wife as "the old ball and chain," asks rather intimate questions about the couple's home life and laughs uproariously at the answers which consist largely of those deprecatory cliches which married couples learn early in married life. Since Ruffner must have heard them all several dozen times, the laughter is a triumph of sheer will power.

As a quiz master, Ruffner is almost too kind-hearted; wherever possible he arranges that all the contestants win. The band, for example, played "Sunrise Serenade" and a bewildered wife who was supposed to guess the title, suggested "Swanee."

"That's close," said Mr. Ruffner, on what grounds I wouldn't know. "What rises in the morning?"

"Sun in the Morning," said the lady wildly.

He gave her a dollar anyway.

The punishment—the husband beaten over the head, the man kissing his own wife—is of course, the nub of the show. It appears to satisfy the audience but it doesn't satisfy me. What, I ask myself, are the consequences of these marital jousts after the show? What exactly does a husband, who has been lammed over the head with a stick, do to his wife when he gets her home? Get a stout board from the woodshed and retaliate, do you suppose?

What thoughts pass through the mind of a woman on the way home in the cab as she coldly gazes on the husband who had agreed blindfolded to kiss some pretty lass? Even though they dealt him the wrong queen at the last moment, his moral guilt is established; the suspicions which lie so close to the surface of every wifely mind could easily bubble to the top to poison a relationship which is at best delicate.

Hoover's Brother Socks Sea Lions

OAKLAND, Calif.—(AP)—The brother of former President Herbert Hoover is pretty good at slugging sea lions over the head with a baseball bat, says Photographer Sid Snow, who has watched such encounters. And it's all because of the slugger's love of salmon.

At a certain time each year, Snow explains, breakers crash through sand dunes blocking an inlet to the sea at Theodore Hoover's Rancho del Oso near Davenport—and salmon rush in to spawn.

Smuggling Of Pigs Calls For Chloroform

BERLIN. (AP)—Pigs have been giving German black-marketeers trouble. Because they usually squealed as they were being smuggled past control officials, the smugglers chloroformed the pigs. Authorities discovered the ruse when the pigs awoke as noisy as ever.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Shirley Jean Shaffer, who passed away two years ago today, October 17, 1945.

No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain,
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear Shirley,
That we do not think of you.

Sadly missed by her mother, grandmother & grandfather, MR. & MRS CHARLES W. WINEBRENNER.

Light Selling Stalls Many Market Leaders; Selected Issues Advance

Slightly mixed trends prevailed until after midday when prices for steels, oils and a wide assortment of industrials hardened. Activity, while under that of the preceding day, was aided by sizable blocks of low-quoted issues. It was the fourth straight million-share full day for the first time since late July, although the aggregate was well under that of Wednesday. Volume of 1,400,000 shares compared with 1,930,000 the day before which was a top since April 14.

Better performers, a number at peaks for 1947, included Pacific Western Oil, up 3 1-2 at 56 1-2; Mission Corporation, 2 1-2 at 53 1-2, Deep Rock Oil 2 1-8 at 36 1-4, Bendix Home Appliance two at 23, Worthington Pump 1 3-4 at 65, Warren Petroleum 1 5-8 at 44 1-4, Thomas Steel 1 3-8 at 23 7-8, J. I. 1 5-8 at 191 5-8. American Water Case one at 44 1-2 and du Pont Works was a belated sprinter, up 1 5-8 at 16 7-8, following word the company had donated to West Penn Electric all the latter's stock which it previously had held.

Modest gains were shown for United States Steel, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, United Aircraft, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, Eastern Air Lines and Commonwealth and Southern.

On the downside were General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Boeing, Sperry, American Telephone, Electric Power and Light, Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Allied Chemical, United States Gypsum, Skelly Oil and Standard Oil (NJ).

In the forward ranks of the Curb were Cities Service, Heyden Chemical, Louisville Land, McCord Corporation, Aluminum of America, Standard Cap and A Stein, the last named on a pleasing year-end disbursement. Stumblers were Apex Electric, Kaiser-Frazer and West Virginia Coal. Turnover here was 340,000 shares versus 460,000 yesterday.

The bond market worked out an irregular price pattern in less active business than in the past two sessions. Sales totaled $4,623,000, compared with $5,590,000 the day before.

Only one government bond sold on the stock exchange, the 2½s of 1972-67 trading at 102.16, up 4-32. In outside markets governments were unchanged to up 5-32 of a point.

Woman Who Has

appeal for help brought the concerted efforts of the community of Cumberland to bear, and speedy help was forthcoming. He was given financial assistance and friendly encouragement. He and his family are now well and strong and he is back at his old job, adding strength to the economic life of the city.

Sometimes an illness goes too long undetected. Especially where the stealthy killer, tuberculosis, is at work.

After losing work here and there over a period of years, a Celanese father finally suffered a prolonged siege of illness. When his resources, both physical and financial, had practically ebbed away, he visited the Allegany County Chest Clinic.

His condition demanded immediate action, and the Associated Charities was called upon to help. The man was sent to a sanitarium immediately, and it was hoped that the mother could maintain their home and care for their four children, with assistance from the Community Fund.

But immediate examination showed that the mother and one daughter also had lung infections. They too had to go to the sanitarium. The remaining children were placed with relatives with the Community Chest assisting with their expenses.

Another Example Given

Too far advanced, the father's condition could not be arrested. He passed on. The daughter has recovered and returned to Cumberland where she is with the other children. The mother is steadily regaining her health and returns to visit the children when sanitarium officials permit. Her loss has been great, but she looks forward to starting anew with her children in the near future.

A B. & O. man who contacted tuberculosis was much more fortunate than his fellow worker at Celanese. His condition was discovered in time, and he returned to work just recently after being treated at a sanitarium. Here again, however, prolonged illness used up all private insurance benefits and the Community Chest came to his assistance.

Obviously, there is a lack of security for everyone where long-term illness is concerned. Very often, help from the Community Chest must be forced upon those who need it. But insurance payments would be rapidly accepted under the same circumstances.

The Community Chest, however, is nothing but COMMUNITY INSURANCE. If everybody gives, everybody benefits, and there is a real approach to security for the Community as a whole.

Light Selling Stalls Many Market Leaders; Selected Issues Advance

Slightly mixed trends prevailed until after midday when prices for steels, oils and a wide assortment of industrials hardened. Activity, while under that of the preceding day, was aided by sizable blocks of low-quoted issues. It was the fourth straight million-share full day for the first time since late July, although the aggregate was well under that of Wednesday. Volume of 1,400,000 shares compared with 1,930,000 the day before which was a top since April 14.

Better performers, a number at peaks for 1947, included Pacific Western Oil, up 3 1-2 at 56 1-2; Mission Corporation, 2 1-2 at 53 1-2, Deep Rock Oil 2 1-8 at 36 1-4, Bendix Home Appliance two at 23, Worthington Pump 1 3-4 at 65, Warren Petroleum 1 5-8 at 44 1-4, Thomas Steel 1 3-8 at 23 7-8, J. I. 1 5-8 at 191 5-8. American Water Case one at 44 1-2 and du Pont Works was a belated sprinter, up 1 5-8 at 16 7-8, following word the company had donated to West Penn Electric all the latter's stock which it previously had held.

Modest gains were shown for United States Steel, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, United Aircraft, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, Eastern Air Lines and Commonwealth and Southern.

On the downside were General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Boeing, Sperry, American Telephone, Electric Power and Light, Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Allied Chemical, United States Gypsum, Skelly Oil and Standard Oil (NJ).

In the forward ranks of the Curb were Cities Service, Heyden Chemical, Louisville Land, McCord Corporation, Aluminum of America, Standard Cap and A Stein, the last named on a pleasing year-end disbursement. Stumblers were Apex Electric, Kaiser-Frazer and West Virginia Coal. Turnover here was 340,000 shares versus 460,000 yesterday.

The bond market worked out an irregular price pattern in less active business than in the past two sessions. Sales totaled $4,623,000, compared with $5,590,000 the day before.

Only one government bond sold on the stock exchange, the 2½s of 1972-67 trading at 102.16, up 4-32. In outside markets governments were unchanged to up 5-32 of a point.

appeal for help brought the concerted efforts of the community of Cumberland to bear, and speedy help was forthcoming. He was given financial assistance and friendly encouragement. He and his family are now well and strong and he is back at his old job, adding strength to the economic life of the city.

After losing work here and there over a period of years, a Celanese father finally suffered a prolonged siege of illness. When his resources, both physical and financial, had practically ebbed away, he visited the Allegany County Chest Clinic.

His condition demanded immediate action, and the Associated Charities was called upon to help. The man was sent to a sanitarium immediately, and it was hoped that the mother could maintain their home and care for their four children, with assistance from the Community Fund.

But immediate examination showed that the mother and one daughter also had lung infections. They too had to go to the sanitarium. The remaining children were placed with relatives with the Community Chest assisting with their expenses.

Another Example Given

Too far advanced, the father's condition could not be arrested. He passed on. The daughter has recovered and returned to Cumberland where she is with the other children. The mother is steadily regaining her health and returns to visit the children when sanitarium officials permit. Her loss has been great, but she looks forward to starting anew with her children in the near future.

A B. & O. man who contacted tuberculosis was much more fortunate than his fellow worker at Celanese. His condition was discovered in time, and he returned to work just recently after being treated at a sanitarium. Here

Recruiting Parade Provides Colorful Evening Spectacle

Scores Of Units Boost Guardsmen

A score of volunteer fire companies, veterans organizations, bands, drum corps and other units, paraded through the downtown area just after nightfall and despite heavily congested traffic, drill teams, majorettes, flag wavers and others gave an unusual performance. Marchers complained about the congestion caused by the heavy traffic and the huge throng which crowded out toward the center of streets.

Marshaled by Thomas F. Conlon, and led by the Hyndman High School Band, the military units headed the first division, with Major Howard Dickey leading two units of the First Battalion, Maryland National Guard. Headquarters Company was led and commanded by Capt. Robert Powell and Company C was in command of Capt. Robert Mattlick.

Contestants Seen

Following the National Guard marchers were the units several jeeps, each bearing a couple of girls who have entered in the Guard's photogenic contest, to select "Miss National Guard" of 1947.

The Fifth Division Marine Corps Reserve Division was represented in the parade by a color guard and a float depicting the raising of the United States flag on Iwo Jima.

Following these marchers were the following units: Grantsville High School Band, Grantsville Volunteer Fire Company engine; Kelly-Mansfield Post American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, Piedmont, W. Va. Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Westernport firemen and equipment.

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars color guard, drum and bugle corps majorettes and flag wavers provided one of the outstanding demonstrations. The Vets wore service uniforms, and newly trained flagwavers added to the display.

Firemen Add Color

Allegany County Rescue Corps truck carrying boats and drawing an old-time fire engine once used here, attracted much attention. Washington Chapter No. 2, Disabled American Veterans appeared with their color guard and disabled veterans riding in several sedan automobiles.

Fulton Myers Post American Legion drum and bugle corps, about twice as large as on its last appearance, drew applause from the crowds, and the antics of a tiny twirler supported by five girl twirlers pleased the crowds.

Bowman's Addition fire truck and a Second Army sound truck followed after which the Arion Band of Frostburg appeared followed by the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company's huge pumper engine.

Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion Drum Cops, Frostburg, led the final division, followed by the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company drill team and marchers and their large fire truck, and the Baltimore Pike Fire Company's truck and firemen.

Guardsmen Grateful

National Guard officers and members here last night expressed their genuine gratitude for the cooperation of the numerous units which helped stage the recruiting parade. Major Dickey said the Guard here needs at least 100 recruits and any young man who has reached his 17th birthday, and can pass physical requirements may enlist. Veterans too are desired, as instructors and technicians, he explained.

Following the parade, a reception for the marchers was held at the Armory and Victory Medals were presented to a number of Guardsmen who served in World War II. A free public dance, with music by the Modernaires attracted several hundred persons.

Swanton Farmer Hurt When Run Over By Cattle

Randolph Harvey, 69-year-old Swanton farmer, was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night for treatment of undetermined injuries suffered, he said, when some cattle ran over him on his farm.

Cecil Hubbard, 21, Route 2, Williams Road, a Consolidated Orchard Company worker, was treated in Memorial yesterday for injuries suffered in a fall from a ladder yesterday at 9 a. m. He was able to leave the hospital after a laceration on the forehead was treated.

Also treated in Allegany yesterday were Phyllis Day, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Day, Bowling Green, after she fell at home and cut her forehead, and John Edwards, 3, 23 Henderson Avenue, for a puncture wound on the right wrist.

Seeks Beer Permit

Application was made to the Allegany County Liquor Conrtol Board yesterday for a beer license by Clara D'Amico, Slabtown, Mt. Savage.

STILL SMILING—After 17 months' confinement in Memorial Hospital, unable to walk because of a painful arthritic condition in her legs, Mrs. Virgie Garton, 35-year-old Celanese employee, (shown above) is still smiling gamely. She gives her full endorsement to the Community Chest, and her whole-hearted appreciation to the individuals and organizations who have taken an interest in her many difficulties.

Grateful For Help—

Woman Who Has Spent 17 Months In Hospital Praises Community Chest

Mrs. Virgie Garton Has Faith In Future

(Contributed By Miss Jeanette Bonig Executive Secretary Associated Charities)

In spite of all our modern federal, state and private insrance funds, there seems to be no such thing as social security.

Cumberland boasts of 20,000 industrial workers, representing almost one half of the total population. In the larger industries, workers are protected by group insurance and retirement funds; nearly all industries are covered by unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation and most workers are eligible for Social Security.

In spite of all this protection, how many workers with large families are financially able to spend 17 months in a hospital? There are limits to health insurance, whether taken by individuals or groups. And in many cases, illnesses exceed such limits.

Mrs. Virgie Garton, 35-year-old Celanese worker, has not only been in Memorial Hospital for 17 months, but will probably be there for some time to come. The mother of five children, she was once the center of a happy, comfortable home.

Undergoes Eight Operations

"My Celanese Group Insurance was wonderful," she says. "I received the full amount of it during three different illnesses. But no insurance can cover a spell of sickness when it lasts as long as this one has."

Following eight major operations performed in recent years, Mrs. Garton contracted arthritis. In spite of cripping pain, she struggled on as long as she could. But finally she could go no longer. And when the manager of a household goes down, the crash sometimes takes the household with it.

For the past 17 months Mrs. Garton has suffered excruciating pain, proudly and gamely. There have been painful operations and treatments to try to enable her to walk again. She has faith, she wants to get back on her feet, and she can still smile.

Her troubles, and suffering, need not be mentioned here. They can well be imagined. But she has been spared a great deal of mental anguish by the people of Cumberland, who, through their Community Chest, have seen that her children were given a lease on life. She gives her whole-hearted endorsement to the community effort that has taken some of the sting from her many wounds, and is grateful to hospital officials, nurses, doctors, her church associates and fellow workers at Celanese, American Legion Post No. 13, and all others who have taken an interest in her many difficulties.

G. I. Is Given Help

In another case, a young Celanese G. I. came back from war service, his nerves frayed, looking for the peace that only home can give. Instead, he found only trouble.

His wife and children were ill, and he could get no one to take care of them. He definitely was not well himself, but he jumped right in and tried to keep his home going. Food, rent and medicine bills piled up—while his resistance kept going down.

Finally, an emergency existed. He couldn't make the grade alone. An

Labor Unity Group Votes To Support Co-op Store Here

Committee Named To Enlist More Backers

The possibilities of locating a cooperative store in Cumberland to be used by members of area labor unions increased last night when the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference voted to support the venture.

Two committees were appointed by the conference, one to study possible sites for location of the store in Cumberland, and the second to enlist the aid of labor unions not affiliated with the conference in its efforts to open a co-operative store here.

In addition to operating the store, plans were discussed to establish a traveling trailer wagon store that could serve the entire area, Paul L. Burley, secretary, said.

According to Burley, the program as studied at last night's meeting would result in the local unions purchasing food on tractor-trailer quantities and transporting it to the local co-operative in an effort to lower the cost of living for local labor groups.

The merchandise bought would be sold at cost to labor union consumers, according to Burley, and result in a lower food cost for the families dealing in the union-planned store.

Boyd W. Coleman, Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, president and a vice president of the conference, reported to the meeting that a survey of Cumberland's doctors shows a shortage here, while Baltimore has more than enough physicians for its population.

Coleman recommended that the local conference attempt by advertising to attract physicians from other areas to this community as a plan for alleviating the present condition. He suggested advertising in medical publications as well as raily newspapers in other areas.

Members of the conference also received information concerning national rent control measures, which advised them to seek the aid of the city government in passing an ordinance prohibiting rent hikes.

The conference, by letter, also requested Senator Robert B. Kimble and the Allegany County Delegation to the Maryland Legislature to vote for repeal of the State Sales Tax. Members pointed out that other revenue raising means could be employed by the state to increase its income.

The local conference voted to send two delegates to a Congressional hearing on the high cost of living to be held in Baltimore October 21 and 22.

Burley said railroad representatives attending the meeting requested that letters of protest be sent to President Truman and other government officials concerning the sale of the "big and little inch" gas pipe lines to Texas firms. The conference voted to oppose the government action.

Former Local Man Arrested For Loan Contract Violation

Ordered To Return Car To This County

James M. Sirbaugh, Gray, Pa., was arraigned yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a criminal charge resulting from his alleged failure to abide by terms of a mortgage contract with the Second National Bank, this city.

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew, who presided, released Sirbaugh on his own recognizance under $500 bond, and ordered him to return to Allegany County an automobile, on which he allegedly borrowed money.

Signed Contract

Sirbaugh, according to Magistrate Perdew, borrowed money on his automobile, then signed a contract for payments, which contained a clause forbidding him to transport the vehicle out of Allegany County.

Sirbaugh told the court that he recently moved to Gray and because he failed to understand the terms of the contract he took the car with him. He admitted receiving a letter from the bank but said his home burned down recently and he has been to nervous to answer.

He was arrested on a warrant sworn to by George A. Caswell, an employe of the bank. Magistrate Perdew said he will be given a reasonable time to return the car.

He explained that the release on recognizance under bond meant that Sirbaugh did not post bond, but would be subject to arrest in default of that amount of money, if he fails to return the car to this county.

Charged with violating two state motor laws, including unauthorized use of his employer's truck, James Leroy Welsh, 994 Gay Street, was sentenced to 16 days in County Jail in default of fines imposed by Magistrate Perdew.

Fined On Two Counts

Welsh was fined $10.75 on the unauthorized use charge and $5.75 for turning off the truck lights to avoid arrest. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

Court attaches said Welsh indicated that he would pay the fine, but refused when he learned that sheriff's officers intended to detain him on another charge.

Court attaches said Welsh indicated that he would pay the fine, but refused when he learned he had been indicted by the October term of grand jury on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and on a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Involved in the same case was Paul Allen Judy, 937 Maryland Avenue, who paid a fine of $10.75 after pleading guilty to riding with Welsh while the latter was using the machine without the consent of the owner, Morris Gerson, local scrap iron dealer. Both defendants are employed by Gerson.

State Trooper William McElfish said he stopped near the intersection of Baltimore and George Streets late Tuesday night to talk to City Officer John Snyder when he spied the truck. The driver, the trooper said, apparently became excited and turned off his lights.

Gerson told Magistrate Perdew that Welsh was permitted to take the truck home after work to pick up other employes in the morning. However, he said, the defendant was not authorized to use the vehicle for his own use.

William Perry Glover, Keyser, W. Va., forfeited bond of $11.45 when he failed to appear for a hearing on charges of operating a motor vehicle on Route 220 without an operator's license. Trooper McElfish made the arrest.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion will hold an oyster supper tonight at the post home for its entire membership, according to Thomas R. "Pat" Farrell, post commander. The affair will begin promptly at 7 p. m., Commander Farrell said, and oysters will be "prepared any and every way the boys like them."

The oyster feed is held in lieu of the annual post picnic which was postponed this year, and will serve as the social event to launch the annual membership drive. The goal for 1948 membership has been set at 1,800 with cash awards for members bringing in the most renewals, reinstatements and new applications.

Canine Affection

A much bigger, black, curly-haired dog jogged gracefully from the pavement to the street, nudged the puppy to warn him of the bus and the two animals walked off together, much as a father taking his son by the hand to comfort him after a close call.

Catholic Parishes Will Hold Annual Observance Here

The annual celebration of the feast of "Christ the King" will be held for Catholic parishes throughout Western Maryland, at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, this city, Sunday, October 26, it was announced last night by Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Oldtown Road.

Father Landrigan is Spiritual Director of the Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society, Catholic men's organization, which will sponsor the event.

'This marks the first time the section-wide celebration has been held in St. Patrick's in over 10 years," he said. The celebration was held at St. Peter in Chains' Church, Westernport, last year—after a discontinuance during the war years due to transportation difficulties.

Parishes participating in the event are: St. Peter's, Oakland; St. Peter in Chains', Westernport; St. Gabriel's, Barton; St. Mary's Lonaconing; St. Joseph's, Midland; St. Michael's, Frostburg; St. Patrick's, Mt. Savage; St. Ambrose, Cresaptown; St. Mary's, SS. Peter and Paul's and St. Patrick's, all of Cumberland.

Besides Father Landrigan, sectional officers of the Holy Name Society are: A. L. Will, St. Mary's, Cumberland, president; Hugh Nolan, St. Michael's, Frostburg, vice-president; Lawrence Patitucci, St. Patrick's, Cumberland, secretary; Phillip Murphy, St. Mary's, Cumberland, treasurer; and Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., SS. Peter and Paul's, chief marshal.

Two Youths Arrested

City police yesterday arrested a young couple, who they said apparently were running away from home to get married. Police said they were asked to pick up the pair by the sheriff of McKeesport, Pa.

Identified as Kenneth Chisholm, 20, and Deloris Tanney, 16, both of McKeesport, authorities said they were released in the custody of the girl's aunt, Mrs. William Payton, 412 Columbia Street.

Mrs. Payton, according to police, said she would detain the girl and permit Chisholm to return to McKeesport. Lt. James E. Van and Officer C. D. Manges made the arrest.

Classified Section Leaders Of Chest Drive To Meet

Planning Conference Slated At Luncheon

A planning conference of 55 regiment leaders of the Classified section of the Community Chest campaign organization will be held at a luncheon at noon today in Central YMCA.

Regiment leaders will meet with F. W. Eiler, section chairman, and associate division leaders to consider changes from previous plans.

Eiler said yesterday that division leaders have been "a little slow" in getting regiment leaders appointed, but he added that they were "lining up rapidly" and a strong organization appeared likely.

"We're bearing down strongly to round out a competent organization," Eiler stated. "In recent years there has been some slackness but this year we are determined to correct that and do a thorough job."

Captains of the Women's division under Mrs. Delphin Treiber also are scheduled to meet today.

They will assemble in City Hall auditorium at 10:30 a. m. to perfect organization plans.

Twenty-one team captains will enlist 100 team members.

The campaign for $79,353.51 with which to provide financial aid to Cumberland's nine Red Feather agencies will begin October 28.

Walnut Seedlings Planted At Park

With good luck, and providing picnickers don't pull them up or cut them for weenie sticks, Constitution Park will have a grove of 117 black walnut trees in 30 to 35 years.

The job of planting the year-old seedlings 18 to 30 inches high, was completed at the park yesterday under the supervision of Robert R. Golden, park superintendent, after four days of work.

While the seedlings aren't much for show at the present time, Golden predicts that if the trees live the park will have an enviable walnut grove that will be enjoyed by the next generation.

The trees were planted for appearance rather than for a nut crop, according to Golden, who said that as the walnut trees grow, inferior type trees will be eliminated.

The trees were planted in the vicinity of the monument, the amphitheater and the wild life buildings.

Anderson Forfeits Bond

Kenneth Anderson, 212 Oldtown Road, forfeited $10 yesterday in Police Court on a disorderly conduct charge preferred by Mrs. Myrtle Anderson, this city, who claimed he knocked her down, police said.

Wednesday Anderson appealed a 60-day jail sentence following his conviction in Trial Magistrates Court on charges of assaulting a local woman Tuesday. He was released under $200 bond.

Philip Barrett, Virginia Avenue, was given a three-day jail term in default of a $3 fine imposed on a drunk and disorderly conduct charge.

Court Plans To Arraign Prisoners Saturday Morning

Smith's Counsel May Ask Change Of Venue

Four additional indictments were placed on the open docket yesterday in Circuit Court and attaches said all civil appeal cases for the October term have been completed with plans made by the Court to arraign several prisoners Saturday morning.

Criminal cases are set to begin Tuesday with the case of Stillman Snow Smith, about 50, to face a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Goldie Smith, at their Town Creek home near Flintstone, last April.

Estel C. Kelley and Gorman E. Getty, attorneys, appointed by the Court to defend Smith, said yesterday they are considering the possibility of asking that the case be removed to Washington County for trial. In event a removal petition is filed, the beginning of criminal trials will probably be delayed until Wednesday, unless attorneys in other cases are prepared to present them Tuesday, court house attaches explained.

The indictments docketed yesterday included two counts against James Leroy Welsh. He is indicted on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and on a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

A civil appeals action settled yesterday involved a suit between Richard E. and Hilda H. Mellott, against C. O. Albright, operator of a bus line. William L. Wilson, Jr., attorney for the plaintiff said a bus owned by Albright allegedly struck a car several months ago, and the Mellotts were injured.

Two other civil cases have been settled out of court, by agreement of counsel. These were the cases of Harry DeVore, represented by Fred A. Puderbaugh, attorney vs. Wilbur F. Fogle, represented by William C. Walsh and Thomas B. Finan, attorneys, for $20,000; and Charles Johnson, represented by Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., attorneys, vs. Dolly Rasko, represented by Finan, for $5,000. Both cases involved traffic mishaps and amounts of settlement were not disclosed by counsel.

Boys 4-H Club Federation Plans Annual Banquet

The annual banquet of Boys 4-H Federation and local leaders will be held Thursday, November 13, at 7 p. m. in St. Luke's Lutheran Church, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Mylo S. Downey, state boys' club agent, College Park, will be guest speaker and a program of music, motion pictures and demonstrations is being arranged, according to Perry Shryock, president who will preside.

Movies to be shown will include pictures taken at the Tri-County Camps, Conservation Camp, and of Club Week activities.

Reservations must be made as early as possible, Steger said, and club presidents have been asked to contact all members and report the sale of ticket-reservations prior to November 11, to the county farm agent's office. About 125 are expected to attend, Steger said.

The menu for the dinner will include turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, beans, cranberries, celery, rolls, coffee peaches, etc.

The organization this year, Steger emphasized, is stressing the importance of making reservations early and only those who make reservations ahead of time will be served. This is done, he said, to assist as far as the organization can, in the current food conservation program.

Playground Group's Meeting Not Held

With an insufficient number of members present last night to hold a meeting, William H. Buchholtz, president of the City Playground Association, announced that the next meeting of the group will be held Thursday, November 6, and urged that all members attend.

Last night's meeting was called for the purpose of discussing winter recreation possibilities, including skiing and sledding, and Buchholtz said it is imperative that the program be set up before the first snowfall.

"We've got to get our program organized," Buchholtz said, "and to do that members must attend the meetings." He added, however, that the parade last night probably was the cause of the meeting falling short of a quorum.

The November 6 meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. in the Council Chambers in City Hall.

Women's Power At Polls Stressed By Woman's Civic Club Speaker

Although women's greatest charm is in the home, they have 53 percent of the voting power and are definitely a power with which to be reckoned, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, Baltimore, pointed out in speaking on "Women in Public Affairs," at the meeting of the Women's Civic Club, yesterday at the Emmanuel Episcopal parish house.

She talked at length on woman's struggle for education and recognition to gain the franchise, and recounted her personal experience in serving on a jury. It was not a very happy experience but plainly demonstrated the need of women there. She pointed out how women cleaned up the polls after receiving the franchise and are definitely needed to clean up the juries.

Stresses Personal Contacts

Mrs. Whiteshurst explained the extreme need for the Maryland Women's Council. It is to be an educational and informative group, composed of delegates of different representative groups in the state and that there are 17 of such groups which have joined the council to date, she stated. There must be such a group if women are ever to take their rightful place in the world, she said, and explained that it does not overlap with any other organizations now in existence.

Mrs. Whitehurst berated women for their extreme lethargy and said the same lethargy, the constant putting off and letting the other person do it, is what brings a dictatorship, whether they want it or not.

Expressing her pleasure in the personal contacts with different members of clubs, the speaker stressed the importance of personal touch to complete under-

Danger Of Dermatitis At Plant Is Reduced By Celanese Corporation

An official of the Celanese Corporation of America reported yesterday that the majority of recommendations made after a survey to determine dermatological hazards at the Amcelle plant are being placed into effect as soon as possible.

In his summary of the report, Dr. Louis Schwartz, who made the survey in the company of M. W. Work, safety engineer for the plant, and George Myers, representing Local 1874, TWUA, said the plant was in "better condition" than the average synthetic fabric plant and that the number of occupational dermatitis, or diseases resulting in irritation of the skin, was no more than normal for such a plant.

Of 74 cases studied, he pointed out, 22 were occupational, 10 required further study to determine the cause and 42 were definitely not of occupational origin.

He also called for close co-operation between the safety department and the union health committee in order to educate the workers to use protective equipment furnished by the plant.

A plant official said yesterday that the company provides safety equipment but added it is often a difficult task to get the men to wear the protective equipment.

Every effort is being made to protect the employes, he said, but it is necessary that the safety equipment be used.

Besides suggestions for the additional use of protective clothing, Dr. Schwartz recommended that ventilation should be provided for some equipment to draw off fumes which might irritate the skin and in cases where protective clothing was impractical, a protective film should be used on the workers' hands, he added.

Collection Day, Friday

Scores Of Units Boost Guardsmen

The first postwar, peacetime recruiting parade held in Cumberland to encourage enlistments in the National Guard turned out to be one of the most colorful demonstrations seen here for some time.

A score of volunteer fire companies, veterans organizations, bands, drum corps and other units, paraded through the downtown area just after nightfall and despite heavily congested traffic, drill teams, majorettes, flag wavers and others gave an unusual performance. Marchers complained about the congestion caused by the heavy traffic and the huge throng which crowded out toward the center of streets.

Marshaled by Thomas F. Conlon, and led by the Hyndman High School Band, the military units headed the first division, with Major Howard Dickey leading two units of the First Battalion, Maryland National Guard. Headquarters Company was led and commanded by Capt. Robert Powell and Company C was in command of Capt. Robert Mattlick.

Contestants Seen

Following the National Guard marchers were the units several jeeps, each bearing a couple of girls who have entered in the Guard's photogenic contest, to select "Miss National Guard" of 1947.

The Fifth Division Marine Corps Reserve Division was represented in the parade by a color guard and a float depicting the raising of the United States flag on Iwo Jima.

Following these marchers were the following units: Grantsville High School Band, Grantsville Volunteer Fire Company engine; Kelly-Mansfield Post American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, Piedmont, W. Va. Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Westernport firemen and equipment.

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars color guard, drum and bugle corps majorettes and flag wavers provided one of the outstanding demonstrations. The Vets wore service uniforms, and newly trained flagwavers added to the display.

Firemen Add Color

Allegany County Rescue Corps truck carrying boats and drawing an old-time fire engine once used here, attracted much attention. Washington Chapter No. 2, Disabled American Veterans appeared with their color guard and disabled veterans riding in several sedan automobiles.

Fulton Myers Post American Legion drum and bugle corps, about twice as large as on its last appearance, drew applause from the crowds, and the antics of a tiny twirler supported by five girl twirlers pleased the crowds.

Bowman's Addition fire truck and a Second Army sound truck followed after which the Arion Band of Frostburg appeared followed by the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company's huge pumper engine.

Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion Drum Cops, Frostburg, led the final division, followed by the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company drill team and marchers and their large fire truck, and the Baltimore Pike Fire Company's truck and firemen.

Guardsmen Grateful

National Guard officers and members here last night expressed their genuine gratitude for the cooperation of the numerous units which helped stage the recruiting parade. Major Dickey said the Guard here needs at least 100 recruits and any young man who has reached his 17th birthday, and can pass physical requirements may enlist. Veterans too are desired, as instructors and technicians, he explained.

Following the parade, a reception for the marchers was held at the Armory and Victory Medals were presented to a number of Guardsmen who served in World War II. A free public dance, with music by the Modernaires attracted several hundred persons.

STILL SMILING—After 17 months' confinement in Memorial Hospital, unable to walk because of a painful arthritic condition in her legs, Mrs. Virgie Garton, 35-year-old Celanese employee, (shown above) is still smiling gamely. She gives her full endorsement to the Community Chest, and her whole-hearted appreciation to the individuals and organizations who have taken an interest in her many difficulties.

Grateful For Help—

Woman Who Has Spent 17 Months In Hospital Praises Community Chest

Mrs. Virgie Garton Has Faith In Future

(Contributed By Miss Jeanette Bonig Executive Secretary Associated Charities)

In spite of all our modern federal, state and private insrance funds, there seems to be no such thing as social security.

Cumberland boasts of 20,000 industrial workers, representing almost one half of the total population. In the larger industries, workers are protected by group insurance and retirement funds; nearly all industries are covered by unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation and most workers are eligible for Social Security.

In spite of all this protection, how many workers with large families are financially able to spend 17 months in a hospital? There are limits to health insurance, whether taken by individuals or groups. And in many cases, illnesses exceed such limits.

Mrs. Virgie Garton, 35-year-old Celanese worker, has not only been in Memorial Hospital for 17 months, but will probably be there for some time to come. The mother of five children, she was once the center of a happy, comfortable home.

Undergoes Eight Operations

"My Celanese Group Insurance was wonderful," she says. "I received the full amount of it during three different illnesses. But no insurance can cover a spell of sickness when it lasts as long as this one has."

Following eight major operations performed in recent years, Mrs. Garton contracted arthritis. In spite of cripping pain, she struggled on as long as she could. But finally she could go no longer. And when the manager of a household goes down, the crash sometimes takes the household with it.

For the past 17 months Mrs. Garton has suffered excruciating pain, proudly and gamely. There have been painful operations and treatments to try to enable her to walk again. She has faith, she wants to get back on her feet, and she can still smile.

Her troubles, and suffering, need not be mentioned here. They can well be imagined. But she has been spared a great deal of mental anguish by the people of Cumberland, who, through their Community Chest, have seen that her children were given a lease on life. She gives her whole-hearted endorsement to the community effort that has taken some of the sting from her many wounds, and is grateful to hospital officials, nurses, doctors, her church associates and fellow workers at Celanese, American Legion Post No. 13, and all others who have taken an interest in her many difficulties.

G. I. Is Given Help

In another case, a young Celanese G. I. came back from war service, his nerves frayed, looking for the peace that only home can give. Instead, he found only trouble.

His wife and children were ill, and he could get no one to take care of them. He definitely was not well himself, but he jumped right in and tried to keep his home going. Food, rent and medicine bills piled up—while his resistance kept going down.

Finally, an emergency existed. He couldn't make the grade alone. An

Committee Named To Enlist More Backers

The possibilities of locating a cooperative store in Cumberland to be used by members of area labor unions increased last night when the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference voted to support the venture.

Two committees were appointed by the conference, one to study possible sites for location of the store in Cumberland, and the second to enlist the aid of labor unions not affiliated with the conference in its efforts to open a co-operative store here.

In addition to operating the store, plans were discussed to establish a traveling trailer wagon store that could serve the entire area, Paul L. Burley, secretary, said.

According to Burley, the program as studied at last night's meeting would result in the local unions purchasing food on tractor-trailer quantities and transporting it to the local co-operative in an effort to lower the cost of living for local labor groups.

The merchandise bought would be sold at cost to labor union consumers, according to Burley, and result in a lower food cost for the families dealing in the union-planned store.

Boyd W. Coleman, Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, president and a vice president of the conference, reported to the meeting that a survey of Cumberland's doctors shows a shortage here, while Baltimore has more than enough physicians for its population.

Coleman recommended that the local conference attempt by advertising to attract physicians from other areas to this community as a plan for alleviating the present condition. He suggested advertising in medical publications as well as rally newspapers in other areas.

Members of the conference also received information concerning national rent control measures, which advised them to seek the aid of the city government in passing an ordinance prohibiting rent hikes.

The conference, by letter, also requested Senator Robert B. Kimble and the Allegany County Delegation to the Maryland Legislature to vote for repeal of the State Sales Tax. Members pointed out that other revenue raising means could be employed by the state to increase its income.

The local conference voted to send two delegates to a Congressional hearing on the high cost of living to be held in Baltimore October 21 and 22.

Burley said railroad representatives attending the meeting requested that letters of protest be sent to President Truman and other government officials concerning the sale of the "big and little inch" gas pipe lines to Texas firms. The conference voted to oppose the government action.

Swanton Farmer Hurt When Run Over By Cattle

Randolph Harvey, 69-year-old Swanton farmer, was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night for treatment of undetermined injuries suffered, he said, when some cattle ran over him on his farm.

Mr. Harvey was reported in good condition but complained of pain in the left shoulder and side. He suffered slight laceration on the head, attaches said.

Cecil Hubbard, 21, Route 2, Williams Road, a Consolidated Orchard Company worker, was treated in Memorial yesterday for injuries suffered in a fall from a ladder yesterday at 9 a. m. He was able to leave the hospital after a laceration on the forehead was treated.

Treated in the same hospital yesterday were John Haus, 11, 523 Dilly Street, after he fell and cut his head on a rock in a schoolyard, and James McKee, 43, 651 Baker Street, after a piece of iron fell and mashed a finger on his right hand.

Also treated in Allegany yesterday were Phyllis Day, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Day, Bowling Green, after she fell at home and cut her forehead, and John Edwards, 3, 23 Henderson Avenue, for a puncture wound on the right wrist.

Application was made to the Allegany County Liquor Conrtol Board yesterday for a beer license by Clara D'Amico, Slabtown, Mt. Savage.

Former Local Man Arrested For Loan Contract Violation

Ordered To Return Car To This County

James M. Sirbaugh, Gray, Pa., was arraigned yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a criminal charge resulting from his alleged failure to abide by terms of a mortgage contract with the Second National Bank, this city.

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew, who presided, released Sirbaugh on his own recognizance under $500 bond, and ordered him to return to Allegany County an automobile, on which he allegedly borrowed money.

Signed Contract

Sirbaugh, according to Magistrate Perdew, borrowed money on his automobile, then signed a contract for payments, which contained a clause forbidding him to transport the vehicle out of Allegany County.

Sirbaugh told the court that he recently moved to Gray and because he failed to understand the terms of the contract he took the car with him. He admitted receiving a letter from the bank but said his home burned down recently and he has been to nervous to answer.

He was arrested on a warrant sworn to by George A. Caswell, an employe of the bank. Magistrate Perdew said he will be given a reasonable time to return the car.

He explained that the release on recognizance under bond meant that Sirbaugh did not post bond, but would be subject to arrest in default of that amount of money, if he fails to return the car to this county.

Charged with violating two state motor laws, including unauthorized use of his employer's truck, James Leroy Welsh, 994 Gay Street, was sentenced to 16 days in County Jail in default of fines imposed by Magistrate Perdew.

Fined On Two Counts

Welsh was fined $10.75 on the unauthorized use charge and $5.75 for turning off the truck lights to avoid arrest. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

Court attaches said Welsh indicated that he would pay the fine, but refused when he learned that sheriff's officers intended to detain him on another charge.

Court attaches said Welsh indicated that he would pay the fine, but refused when he learned he had been indicted by the October term of grand jury on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and on a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Involved in the same case was Paul Allen Judy, 937 Maryland Avenue, who paid a fine of $10.75 after pleading guilty to riding with Welsh while the latter was using the machine without the consent of the owner, Morris Gerson, local scrap iron dealer. Both defendants are employed by Gerson.

State Trooper William McElfish said he stopped near the intersection of Baltimore and George Streets late Tuesday night to talk to City Officer John Snyder when he spied the truck. The driver, the trooper said, apparently became excited and turned off his lights.

Gerson told Magistrate Perdew that Welsh was permitted to take the truck home after work to pick up other employes in the morning. However, he said, the defendant was not authorized to use the vehicle for his own use.

William Perry Glover, Keyser, W. Va., forfeited bond of $11.45 when he failed to appear for a hearing on charges of operating a motor vehicle on Route 220 without an operator's license. Trooper McElfish made the arrest.

Legion To Entertain Membership Tonight

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion will hold an oyster supper tonight at the post home for its entire membership, according to Thomas R. "Pat" Farrell, post commander. The affair will begin promptly at 7 p. m., Commander Farrell said, and oysters will be "prepared any and every way the boys like them."

The oyster feed is held in lieu of the annual post picnic which was postponed this year, and will serve as the social event to launch the annual membership drive. The goal for 1948 membership has been set at 1,800 with cash awards for members bringing in the most renewals, reinstatements and new applications.

Canine Affection

The city bus slowed down and then stopped for a bedraggled-looking puppy sleeping in the street.

A much bigger, black, curly-haired dog jogged gracefully from the pavement to the street, nudged the puppy to warn him of the bus and the two animals walked off together, much as a father taking his son by the hand to comfort him after a close call.

It happened on Fayette Street about 6 p. m. yesterday.

ELKS OBLIGATED—A class of new members was initiated Wednesday night at Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B. P. O. Mrs. Payton, according to police, said she would detain the girl and permit Chisholm to return to McKeesport. Lt. James E. Van and Officer C. D. Manges made the arrest.

Classified Section Leaders Of Chest Drive To Meet

Planning Conference Slated At Luncheon

A planning conference of 55 regiment leaders of the Classified section of the Community Chest campaign organization will be held at a luncheon at noon today in Central YMCA.

Regiment leaders will meet with F. W. Eiler, section chairman, and associate division leaders to consider changes from previous plans.

Eiler said yesterday that division leaders have been "a little slow" in getting regiment leaders appointed, but he added that they were "lining up rapidly" and a strong organization appeared likely.

"We're bearing down strongly to round out a competent organization," Eiler stated. "In recent years there has been some slackness but this year we are determined to correct that and do a thorough job."

Captains of the Women's division under Mrs. Delphin Treiber also are scheduled to meet today.

They will assemble in City Hall auditorium at 10:30 a. m. to perfect organization plans.

With the revision of the women's section organization, it now is composed of six divisions.

Twenty-one team captains will enlist 100 team members.

The campaign for $79,353.51 with which to provide financial aid to Cumberland's nine Red Feather agencies will begin October 28.

Walnut Seedlings Planted At Park

With good luck, and providing picnickers don't pull them up or cut them for weenie sticks, Constitution Park will have a grove of 117 black walnut trees in 30 to 35 years.

The job of planting the year-old seedlings 18 to 30 inches high, was completed at the park yesterday under the supervision of Robert R. Golden, park superintendent, after four days of work.

While the seedlings aren't much for show at the present time, Golden predicts that if the trees live the park will have an enviable walnut grove that will be enjoyed by the next generation.

The trees were planted for appearance rather than for a nut crop, according to Golden, who said that as the walnut trees grow, inferior type trees will be eliminated.

The trees were planted in the vicinity of the monument, the amphitheater and the wild life buildings.

Anderson Forfeits Bond

Kenneth Anderson, 212 Oldtown Road, forfeited $10 yesterday in Police Court on a disorderly conduct charge preferred by Mrs. Myrtle Anderson, this city, who claimed he knocked her down, police said.

Wednesday Anderson appealed a 60-day jail sentence following his conviction in Trial Magistrates Court on charges of assaulting a local woman Tuesday. He was released under $200 bond.

Philip Barrett, Virginia Avenue, was given a three-day jail term in default of a $3 fine imposed on a drunk and disorderly conduct charge.

Court Plans To Arraign Prisoners Saturday Morning

Smith's Counsel May Ask Change Of Venue

Four additional indictments were placed on the open docket yesterday in Circuit Court and attaches said all civil appeal cases for the October term have been completed with plans made by the Court to arraign several prisoners Saturday morning.

Criminal cases are set to begin Tuesday with the case of Stillman Snow Smith, about 50, to face a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Goldie Smith, at their Town Creek home near Flintstone, last April.

Estel C. Kelley and Gorman E. Getty, attorneys, appointed by the Court to defend Smith, said yesterday they are considering the possibility of asking that the case be removed to Washington County for trial. In event a removal petition is filed, the beginning of criminal trials will probably be delayed until Wednesday, unless attorneys in other cases are prepared to present them Tuesday, court house attaches explained.

The indictments docketed yesterday included two counts against James Leroy Welsh. He is indicted on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and on a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

A civil appeals action settled yesterday involved a suit between Richard E. and Hilda H. Mellott, against C. O. Albright, operator of a bus line. William L. Wilson, Jr., attorney for the plaintiff said a bus owned by Albright allegedly struck a car several months ago, and the Mellotts were injured.

Two other civil cases have been settled out of court, by agreement of counsel. These were the cases of Harry DeVore, represented by Fred A. Puderbaugh, attorney vs. Wilbur F. Fogle, represented by William C. Walsh and Thomas B. Finan, attorneys, for $20,000; and Charles Johnson, represented by Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., attorneys, vs. Dolly Rasko, represented by Finan, for $5,000. Both cases involved traffic mishaps and amounts of settlement were not disclosed by counsel.

Boys 4-H Club Federation Plans Annual Banquet

The annual banquet of Boys 4-H Federation and local leaders will be held Thursday, November 13, at 7 p. m. in St. Luke's Lutheran Church, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Mylo S. Downey, state boys' club agent, College Park, will be guest speaker and a program of music, motion pictures and demonstrations is being arranged, according to Perry Shryock, president who will preside.

Movies to be shown will include pictures taken at the Tri-County Camps, Conservation Camp, and of Club Week activities.

Reservations must be made as early as possible, Steger said, and club presidents have been asked to contact all members and report the sale of ticket-reservations prior to November 11, to the county farm agent's office. About 125 are expected to attend, Steger said.

The menu for the dinner will include turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, beans, cranberries, celery, rolls, coffee peaches, etc.

The organization this year, Steger emphasized, is stressing the importance of making reservations early and only those who make reservations ahead of time will be served. This is done, he said, to assist as far as the organization can, in the current food conservation program.

Playground Group's Meeting Not Held

With an insufficient number of members present last night to hold a meeting, William H. Buchholtz, president of the City Playground Association, announced that the next meeting of the group will be held Thursday, November 6, and urged that all members attend.

Last night's meeting was called for the purpose of discussing winter recreation possibilities, including skiing and sledding, and Buchholtz said it is imperative that the program be set up before the first snowfall.

"We've got to get our program organized," Buchholtz said, "and to do that members must attend the meetings." He added, however, that the parade last night probably was the cause of the meeting falling short of a quorum.

The November 6 meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. in the Council Chambers in City Hall.

Women's Power At Polls Stressed By Woman's Civic Club Speaker

Although women's greatest charm is in the home, they have 53 percent of the voting power and are definitely a power with which to be reckoned, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, Baltimore, pointed out in speaking on "Women in Public Affairs," at the meeting of the Women's Civic Club, yesterday at the Emmanuel Episcopal parish house.

She talked at length on woman's struggle for education and recognition to gain the franchise, and recounted her personal experience in serving on a jury. It was not a very happy experience but plainly demonstrated the need of women there. She pointed out how women cleaned up the polls after receiving the franchise and are definitely needed to clean up the juries.

Stresses Personal Contacts

Mrs. Whiteshurst explained the extreme need for the Maryland Women's Council. It is to be an educational and informative group, composed of delegates of different representative groups in the state and that there are 17 of such groups which have joined the council to date, she stated. There must be such a group if women are ever to take their rightful place in the world, she said, and explained that it does not overlap with any other organizations now in existence.

Mrs. Whitehurst berated women for their extreme lethargy and said the same lethargy, the constant putting off and letting the other person do it, is what brings a dictatorship, whether they want it or not.

Danger Of Dermatitis At Plant Is Reduced By Celanese Corporation

An official of the Celanese Corporation of America reported yesterday that the majority of recommendations made after a survey to determine dermatological hazards at the Amcelle plant are being placed into effect as soon as possible.

In his summary of the report, Dr. Louis Schwartz, who made the survey in the company of M. W. Work, safety engineer for the plant, and George Myers, representing Local 1874, TWUA, said the plant was in "better condition" than the average synthetic fabric plant and that the number of occupational dermatitis, or diseases resulting in irritation of the skin, was no more than normal for such a plant.

Of 74 cases studied, he pointed out, 22 were occupational, 10 required further study to determine the cause and 42 were definitely not of occupational origin.

He also called for close co-operation between the safety department and the union health committee in order to educate the workers to use protective equipment furnished by the plant.

A plant official said yesterday that the company provides safety equipment but added it is often a difficult task to get the men to wear the protective equipment.

Every effort is being made to protect the employes, he said, but it is necessary that the safety equipment be used.

Besides suggestions for the additional use of protective clothing, Dr. Schwartz recommended that ventilation should be provided for some equipment to draw off fumes which might irritate the skin and in cases where protective clothing was impractical, a protective film should be used on the workers' hands, he added.
